UW-Milwaukee’s EnQuest is a one-week all girls introductory engineering summer camp that provides high school girls with a live-in college experience while working on a sustainable technology project. Campers will meet women engineers, learn engineering tools and their applications, take field trips and make new friends!

Overnight supervision will be provided by female UW-Milwaukee engineering students who are excited to share the EnQuest experience.

APPLICATION & REGISTRATION form

Please complete this form to register for the EnQuest Camp. A fee of $275 covers a portion of the camp costs. The additional costs for overnight accommodations in a shared double room, meals, entertainment, and workshop fees are paid for by the UW-Milwaukee College of Engineering and Applied Science with generous support from Johnson Controls.

A non-refundable registration deposit of $50 secures your spot in the camp and is due with your application. The remaining $225 fee is due at the time of arrival and check-in Sunday, July 31.

Please mail a check (made payable to UWM) and your registration form to:
