What are we up to?

Six years ago, CDS (Community Design Solutions) was invited to create a master plan for Bronzeville, our neighborhood. Since then, CDS has been an integral part of our community, contributing to neighborhood revitalization efforts. We are proud to announce that CDS has been reinvigorated and is now ready to serve the needs of our community once again.

What is CDS?

CDS was established at the School of Architecture and Urban Planning at the University of Wisconsin in 1972. CDS provides design services to individuals, businesses, agencies, citizens, grassroots organizations, civic groups, religious groups, and government agencies. CDS offers comprehensive design services for projects ranging from projects that require a small budget and limited design to projects that require a large budget and extensive design.

CDS Welcomes New Addition!

In December of 2013, CDS hosted the Bronzeville Charette with the primary goal of creating a stronger connection with the neighborhood. CDS staff worked with contractors to develop designs that would highlight the neighborhood’s historic architecture, culture, and history. CDS staff has since joined the association and has continued to work on projects in the neighborhood.

UWM Campus Bike Plan

Recognized as a Bronze level bike-friendly campus, UWM continually strives to improve conditions for bicyclists in and around UWM’s campus. UWM students and staff use their bicycles to get to campus and to increase bicycling rates among students, faculty, and staff. UWM continually strives to improve conditions for bicyclists in and around UWM’s campus.
