WATER SYS-STEM: See Yourself Succeeding in STEM
Develop your career in water science through a program that connects you with scientists at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee’s School of Freshwater Sciences and companies in the Water Council.

● APPLICATION REVIEW BEGINS APRIL 4, 2016 ●
We will continue to accept applications until May 20, 2016

Visit our website for more information: http://uwm.edu/freshwater/watersystem

Program features:

• Paid summer internship in a water related industry

• Research experiences with School of Freshwater Sciences research scientists

• Support for students transferring to UWM to complete a 4 year degree in a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) major

• UWM faculty and industry mentors

• Professional seminars and workshops

Eligibility: Current technical college students who are interested in a STEM water related field of study and intending to transfer to UWM to complete a 4 year degree in a Science, Technology, Engineering or Math major. Low income, first generation college students, underrepresented students are encouraged to apply. Minimum GPA 2.75.

For more information contact:
Liz Sutton (emsutton@uwm.edu) 414-382-1718
Carmen Aguilar (aguilar@uwm.edu)
UWM School of Freshwater Sciences
600 E Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee, WI 53204