Core values of academic advising

SuperUser Account posted on November 05, 2012 11:45

NACADA: The Global Community for Academic Advising

THE STATEMENT OF CORE VALUES OF ACADEMIC ADVISING

NACADA: The Global Community for Academic Advising is comprised of professional and faculty advisors, administrators, students, and others with a primary interest in the practice of academic advising. With diverse backgrounds, perspectives, and experiences, NACADA members advise in a variety of settings and work to promote quality academic advising within their institutions.

NACADA provides a Statement of Core Values to affirm the importance of advising within the academy and acknowledge the impact that advising interactions can have on individuals, institutions and society.

The Statement of Core Values consists of three parts:

- Introduction
- Declaration
- Exposition

While each part stands alone, the document's richness and fullness of meaning lies in its totality. The Statement of Core Values provides a framework to guide professional practice and reminds advisors of their responsibilities to students, colleagues, institutions, society, and themselves.

Cite the Core Values using APA style as:

Listed resources are member suggested; as such, listings are not comprehensive in nature. Members are encouraged to suggest resources they find helpful to their advising practice. Listing of commercial sites does not imply NACADA endorsement.

The Pillars of Academic Advising - The Concept of Advising and The Core Values of Advising are “for the good of the profession” documents that only require the statement “Reprinted [or Excerpted] with permission from [Title of the publication]. Copyright [Year] by the National Academic Advising Association (NACADA) www.nacada.ksu.edu.

Posted in: Pillars of Academic Advising