Introduction

Degree Admission Requirements

Please read the following information before you apply online. You must meet Graduate School and specific program requirements for admission. Please be aware of recommended and required deadlines. We recommend applying at least one year in advance of the term you wish to start.

Graduate School

1. Degree: Bachelor's degree.

2. Grades: A minimum undergraduate GPA of 2.75. All of an applicant’s undergraduate coursework completed before award of the first undergraduate degree is included in the GPA computation. For courses that were repeated for credit, each attempt is included.

3. Transcripts: One official transcript sent directly to the Graduate School from each undergraduate and graduate school attended. If you attended UWM as an undergraduate, the Graduate School will obtain transcripts from the UWM Undergraduate Records Office.

4. Proof of English Language Proficiency. One of the following three requirements must be met:

   - Receipt of a baccalaureate or higher degree from UWM or another approved institution where English is the sole language of instruction. For international students, the degree must be earned within two years of your expected enrollment at UWM.
   - A minimum TOEFL score of 550 PBT or 79 iBT. Some graduate departments require a higher TOEFL score. TOEFL scores must be sent directly to the University from ETS. TOEFL scores cannot be more than two years old.
   - UWM's school code for TOEFL is 1473. The University will not review your application if you have a TOEFL score less than 520 PBT or 68 iBT, or an IELTS score less than 6.0.

   A minimum IELTS score of 6.5 or higher. Graduate programs may require a higher IELTS score; refer to their admissions materials for more information. IELTS scores

5. Reasons Statement: An essential part of your application, the Reasons Statement is used to determine the appropriateness of your educational and professional goals and serves as an example of your ability to express yourself in writing. In the statement:

   - Explain your reasons for pursuing graduate study.
   - Describe specific interests and your background in the field.
   - List any relevant skills or training you have acquired.
   - List relevant academic awards or honors you have received.
   - If your program requires recommendations, list the names of those individuals who will write on your behalf.

Program Requirements

Contact your specific program representative for additional requirements for your program.

International Applicants

Please see the Center for International Education’s International Student Admission page.

Admission on Probation

If your overall undergraduate grade point average is under 2.75, you may be considered for admission on probation by presenting evidence of ability to succeed in graduate-level work. The following conditions must be fulfilled before you will be considered for admission.

Applicants with GPA of 2.50-2.74 must present at least one of the following:

- A grade point average of 3.0 or above during the final 60 semester credits of your baccalaureate degree program.
- Completion of 6 or more credits of program-approved, post-baccalaureate coursework in an academic area directly related to your chosen graduate program. The grades earned must be a “B” or better (B- not acceptable).
- Submission of official score reports from the Graduate Record Examination (GRE), the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), or Miller Analogies Test, that indicate a high probability of success in graduate school. Official is defined as having been sent directly from the testing service to UWM.
- An advanced degree with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Applicants with GPA below 2.50 must present at least TWO of the following conditions to be considered:

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
• A grade point average of 3.0 or above during the final 60 semester credits of your baccalaureate degree program.

• Completion of 9 or more credits of program-approved post-baccalaureate coursework in an academic area directly related to your chosen graduate program. The grades earned must be a "B" or better (B- not acceptable).

• Submission of official score reports from the Graduate Record Examination (GRE), the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), or Miller Analogies Test, that indicate a high probability of success in graduate school. Official is defined as having been sent directly from the testing service to UWM.

• An advanced degree with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Your proposed graduate program unit may have further requirements for consideration of admission on probation and removal of probationary status. If you are admitted, your graduate program representative is responsible for communicating to you the conditions for removal of probation.

Admission with Course Deficiencies
You may not be admitted with more than two course deficiencies, and they must be removed within three enrolled semesters.

Deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and your graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. If the deficiencies are not removed within three enrolled semesters, a hold will be placed on your record and you must show sufficient cause for continuation of graduate status.

Senior-Graduate Admission
If you are a UWM student holding senior standing and are within 6 credits of graduation, and meet both the admission (regular status) requirements of the Graduate School and the proposed graduate program unit, you may apply and be considered for one semester's concurrent enrollment in the undergraduate college and in the Graduate School. Your entire program is subject to the regulations and requirements of the Graduate School. You receive graduate credit only if the requirements for the bachelor's degree, including proficiency tests, are completed by the end of the semester of senior-graduate enrollment. You are assessed graduate fees for all coursework taken during the semester of senior-graduate admission.

Introduction

Apply for Graduate Admission

When to Apply to a Degree Program
The Graduate School recommends that you begin the application process one year before the semester you plan to start.

Please check with your proposed graduate program and the Financial Aid Office to learn their deadlines.

Application Checklist
1. Make sure you satisfy the admission requirements for both the Graduate School AND the program you will be applying for.
2. Submit your online application on time: Application submission dates vary by program. Contact your program for its deadline.
   • CEAS pays the $40 credential evaluation fee for CEAS applicants with non-US college credit.
3. Pay the application fee(s): a non-refundable, $56 base application fee is required of all applicants, and an additional $40 evaluation fee, also non-refundable, is required for applicants with college-level work from non-U.S. colleges.
   Note: If you are applying to a doctoral program and already hold a UWM master's degree, you do not need to pay the application fee.
4. Send the following to the Graduate School:
   • Transcripts directly from each institution you attended
   • Reasons Statement
5. Send appropriate required items to your specific program.
6. Watch your mailbox for information on monitoring your application status online.

Apply Online

Retention of Application Materials
The Graduate School will keep your application materials for one year. After one year you will need to apply again and submit all required application materials. All application materials become the property of the Graduate School and cannot be returned to the applicant, forwarded to another institution, or duplicated for any purpose.

Non-Degree Candidate (NDC) Admission

This admission category (also referred to as Graduate Special) allows you to take courses for graduate credit without pursuing a degree. Acceptance as an NDC does not guarantee admission to a graduate degree program.

Some programs have a minimum undergraduate grade point average for NDC admission. In addition, there are limits to the number of NDC credits that can be considered for transfer to a degree program (see credit transfer).

NDC students are usually not eligible for financial aid. Check with the Financial Aid Office regarding your particular situation.

International Applicants

In order for your application to be considered complete, you must submit the following requirements:

1. Application: We strongly recommend that you fill out an application online at http://apply.wisconsin.edu. By submitting an online application, our office will be able to begin the processing of your application as soon as you submit it. One business day after you have submitted your application, you will receive an e-mail from the university, explaining how to check the status of your application on our PAWS online student information system, www.paws.uwm.edu.

2. Fees: All applications must include the application fee (AF), plus an evaluation fee (EF) for all applicants with education from outside the US. You can send a check or international money order, or pay the fees with a credit card at the same time you submit an online application. Master's degree and PhD applicants – Total $96 ($56 AF + $40 EF).

Applicants to graduate programs in the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences (CEAS) and the School of Information Studies (SOIS) only need to pay the $56 application fee. The $40 evaluation fee will be paid by the individual programs.

3. Academic Documentation: Original or officially certified copies of all grade reports for all post-secondary studies, as well as original or officially certified copies of all academic diplomas, certificates, and national or other major examination results.

Official records must be submitted in the native language and must be accompanied by an official English translation.

Photocopies, scanned or notarized copies are not accepted as official documents. Official records should be sent to ISSS Admissions directly from the institution, whenever possible. All academic documents submitted as part of an application become the property of UWM.

4. Reasons for Graduate Study: The Reasons statement is used to determine the appropriateness of UWM's programs to your educational and professional goals and serves as an example of your ability to express yourself in writing. In the statement:

   a. Explain your reasons for pursuing graduate study. Describe specific interests and your background in the field.
   b. List any relevant skills or training you have acquired.
   c. List relevant academic awards or honors you have received.
   d. If your program requires recommendations, list the names of those individuals who will write on your behalf.

5. Proof of English Language Proficiency: You can meet this requirement in one of the following ways:

   a. Receipt of a baccalaureate or higher degree from UWM, or another approved institution where English is the sole language of instruction. International applicants also must meet the following criteria:
      1. the degree must be earned within two years of your expected enrollment at UWM, and
      2. the applicant must have attended this institution a minimum of 2 years
   b. A minimum TOEFL score of 550 PBT, or 79 iBT. Some graduate departments require a higher TOEFL score. TOEFL scores must be sent directly to the University from ETS. TOEFL scores cannot be more than 2 years old. UWM's school code for TOEFL is 1473. The University will not review your application if you have a TOEFL score less than 520 PBT, 68 iBT or an IELTS score less than 6.0.
   c. A minimum IELTS score of 6.5 or higher. Graduate departments may require a higher IELTS score; refer to their admissions materials for more information. IELTS scores cannot be more than 2 years old.

6. Program Specific Requirements: Some graduate programs may require additional information. Please contact your intended graduate program directly to inquire about any additional requirements they may have.

After Admission: If admitted, applicants who expect to hold an F-1 or J-1 visa must provide proof of adequate funds to live and study full-time at UWM. Estimated costs of studying at UWM are included in the Proof of Funding Information Form.

Financial Assistance
You are eligible to apply for the following types of assistance available through the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee:

- Graduate fellowships administered through the Graduate School. (414) 229-6267 for information.
- Teaching, research, and project assistantships administered through individual graduate programs. Contact your graduate program unit.
- Loans, work study, and student employment administered through the Financial Aid Office. Call (414) 229-541 for information.

Fellowships and scholarships in specific degree programs. Consult with your graduate program unit about availability of these awards.

School/College: School of Education
Degrees Conferred: M.S. in Administrative Leadership

Overview

The Department of Administrative Leadership offers a graduate program of studies with three emphases: educational administration and supervision, adult and continuing education leadership, or higher education administration.

The emphasis on educational administration and supervision prepares the student for a career as a school district administrator, elementary, middle, or secondary school administrator, director of special education and pupil services, school business manager, or curriculum director. Through this program of studies, the student can fulfill professional education requirements for administrative and supervisory licenses in Wisconsin and most other states.

The emphasis on adult and continuing education leadership prepares the student for positions of leadership in post-secondary programs including vocational and technical education, university extension, continuing professional education, in-service training and human resource development, adult basic education, adult literacy, and educational leadership and program development in health, religious, manpower and other agencies and community educational programs.

The emphasis on higher education administration prepares the student for careers in higher education including such options as student advisors, managers of support programs for traditionally underrepresented students, student housing specialists, student programming specialists, business managers, and specific administrative positions at all levels of higher education organizations.

The focus on Human Resource and Workforce Development within this emphasis is offered as an online program.

The Department also offers a course of study leading to the Specialist Certificate in Administrative Leadership—required for the school superintendency and recommended for other school or adult education administrative or supervisory positions.

Under the auspices of the Ph.D. program in Urban Education, the Department offers doctoral level specializations in educational administration and in Adult, Continuing, and Higher Education Leadership.

Degree Conferred: Ph.D. in Africology

Overview
The Ph.D. in Africology is grounded in the axiomatic assumption that, as the imperatives of global integration significantly transform human relations, the twenty-first century will witness an exponential expansion of the institutional delivery of africological knowledge. Across the planet today, Africa remains the only continent with a vast store of natural resources (e.g., uranium, oil, copper, nickel) that are underutilized. With the demand for energy increasing exponentially worldwide, knowledge and understanding of the cultures and political economies of African countries and societies clearly are in the self-interest of the global community. Because of this twenty-first century imperative, the Department of Africology has designed the Ph.D. degree around two concentrations: Political Economy and Public Policy, and Culture and Society: Africa and the African Diaspora.

The fields of concentration are the substantive core of the Ph.D. program. Political economy entails the normative and empirical relations of political and economic phenomena in given sociocultural contexts. Public policy entails the making of binding, authoritative decisions that produce, allocate, reproduce, and reallocate societal resources. Political, economic, cultural, and social elements interact continually in every political economy, and public policy substantially frames their patterns of interaction. Through a range of research methods and techniques, the concentration in political economy and public policy grounds students in local, national, and transnational political economies and public policies. Relevant courses and seminars in such fields as economics, political science, sociology, urban planning, geography, and history will be utilized.

All cultures share in common at least eight attributes. These are species life, species being, language, religion, food, literature-art-science-technology, institutions, and transgenerational memory. Systematic comparisons of these elements of cultures in Africa and in the African Diaspora worldwide afford sound explanations of, and novel insights into, the behaviors of Africans and their descent. This concentration in comparative cultures will enable students to scrutinize rigorously exchanges, admixtures, fusions, retentions, and disappearances of cultural elements in Africa and the African Diaspora in regard to their contemporary significance. Relevant courses and seminars in English, foreign languages and literatures, history, and sociology will complement those offered in the department.

Admission
To be considered for admission, an applicant must meet UWM Graduate Faculty requirements for admission plus the departmental requirements listed below. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for this Ph.D. program.

1. Possession of an overall undergraduate grade point average of 3.33 (B+)
2. Submission of scores within the last five years from the Graduate Record Examination
3. Submission of three letters of recommendation from individuals who are familiar with the applicant's academic work
4. Submission of a writing sample (10-15 pages) of the applicant's written work, signaling one's aptitude for graduate study

Normally, students are admitted only for the fall semester. However, in extraordinary circumstances, a student may be permitted to begin Ph.D. studies in the spring semester. The department does not offer a terminal M.A. degree. Students applying without a master's degree are admitted to the Ph.D. program in the equivalent of master's status.

Admission to the graduate program is based on a careful review of the applicant's academic qualifications, and is highly competitive. Successful candidates usually have a high grade point average (GPA) in their undergraduate majors, as well as overall. There are, of course, a variety of factors that come into play over the years of an applicant's studies, and so the admissions committee will consider closely a student's academic profile, as well as accomplishments that are germane to his/her application.

It is the policy of the Graduate Faculty that "Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses."

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Language or Mathematics/Statistics Proficiency
Students are expected to enter the Ph.D. program with proficiency in a language other than English and/or in mathematics/statistics. Students may satisfy the language requirement by passing a translation examination administered by a faculty member, or by completing, with a grade of C or better, the final course in a four-semester sequence in a language approved by the department. Native speakers of a departmentally approved language may petition the graduate advisor for an exemption to the foreign language requirement.

Proficiency in mathematics/statistics is indicated by completion of two courses at the upper-division level (numbered 300 and above or requiring junior standing) with at least a B average. Students who have not completed this requirement in the context of their undergraduate (or master's degree) studies must take courses to satisfy the requirement during their Ph.D. studies.

Credits earned in satisfying this requirement do not count toward the required credits for the Ph.D. degree. The language or mathematics/statistics proficiency requirement must be completed prior to the doctoral preliminary examinations. Students are encouraged strongly to have the proficiency requirements completed by the time they take the comprehensive examination.

Major Professor as Advisor
Upon admission to the program, students are required to consult with the Director of Graduate Studies about the department's expectations of them, as well as elucidate their own expectations of the department. Soon afterward, students must secure individual advisors, drawn from the department's faculty.

Residence
The student must complete at least half of the graduate credits required for the Ph.D. in residence at UWM in doctoral status. In addition, the student must complete at least 8 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions.

Course of Study
The Ph.D. degree requires completion of at least 54 graduate credits—48 credits of coursework, and 6 dissertation credits. Students may count up to a maximum of 6 credits in dual level undergraduate/graduate courses toward the degree. Precise numbers of credits and actual course requirements will be determined after review of the applicant's previous coursework.

Required Courses (12 credits)
During the first three semesters in the program, the following courses in Forms of Reasoning are required:

| Africology | Theories and Methods in Qualitative Research in Africology, 3 credits |
| Africology | Theories and Methods in Empirical Research in Africology, 3 credits |
| Africology | Normative Theory and Principles of Social Organization I, 3 credits |
| Africology | Critical Literary Theory I: Cultural Roots of Africological Literary Theory, 3 credits |

Fields of Concentration
Following completion of the core courses, students must select one of two concentrations. The Department of Africology has been structured conceptually and empirically around two fields of concentration: Political Economy and Public Policy, and Culture and Society: Africa and the African Diaspora. Students will select one of these concentrations by the end of their comprehensive exams and will work with their faculty advisor to develop an appropriate program of study. In consultation with their faculty advisor, students may elect to take a concentration of 6 to 9 credits outside of the Department.

The Comprehensive Examination
Prior to the end of each entering student's third semester of enrollment, s/he is required to take and pass the department's graduate student comprehensive examination (written and oral) in order to continue his/her studies toward the Ph.D. degree. There are no exceptions to this requirement. The comprehensive examination is administered in the spring and fall semesters of each academic year.

The examination will be administered by three (3) members of the department's faculty, who will grade the written work and conduct the orals. Members of the examination committee rotate each academic year. Students must pass the written examination to be eligible for the oral examination.

Students who pass the comprehensive examination are permitted to proceed toward the Ph.D. degree. Failing the exam will result in a recommendation to the Graduate School for the student's academic dismissal. The comprehensive examination is not repeatable.

Upon passing the exam, students continue to take courses in the concentrations in preparation for the doctoral preliminary examinations and independent research.

The Doctoral Preliminary Examinations
Students will take written and oral doctoral preliminary examinations in two of their three fields of concentration, which they will select.

To be eligible to take the preliminary examinations, which are administered in the fall and spring semesters of each academic year, student must:

- Be registered.
- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0 (B), at the time of the examination.
- Have completed all coursework—there shall be no incompleted (I)s at the time of the examination.
- Have satisfied the foreign language or mathematics/statistics requirement.
- Have made one presentation to the department's faculty as a whole in the Departmental Faculty Colloquium Series. The purpose of the presentation is to: i) refine a student's knowledge of a given subject; ii) socialize students in the rigor of making scholarly presentations on one's research before future peers; and iii) prepare students for the demands of interviews for future jobs. A student will not be judged to either have passed or failed the presentation. Rather, s/he will be given constructive comments concerning the substance and style of his/her presentation. Generally, each colloquium will last for two (2) hours.

- Have fulfilled all residency requirements.
- Have secured, in addition to their primary departmental advisor, a secondary advisor from outside the department should they plan to use their extra-departmental field of concentration as one of the two written-examination fields.

Those who pass the written examinations with a grade of at least a B on each shall then proceed to take the oral examination. Should a student fail one of the two written examinations, s/he upon petition to the Director of Graduate Studies and the Graduate Studies Committee, may be permitted to retake it at the next scheduled examination cycle. Students who fail both written examinations will not be permitted to retake them.

Failure of both written examinations, or the retake of a written examination, or the oral examination, will result in a recommendation to the Graduate School for the student's academic dismissal. Students who pass the preliminary examinations shall proceed to prepare a dissertation prospectus.

The preliminary examinations must be taken within five years of enrollment in the Ph.D. program. A student's dissertation committee shall consist of five (5) graduate faculty members, including his/her major professor. At least three (3) of the five members must be from the Department of Africology.

Dissertation Prospectus
(Proposal Hearing)
Prior to undertaking research for the dissertation, a student is required to prepare a dissertation prospectus, with the advice and consent of his/her advisor and Dissertation Committee. Acceptance of the dissertation proposal establishes an agreement between the student and the Dissertation Committee as to the nature and scope of the research to be conducted, and the procedure for completing the dissertation. Prior to the Dissertation Committee's approval of the prospectus, research involving the use of human subjects must receive the approval of the Institutional Review Board.

Dissertation Status
Specific requirements which must be completed before a doctoral student qualifies for dissertation status are described on the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements page.

Dissertation
The dissertation is a major piece of original research representing a substantial contribution to an existing body of knowledge. The original research findings embodied in the dissertation should be acceptable for publication in a refereed journal. The student's advisor and Dissertation Committee provide guidance in completing the dissertation. Once a student's dissertation has been approved by his/her advisor and Dissertation Committee, the document, in approved Graduate School format, is ready to be filed with the Graduate School. There is no oral defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
It is expected that students entering the program with a baccalaureate degree should normally complete their Ph.D. degree within six (6) years. However, because circumstances beyond a student's control may prevent completion of requirements according to this timeline, students will be granted a maximum of ten years to complete the degree.

Additional Information
More specific information on program requirements and procedures can be found in the Africology Student Handbook.

Master of Science in Anthropology

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. An undergraduate major in anthropology comparable to that at UWM.
2. Three letters of recommendation.
3. A writing sample such as a relevant term paper, article submission, etc.
4. Submission of scores from the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.

Applicants without an undergraduate major in anthropology can meet the first requirement in either of two ways:

1. By having completed junior-level courses in three of the four subfields of anthropology (archaeology, biological anthropology, cultural anthropology, or linguistics) with grades of B or better. These courses may be taken at any accredited college or university if they were not part of the applicant's undergraduate career. Applicants also may take them as special students at UWM. Applicants planning to take such courses should check with the Director of Graduate Studies to verify that the courses will be acceptable.
2. Applicants lacking courses in anthropology may be admitted to the program and be allowed to take the core classes and advanced seminars without deficiencies under certain conditions. For example, an applicant with an outstanding GPA or very high GRE scores who has an undergraduate major closely related to his or her proposed field of specialization could be admitted under this option.

Students are expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three semesters of enrolling in the program. Deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the Director of Graduate Studies. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Application deadlines for admission to the program are January 15th for the following Fall semester and September 15th for the following Spring semester. Applicants requesting financial assistance may have other deadlines to be considered eligible. Contact the department's Director of Graduate Studies for specific financial aid deadlines.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student selects an advisor, in consultation with the Director of Graduate Studies, by the end of the first semester of the program.

Credits and Courses

Students in the Master's degree program in Anthropology are required to take a minimum of 30 credits, some of which are obtained by taking required courses. Required courses differ by concentration (requirements for students seeking to acquire a Certificate in Museum Studies are listed on that page).

Archaeology concentration:

Core courses (9 Credits)
Anthro 801
Anthro 802
Anthro 803

Methods courses (6 Credits)
Anthro 568 (required)
One from the following or an alternative approved by the advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies:
Anthro 380, 501, 525, 535, 562, 566, 567, and 768

Advanced seminar (3 Credits)

Students may request a waiver for any of the above required courses except the advanced seminar. To request a waiver, a student must submit a letter to the Graduate Studies Committee. Requests must be accompanied by documentation demonstrating that the student is competent in the subject area of the course for which the waiver is sought. A waived course must be replaced by an anthropology course numbered 700 or above.

Students must maintain a B (3.0) average or better overall. The three core courses must be completed with an average of 3.0 or better. Students with a grade below a B in a core course subsequently accepted into the Ph.D. program must retake the course until they achieve a grade of B or better.

A thesis is required of all students; students may apply up to 6 credits of Research/Thesis courses toward meeting the minimum credits for the degree. The thesis must be formatted in accord with Graduate School requirements. Students will submit an electronic copy of the thesis to the Graduate School and a signed, unbound "hard" copy to the Department of Anthropology.

Thesis Defense

The student must pass an oral thesis defense. The examination committee must consist of at least three individuals, with a majority being members of the Anthropology Department.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Anthropology

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. A general master's degree in anthropology or equivalent preparation without the master's degree. An applicant with a master's degree in another field may be admitted if the student has a grade point average of 3.0 (4.0 scale) in graduate work and is approved by the departmental Graduate Admissions Committee.

2. Three letters of recommendation.

3. A writing sample such as a relevant term paper, article submission, etc.

4. Submission of scores from the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.

Applicants are accepted into the Ph.D. program only if a faculty member agrees to serve as major professor. Applicants are encouraged to contact the faculty member they wish to work with prior to applying to the program. The applicant's statement of purpose should identify his or her proposed major professor.

Application deadlines for admission to the program are January 15th for the following fall semester and September 15th for the following spring semester. Applicants requesting financial assistance may have other deadlines to be considered eligible. Contact the department's graduate advisor for specific financial aid deadlines.

Reapplication

A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Residence

The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Course of Study

Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. A student lacking any of the courses (or equivalents taken elsewhere) required to attain a Master's degree in his/her major area of concentration must complete these courses as part of his/her Ph.D. work.

Requirements

1. Three core courses (801, 802, and 803).

2. A methods class (approved classes are 380, 501, 525, 535, 562, 566, 567, 560, 561, 568, and 768; other courses with the approval of the advisor and Director of Graduate Studies).

Overview
The Department of Art and Design offers graduate programs of study in art and art education. Fields of concentration are available in the following studio arts areas: Art and Technology, Ceramics, Design, Fibers, InterMedia (mixed media and installation), Jewelry and Metalsmithing, Painting and Drawing, Photography, Print and Narrative Forms, and Sculpture.

The Master of Arts in Art is a 30-credit program with advanced study and concentration in one or more areas of studio art. It is designed for the student who desires graduate training as a professional artist. The student's plan of studies is tailored according to whether or not that person expects to continue formal studies in the Master of Fine Arts program.

The Master of Fine Arts in Art is a 30-credit program of concentrated study beyond a Master of Science or a Master of Arts degree. It is designed for the student who desires further graduate training as a professional artist. The student's plan of studies is tailored according to whether or not that person expects to continue formal studies in the Master of Fine Arts program.

The Master of Science (M.S.) in Art Education is a 30-credit program with advanced study and concentration in the areas of Pre K-12 Art Education Focus and Community-Based Art Education Focus. It is designed for those who desire careers as educators in community art programs, including museums. The program looks at theories and practices that have impacted community-based art education.

The Department's facilities and services include fully equipped studios housed in several buildings, one of which is an Arts Center.

The Peck School of the Arts' Institute of Visual Art (Inova) provides a year-round schedule of exhibitions, with galleries that are housed on campus within the Arts Center, and in the Kenilworth Square East building, a research facility approximately one mile from campus. The Department offers a schedule of workshops and special lectures each year. In addition, graduate student studios are located in the Kenilworth Square East building.

Usually, four Frederick R. Layton Fellowships are awarded each year, two to incoming graduate students and two to continuing students, depending on funding. Information and application forms may be obtained at:
http://www4.uwm.edu/psoa/artdesign/ma-mfa/.

A limited number of Teaching Assistantships and Project Assistantships are offered through the Department of Art and Design. Information and application forms may be obtained at: http://www4.uwm.edu/psoa/artdesign/ma-mfa/.

Students applying for admission to the three graduate programs in Art and Design, should note these application deadlines:

• For Fall admission to the M.A. and MFA graduate programs in studio art, the Graduate School recommends completing the online application one year in advance of intended enrollment (check http://www4.uwm.edu/psoa/artdesign/ma-mfa/ for more specific information) with portfolios and letters of recommendation due in the Department of Art and Design Office of Graduate Studies by January 7. Applications are accepted for Fall admission only.

• For admission to the M.S. graduate program in Art Education, the Graduate School recommends completing the online application one year in advance of the semester in which one intends to enroll, and no later than three months prior to intended enrollment, with CD portfolio, writing sample and letters of recommendation due in the Department of Art and Design Office of Graduate Studies three months prior to intended enrollment.

Master of Arts in Art
Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:
1. An undergraduate major in art including at least 40 studio credits and at least 45 academic credits outside the major.
2. Submission of a CD portfolio with 20 images of original work.
3. Submission of a written personal statement of the proposed program of study.
4. Three (3) letters of recommendation.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies

provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The Graduate School and the Office of Graduate Studies in the Department of Art and Design monitor the deficiencies. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
Immediately upon admission, the graduate student in Art and Design must contact the Director of Graduate Studies and the assigned Advisory Committee Chair in the studio area in which the student will work for initial advising.

By the end of the student's second semester in the program, the student must make arrangements for a member of the Graduate Faculty in the Art and Design Department to serve as major professor and notify the Department of Art and Design Office of Graduate Studies that the professor is willing to serve in this capacity.

As soon as possible thereafter, the student, in consultation with the major professor, shall organize a Graduate Thesis Committee. This Committee consists of three or more members; at least one member must be from the student's area or areas of concentration. The Committee is composed of the major professor, who acts as chair, and two additional members of the Graduate Faculty of the Department of Art and Design. A fourth member may be chosen from the faculty of the Department of Art and Design, other departments within the University, or an expert in the community.

A student who wishes to change their designated area of study must first apply and be accepted into the new area of concentration. The student should then contact the head of the newly selected area for advice in possibly selecting a new major professor.

If the student's major professor takes a leave of absence or leaves the University, the student should contact the head of the area for advice in selecting a new major professor. The student must notify the Department of Art and Design Office of Graduate Studies of the change immediately.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, 24 of which must be taken in art and 6 of which must be taken in Art History. The student, in consultation with the major professor, plans a program of studies to include 6 credits in graduate art seminars including Philosophy and Concepts (3 cr.); 18 credits in studio art; 6 credits in Art History.

Transfer of Credits
Upon admission, an applicant may be permitted to transfer a maximum of 12 graduate credits earned at another institution. However, the student must apply to the Graduate School for an evaluation of such credits to determine if they are acceptable for transfer to the M.A. program.

Graduate Review
Each year, the student must participate in at least one Graduate Review. The student who qualifies to proceed beyond the Master of Arts degree in pursuit of the Master of Fine Arts degree must participate in at least one Graduate Review before the written and oral MFA qualifying examinations.

Thesis Exhibition
Upon recommendation of the Graduate Thesis Committee, the student presents a thesis exhibition or presentation of work centering on the student's area of concentration and executed during graduate studies.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral and written examination.

Time Limit
The Department of Visual Art requires that students complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Master of Fine Arts in Art Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Completion of 30 graduate course credits in art, including at least 18 in studio art, as required by the UWM Master of Arts in Art degree—or the equivalent. The applicant need not necessarily hold the Master of Science or Master of Arts degree.
2. An applicant not holding a Master of Science or Master of Arts degree must also pass a written and oral qualifying examination.
3. Submission of a CD portfolio of 20 slides or with 20 images of original work.
4. Submission of a written personal statement of the proposed program of study.
5. Three (3) letters of recommendation.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/

6. If the applicant is continuing toward the MFA after completing coursework for Master of Arts in Art at UWM, a letter recommending continuation toward the MFA from the thesis examining committee will be accepted in lieu of slides, a personal statement, and letters of recommendation.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
If the applicant is continuing toward the MFA after completing coursework for a UWM Master of Science in Art Education or Master of Arts in Art, the major professor and the Graduate Thesis Committee already selected will continue in these positions. If the applicant is newly admitted to the program, the head of the area of specialization should be contacted immediately for initial advising. By the end of the student's second semester in attendance, arrangements must be made for a member of the graduate faculty in the Art and Design Department to serve as major professor and the Department of Art and Design Office of Graduate Studies should be notified of the professor's willingness to serve in this capacity.

As soon as possible thereafter, the student, in consultation with the major professor, shall organize a Graduate Thesis Committee. This Committee consists of three or more members, at least one member must be from the student's area or areas of concentration. If the student's major professor takes a leave of absence or leaves the University, the student should contact the head of that area for advice in selecting a new major professor.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits beyond the Master of Arts degree or the Master of Fine Arts Qualifying Exam. The student, in consultation with the major professor, plans a program of studies that includes 3 credits in a graduate art seminar; 18 to 24 credits in studio art; 3 credits in Art History; 0 to 6 credits in related areas such as art history, anthropology, archaeology, or aesthetics. The student must be enrolled as a full-time student for at least one semester, earning a minimum of 8 credits during that semester.

Transfer of Credits
Upon admission, an applicant may be permitted to transfer a maximum of 12 graduate credits earned at another institution. However, the student must apply to the Graduate School for an evaluation of such credits to determine if they are acceptable for transfer to the MFA program.

Graduate Review
MFA candidates must participate in at least one Graduate Review each academic year.

Thesis Exhibition
Upon recommendation of the major professor the student presents a thesis exhibition of work executed since admission to the program. The exhibition is held during the semester in which the student completes the coursework for the degree.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral and written examination.

Time Limit
The Department requires that the student complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment in the MFA program.

Master of Science in Art Education
Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements requirements and have an undergraduate degree in art education, art history, studio arts, or related field to be considered for admission to the program.

The following materials are also required and must be sent to the Department of Art and Design, Office of Graduate Studies, Peck School of the Arts, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, P.O. Box 413, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53201. (See department website for specific directions.)

1. An example of writing skills—Appropriate examples include: a paper presented at a professional meeting, an art curriculum guide, a research paper, or a published article.

2. A CD portfolio of applicant's original work (minimum 10, maximum 20 images) and, if an experienced teacher, the work of one's students (minimum 10, maximum 20 images). Explanatory or descriptive annotations must accompany images.

3. Three (3) letters of recommendation.

4. For the Pre K-12 Art Education Focus only: A photocopy of certification to teach art or proof of admission into the Teacher Certification Program in the School of Education

Application deadlines for admission to the program are February 1 for the following fall semester and October 7 for the following spring semester. If applicants are interested in competing for assistantships and fellowships, a January 7 deadline should be used.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. Upon admission to the program, the student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The Graduate School and the Office of Graduate Studies in Art and Design monitor the deficiencies. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
Immediately upon admission, the graduate student must contact the Coordinator of Graduate Programs in Art and Design for advice in selecting a new major professor.

The additional faculty member may come from outside art education, outside the Department of Art and Design, or outside the university. Members from outside the university community must have credentials that further a student's research agenda and must be chosen in consultation with the major professor.

If the student's major professor takes a leave of absence, receives a sabbatical, or leaves the university, the student should contact the Coordinator of Graduate Programs in Art Education for advice in selecting a new major professor.

Credits and Courses
The minimum requirement for the M.S. in Art Education degree is 30 graduate credits, 6 credits of which must be in foundations in art education, 9 credits in current topics and thematically related studio workshops, and 6 credits in thesis development. The student, in consultation with the major professor, is responsible for also planning 9 additional credits (minimum) in a chosen program of study in art education with a specific focus on Pre K-12 or community environments. Please refer to Master of Science in Art Education Handbook for further information.

Transfer of Credits
Upon admission, an applicant may be permitted to transfer a maximum of 12 graduate credits earned at another institution, or as a UWM non-degree graduate student, subject to transfer credit requirements and department approval.

Thesis
All M.S. in Art Education students must develop, present, and defend a thesis to complete their degree. Two thesis options are available: a written thesis that emphasizes scholarly research; or an applied study that includes the development and implementation of a significant teaching strategy or curricular model that is reported on in a written thesis. Thesis option should be selected by a student and approved by the major advisor before 15 graduate credits are earned.

Students must have at least two members of the Art Education area faculty on their thesis committee and one from a related field of study.

Comprehensive Examination
All M.S. in Art Education students must pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Overview
The Department of Art History offers a graduate program of studies in the history, theory, criticism and connoisseurship of art. Coursework is offered in Western art (European and American) and Non-Western art (African, Asian, and Pre-Columbian) from antiquity to the present. Independent investigation and study are afforded in architecture, painting and sculpture in each of the major periods. The program is designed to permit the student to develop familiarity with a broad range of stylistic periods and with research techniques employed in their study.

The program prepares the student for advanced work leading to the Ph.D., and through the Certificate in Art Museum Studies, for careers in curatorial, educational and administrative positions in museums and art galleries.

Master of Arts in Art History

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. A minimum of 15 credits in Art History.
2. Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination.
3. Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's academic or professional activities and potential.

4. Strongly recommended, though not required: background in languages, history or classics. Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at time of admission should immediately contact the Graduate Advisor.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits in Art History, of which a minimum of 18 credits must be at the 700/900 level. The 18 credits must include ArtHist 700 (Proseminar in Art History) but may not include ArtHist 703 and 704 (Introduction to Museum Studies I and II). Six of the 18 credits should be taken in thesis research (ArtHist 990).

Under special circumstances, 3 credits in 700/900 level work may be substituted for 3 of the 6 credits of thesis research. In addition, students may take a maximum of 6 credits of independent research (890, 891 and/or 999); however, these credits may not be taken in the first 6 credits of graduate work in the Department, and not until all deficiencies (if any) have been satisfied. Furthermore, they may not be counted toward the 18-credit requirement at the 700/900 level. They will count, however, toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate. All students must take the Proseminar in Art History (ArtHist 700) in their first fall semester.

Of the total 30 credits, each student is required to take 3 credits in at least four of the following five areas: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance-Baroque, Modern (1750 to the Present including Film), and Non-Western. At least 6 of these credits must be taken in courses numbered 700 or above. The following courses may not be used to satisfy the distribution requirement although they will count toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate: 302, 303, 351, 353, 355, 459.

Upon petition to the graduate advisor, a student may be permitted to take up to 6 credits in appropriate areas outside Art History (e.g., anthropology, literature, history, music history, philosophy, film).

Language Requirement
Students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of one art historical language, e.g. French, German, Italian, Spanish or other language as appropriate. Students must take the departmental reading exam in the language of their choice at least once by the time they have completed 9 credits. If they do not pass the exam on the first attempt, they will be expected to enroll in an appropriate language course. Students may not enroll in thesis research (990) unless they have passed the language examination.

Thesis or Exhibition
The student must either write a thesis or organize an exhibition accompanied by a scholarly catalog on a subject selected in consultation with the advisor. This study or exhibition must demonstrate the student's ability to organize material and familiarity with research methods and art historical literature pertinent to the student's topic and area of interest. The exhibition is considered the equivalent of a formal thesis and the accompanying written work must be submitted to the Graduate School in appropriate format.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final comprehensive examination, which will take the form of an oral defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment. It is expected that a full-time student will normally complete all of the requirements for the degree within two years.

Courses numbered 300-699 are Undergraduate/Graduate. Courses numbered 700 and above are Graduate only.

Overview

The Department of Biological Sciences offers graduate programs in biology with areas of concentration in botany; microbiology; cellular and molecular biology; genetics; physiology and morphology of plants and animals; terrestrial and aquatic ecology; behavioral biology; conservation biology; and evolution.

Facilities of the Great Lakes WATER Institute, the UWM Field Station, the departmental greenhouse, and the electron microscope laboratory provide opportunities for laboratory and field research. The recommended deadline for submitting applications for admission to the graduate programs in Biological Sciences is January 1 for the Fall semester and for TA or RA support. The recommended deadline for admission for the Spring semester is September 1 and for the summer, January 1. Timely application is encouraged for students seeking financial support. The deadline for Distinguished Graduate Student Fellowship applications is mid-January for the upcoming academic year beginning with the Fall semester. Highly qualified applicants may be offered a Ruth I. Walker Memorial Fund Scholarship (variable dollar amount), for up to two years. All applicants approved for admission by April 1 are considered for the Ruth Walker award; a special application is not required. When applying for admission, applicants should describe as completely as possible their specific research interests within biological sciences. Applicants are strongly encouraged to establish contact, before or during the application process, with Biological Sciences faculty members whose research interests are closest to their own, regarding the likelihood of one serving as the student’s major professor. To assist the applicant in this process, a Biological Sciences Graduate Program brochure is available, which describes the research activities of the faculty. The brochure can be obtained by contacting the departmental office.

Master of Science in Biological Sciences

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Undergraduate coursework equivalent to the Biological Sciences major at UWM, including coursework in the following areas of plant or animal science: cellular and molecular biology or genetics; organismal biology; ecology.

2. A year of physics; chemistry through organic or biochemistry.

3. Undergraduate mathematical preparation including at least one course in calculus, statistics, or biometry.

4. Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.

5. At least two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's scholarship and research potential.

Applicants may be admitted with specific course deficiencies (e.g. physics, chemistry) provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements with a grade of C or better within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The student is expected to maintain a grade of B in all other coursework.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The Graduate Committee assigns a faculty advisor as a necessary prerequisite to admission.

Credits and Courses

Students who initially enroll before Fall 2014:

Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, at least 18 of which must be in biological sciences and up to 6 of which may be in related areas. Of the 24 credits, at least 12 must be course or seminar credits - not research credits. The student must take at least two seminars during the course of the student's program up to a maximum of 4 credits counting toward the degree; and enroll in Biology Colloquium each semester with a maximum of 4 colloquium credits counting toward the degree. Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, at least 24 of which must be in biological sciences and up to 6 of which may be in related courses. Of the 24 credits, at least 12 must be course or seminar credits. The student must take at least two seminars during the course of the student's program up to a maximum of 4 credits counting toward the degree; and enroll in Biology Colloquium each semester with a maximum of 4 colloquium credits counting toward the degree. The student must enroll in a minimum of 12 credits in research. The student plans a program of studies in consultation with the major professor. If desired, a special area of concentration (botany, microbiology, physiology) may be declared.

M.S. Graduate Advisory Committee
The M.S. Graduate Advisory Committee is selected by the major professor in consultation with the student, by the end of the first year of enrollment. The M.S. Advisory Committee consists of the major professor and two other graduate faculty members. The Committee must meet at least once a year to monitor and formally report on the student's academic and research progress.

Oral Examination
The student must pass an M.S. oral examination. The examination should be taken by the end of the first year of enrollment, but in any event, must be taken no later than the end of the second year of enrollment. The M.S. Advisory Committee administers the oral examination.

Thesis
Students must prepare and defend a thesis reporting the results of their research. During the final year of study, students must present a seminar on their research, with prior public announcement.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Biological Sciences
Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following program requirements to be considered for admission:

- Applicant must present at least 30 credits in one or more areas of biological sciences and must show substantial evidence of scholarly potential. A master's degree is not prerequisite for admission to the Ph.D. program.
- Other academic preparation: a year of general physics including at least one semester of laboratory; one year of general college chemistry with laboratory, plus at least one semester of organic chemistry with laboratory or biochemistry with laboratory; two courses in college mathematics chosen from among courses in calculus, biometry or statistics.
- Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Acceptance by a faculty member in the program who will act as major professor (sponsor): see Major Professor as Advisor.
- Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's scholarship, research achievements and potential.

Applicants may be admitted with specific course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements with a grade of C or better within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The student is expected to maintain a grade of B in all other coursework.

Reapplication
A student in the M.S. program, or who receives the master's degree at UWM, must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The graduate committee assigns the incoming biological sciences student to an advisor whose experience and research most closely approximates the student's own career interests. Before the student's preliminary examination either this initially assigned advisor or another qualified staff member is designated as the student's major professor.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. Of the 54 credits, at least 28 must be earned in formal courses and graduate seminars. (Four colloquium credits are required after the bachelor's degree and count toward the degree.) The student must take at least three seminars during the student's course of study up to a maximum of 8 credits counting toward the degree. The remaining 26 credits may be earned in independent reading and/or study, or research. At least 30 of the 54 credits must be in biological sciences; 12 credits may be earned in allied sciences, including those in the secondary area of concentration or minor field(s).

Secondary Area of Concentration
The student must select a secondary area of concentration either within biological sciences or in an allied science, and must present at least 9 credits of course work in that area to the departmental Graduate Committee. A university minor (option A or B) may qualify as a secondary area of concentration upon approval by the departmental Graduate Committee.

Language or Data Analysis Proficiency
The student must demonstrate proficiency either in a foreign language or data analysis. The student can demonstrate language proficiency in one language other than English (German, French, Russian or Spanish preferred), either through examinations or through 12 credits of specified coursework, either before or after admission to the program. The student can demonstrate proficiency in data analysis by presenting 12 credits in one or more of the following: mathematics (200-level or above), statistics, computer science.

Residence
The student must meet Graduate School residence requirements.

Ph.D. Advisory Committee
The Ph.D. Advisory Committee shall be selected by the major professor in consultation with the student by the end of the first year of enrollment. The Ph.D. Advisory Committee shall consist of the major professor and four other graduate faculty members. One of the faculty should reflect competency in the secondary area of concentration. When the advisory committee is formed, the student must prepare a departmental "certification document" for the approval of the committee. The committee must meet at least once a year to monitor and formally report on the student's academic and research progress.

Dissertation Proposal and Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Prior to the doctoral preliminary examination, the student submits a preliminary written dissertation proposal to the student's Ph.D. Advisory Committee and delivers an oral presentation of relevant research in progress. The doctoral preliminary examination is in two parts. Part I is a written exam; Part II is an oral exam. Parts I and II of the doctoral preliminary examination must be taken with a warrant from the Graduate School; and must be taken before the end of the second or third year of full-time enrollment (before completion of 24 or 36 credits for students with a M.S. or B.S. degree, respectively). Deviation from this plan must be approved by the Graduate Committee.

Dissertator Status
Specific requirements which must be completed before the Graduate School places a doctoral student in dissertator status are described in the Doctor of Philosophy Degree requirements section.

Dissertation
In consultation with the major professor the candidate must select a suitable research project and submit a written research plan. The final dissertation proposal constitutes the student's written research plan which is subject to approval of the Ph.D. Advisory Committee. This plan is to be submitted to the Department. The research plan will be reviewed for progress annually. During the final year of study the candidate must present a seminar, with prior public announcement, on this research and must prepare a dissertation reporting the results of this research. The original research findings embodied in this dissertation should be acceptable for publication in a refereed journal.

Dissertation Defense
As the final step toward the degree the candidate must defend the dissertation before the Ph.D. Advisory Committee.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program. For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Doctor of Philosophy Degree requirements section.

Requests for financial support must also be submitted to the above person.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Graduate School requires that the student have a major professor to advise, supervise and approve the program of study before registering for courses. The Biomedical and Health Informatics Steering Committee will assign the incoming student to a temporary Program Advisor at the time of admission. Prior to the completion of 12 credit (9 credits for a part-time student), the student must select a major professor who will be the student's dissertation advisor. The student, in consultation with the major professor, develops a program of study which is submitted to the Biomedical and Health Informatics Steering Committee for approval. For subsequent changes, the student must file a revised program of study for approval.

The Program Committee, subject to the approval of the Biomedical and Health Informatics Steering Committee, shall consist of the Major Professor and at least four graduate faculty members, including at least one with health care and/or medical background, and one with informatics background.

Areas of Concentration
The Ph.D. program requires a student to follow one of the following five areas of concentration. (At the time of application, each applicant should indicate a preferred area of concentration in their statement of Reasons for Graduate Study.)

Knowledge Based Systems Track

The Knowledge Based Systems track is designed to train students in the development of techniques to support decision-making in medical practice (including both clinical and administrative decision-making) and customized instruction on health and medical topics for patients and health care providers. Technical areas include decision analysis, expected utility theory and cost-effectiveness analysis, computer-based decision support systems, user modeling and user interface design, intelligent tutoring systems, knowledge representation, structured reporting, and data mining and knowledge discovery.

Health Information Systems Track

The track in Health Information Systems is designed to explore the role of administrative and clinical information systems in health care organizations. Attention will be directed at the design, implementation, and maintenance of the broad array of computer applications used in the health care industry. An interdisciplinary approach will be taken drawing on expertise from the health professions, management information systems, and library and information science. Curricular content will range from systems analysis and design, system efficacy and management, to e-commerce.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following requirements to be considered for admission:

1. The program primarily enrolls individuals with backgrounds in biomedical sciences or related fields who have completed a bachelor's degree at an accredited institution. For students entering without a degree in a related area, the faculty determines deficiencies to be overcome prior to admission. Students may apply for admission at any time during the year; however, review of completed applications will take place twice annually, during the second week of November and March of each year for enrollment beginning the following semester. Applications received after these dates may be considered if space is available in the program.

2. Applicants may be admitted to regular status if their grade point average is the equivalent of 2.75 or above (scale of 4.0). Averages below 2.75 may be considered for admission on a probationary basis, in which case particular attention is given to the last 60 hours completed in the undergraduate program, with special emphasis on performance in science courses. Probationary status is removed after successful completion of the first eight graduate credits with a grade point average of 3.0 or above.

3. Graduate Record Examination scores on the General Test are required.

4. Three letters of reference, preferably from academic and/or clinical sources, must be submitted.

5. Along with the application form, the applicant must submit a letter of not more than 1,000 words stating career objectives and reasons for seeking a graduate degree in biomedical sciences.

6. Diagnostic Imaging track requires documentation of active certification from Cardiovascular Credentialing International (CCI), American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT) or American Registry of Diagnostic Medical Sonography (ARDMS).

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Students are permitted a choice of research/specialty emphasis, and an advisor is assigned according to faculty advising loads.

Applicants admitted to the M.S. program may be required to complete management foundation courses. Individual areas of concentration require different foundation courses. (See Lubarschool of Business MBA/M.S. brochure and the Lubarschool of Business Web site for details http://www4.uwm.edu/business.) Foundation courses will be waived if students have completed equivalent coursework. Credits earned in these courses do not count toward the degree.

Students select the area of concentration most suited to their educational goals. The areas of concentration in the program are: accounting (first professional degree-open only for students with non-accounting majors at baccalaureate level); professional accounting (program open to students who have completed an undergraduate degree in accounting); finance analysis; management (open only to non-business majors at baccalaureate level); information technology management; marketing; and taxation.

Major Professor as Advisor

Students in the M.S. program must choose a major professor during the first ten weeks of their first semester of graduate enrollment to advise and supervise their studies. A listing of faculty by area of interest is sent to each M.S. student to aid in their selection of a major professor. This list is also available in the Graduate Programs Services office, Lubar N251.

If a student is waivered out of a required course, an approved elective course must be substituted in its place and approved by Graduate Program Services (Lubar N251).

The major professor, in consultation with the student, reviews the student's academic background and career goals and designs an appropriate program of study consistent with degree requirements. In developing a program of study for a student who has no undergraduate background in business administration, care is taken to ensure a basic exposure to different aspects of the management field as well as an in-depth preparation in the chosen field of specialization.

Credits and Courses

The minimum degree requirement for the Master of Science in Management degree concentrations varies from 30-33 graduate credits. In the 30-credit concentrations, at least 18 credits must be taken in the Lubar School of Business.

Electives provide distinction to each individual program. Through proper selection and packaging, each student can design a program to meet individual educational objectives while maintaining a high degree of academic strength. These courses may be selected from the many available in the Lubar School of Business, or from among those offered in graduate programs of other UWM departments.

Students in the M.S. program have the option of doing a management research project. This option gives students the opportunity to apply methodological techniques and area studies. The urban location and strong ties with the business sector provide opportunities for student projects.

School/College: College of Letters and Science
Degrees Conferred:
- M.S. in Chemistry
- Ph.D. in Chemistry
Overview
The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry offers a graduate program of studies with a choice of areas of specialization in analytical, organic, inorganic and physical chemistry or in biochemistry. The student is expected to develop breadth of study beyond the boundaries of traditional areas and disciplines. The student is afforded the opportunity of interdisciplinary study in the disciplines. The student is expected to inorganic and physical chemistry or in specialization in analytical, organic, biochemistry. The student is expected to in organic, inorganic, and physical chemistry; in consultation with the major professor, the student plans a program based on the results of these examinations. The student must also participate in at least one term of part-time teaching as a teaching assistant.

Master of Science in Chemistry
Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus this departmental requirement to be considered for admission to the program.

1. Undergraduate preparation in chemistry and related areas equivalent to a chemistry major which includes at least one year each of physical and organic chemistry with laboratories, and one course each in analytical and inorganic chemistry with physical chemistry prerequisite.

2. Submission of scores from the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE). The Chemistry Subject Test is strongly recommended.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. See Special Non-Thesis Option below for additional requirements for admission to that option.

Standard Thesis Option
Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering student is assigned a temporary advisor; a permanent advisor must be selected by the end of the first semester of study. The major professor serves as the student's research mentor.

Standard Thesis Option
Credits and Courses
Note: Students entering in Fall 2014 or later must complete the new requirements. Currently enrolled students have the option of following the old or new requirements.

Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits. Normally these include at least five 600-899 level courses, chosen by the student in consultation with the advisor. A minimum grade point average of 3.00 must be earned in formal coursework, not including research courses (990-996) or seminars (912, 931-935). The remaining credits are taken in research and seminars. The student must take Chemistry 900 (Chemistry Colloquium) and take or audit Chemistry 912 (Graduate Seminar) each semester in residence. This requirement may be modified for part-time students who may be employed during normal hours of the seminar and colloquium. Graduate School regulations require that a majority of all courses taken be at the 700-899 level.

Prior to initial registration, the student takes advisory examinations to assess that individual's preparation in analytical, organic, inorganic, and physical chemistry; in consultation with the major professor, the student plans a program based on the results of these examinations. The student must also participate in at least one term of part-time teaching as a teaching assistant.

Thesis
The student writes a thesis, essentially a formal report of that student's research. Since the M.S. is largely a research degree, the quality of research reported in the thesis is an important measure of the student's success in the program.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis. At the discretion of the examining committee, this examination may include topics in addition to the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Special Non-Thesis Option For Students With Professional Experience In Chemistry
Admission
In addition to the general requirements noted above for the master's degree program, applicants must have a minimum of five years of professional chemistry experience beyond the B.A. or B.S. degree, including a sizable amount of research or development laboratory work. Since the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry believes that the problem-solving experience of research is an indispensable part of graduate study, applicants will be interviewed by a faculty committee to assess the prior research experience as appropriate background for the program.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. For this option, the major professor is

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
An applicant must meet Graduate School Admission requirements within five years of initial discretion of the committee. Areas of the papers and other areas at the comprehensive examination. An oral approved at least six months before the three faculty members representing the examining committee, which consists of These must be approved by the student's major area and one is in a minor area. The student prepares two survey papers for the Standard Thesis Option. Examinations described for the Standard Thesis Option.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, including no more than two credits of seminar. The remaining credits should be in formal courses. Registration for Graduate Seminar and Chemistry Colloquium, advisory examinations, course program, and core courses shall follow requirements for full- or part-time graduate students, as described for the Standard Thesis Option.

Papers and Comprehensive Examinations
The student prepares two survey papers exploring subjects in more depth than the coverage in coursework. They are in a major area and one in a minor area. These must be approved by the student's examining committee, which consists of three faculty members representing the areas of the papers. One paper must be approved at least six months before the comprehensive examination. An oral comprehensive examination covers both the areas of the papers and other areas at the discretion of the committee.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Chemistry Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus departmental requirements as given for admission to the master's program. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to the Ph.D. program in chemistry.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D. Major

Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering student is assigned a temporary advisor; a permanent advisor must be selected by the end of the first semester of study. The major professor serves as the student's research mentor.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The student plans an individual program of studies in consultation with the major professor. Coursework must include one of the following: a minor of 9 to 12 credits in a single department; a minor of 9 to 12 credits in two or more departments; a coherent program of at least 9 credits concentrated in an area of chemistry outside the student's principal area of emphasis. A Program of Studies, including coursework and proposed research, must be approved by the Department. A minimum grade point average of 3.00 must be earned in coursework in Chemistry, not including research (900-996) or seminars (912-935). Graduate School regulations require that a majority of all courses taken be at the 700-999 level. The Department has no formal language requirement but the student is responsible for familiarity with published literature in the area of that student's research. The student must also participate in at least one semester of part-time teaching as a teaching assistant. The first stage of the student's program includes general preparation as in the master's program, as well as specialized courses in principal areas of interest and the initiation of research. Admission to the second stage of the Ph.D. program is based upon satisfactory performance in courses, research, and in departmental examinations. Upon entrance, the student takes proficiency examinations in analytical, inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry. Departmental approval to continue in the doctoral program is attained by passing an advanced qualifying examination in the major area. This examination must be completed by the end of the fourth semester of study. In the second stage of the program, the student concentrates on the development and execution of original research. Additional coursework may also be required to complete the program of studies.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must take a doctoral preliminary examination. This serves to qualify the student for formal admission by the Graduate School to candidacy for the degree.

Dissertation
Candidates must each present a dissertation reporting the results of independent, original research carried out under the direction of their major professor. At least three months before the Dissertation Defense, at a time when most of the experimental work has been completed, the student meets with the Examining Committee for a preliminary review of the research to be described in the dissertation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, defend the dissertation in an oral examination. The candidate also presents a public dissertation seminar, describing research in completed form for the Department and others who may be interested. A student who does not pass this examination within five years of admission to candidacy may be required to take another preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within 10 years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program. For additional information view the Graduate School Ph.D. requirements.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Possess the equivalent of an undergraduate major in speech, speech communication, or related areas.
2. Possess an undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 in the major.
3. Submit three letters of recommendation from persons capable of judging the applicant's capacity for success in a graduate program of study.

5. Submit a sample of written work from an academic and/or professional assignment.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Applicants without the requisite grade point average may be considered for admission on a probationary basis.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The major professor should be designated no later than the end of the student's first year of enrollment. The incoming student is assigned the Graduate Coordinator or other program faculty member as an initial advisor until a major professor is selected.

Electives

Students complete 24 credits in elective courses, most of them selected from courses in the Department of Communication, with the following caveats. A maximum of 6 credits below the 700 level may be counted toward the degree. A maximum of 6 credits in courses outside the department may count toward the degree. No more than 9 credits selected from the combination of Commun 998, Commun 999, and courses outside the department may count toward the degree. In addition, the following restrictions on the number of credits that may count toward the degree are placed on these courses:

The M.A. Portfolio Project will provide students with an opportunity to:

between the M.A. experience and the nature of this type of work/service.

Thesis Option
A thesis involves applied or basic research and is a proven method for developing specialized knowledge and skills that can enhance an individual's expertise within a substantive area of study. A thesis is recommended for students who intend to continue study toward the Ph.D. degree or plan research-related employment. If the thesis option is elected, the student must initiate and write an original research project under the guidance of his/her major professor; the student also must pass an oral defense of the finished project conducted by his/her thesis committee.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Communication

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements, hold a master's degree in communication or a related field, and meet these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program in regular status:

- Have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.33 (B+) in course work for the master's degree.
- Submit letters of recommendation from at least three (3) communication professionals attesting to the student's capability to perform satisfactorily at the doctoral level (academic references preferred).
- Submit a writing sample that demonstrates the applicant's analytical and critical thinking skills.

Applicants lacking the requisite GPA, and those without the Master of Arts/Science in Communication (or an equivalent degree) may be considered for admission on probation, and may be required to complete preparatory coursework.

Reapplication/Readmission
Students who receive the M.A. in Communication from UWM must reapply to be considered for admission to the Ph.D. program.

Major Professor as Advisor
Initially, unless a student specifically requests a particular faculty member, all doctoral students are assigned an "interim" advisor. After the completion of 12 credits, a student is required to designate a faculty member with specialized interests compatible with those of the student to act as the major professor. The major professor is expected to assist the student in planning the remainder of the program of studies, chair the student's preliminary examination committee, supervise the completion of the Ph.D. dissertation, and conduct of the dissertation defense meeting. All students should consult the departmental handbook for additional details on departmental policies and procedures.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements of one continuous academic year of full-time graduate studies at UWM. This can be satisfied by completing at least 8 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit cannot be earned at the master's level.

Course of Study requirements are changing.
Currently enrolled students have the option of following the old or new requirements. Students entering in Fall 2014 or later must complete the new requirements.

Course of Study
To fulfill the credit requirement for the Ph.D. in Communication, a student must complete at least 54 credits beyond the master's degree, of which 48 must be numbered 700 or above. Thirty-three credits must be taken from the Communication Department. Students may complete 6 credit hours in courses below 700 offered outside the Department of Communication. Courses taken toward a master's degree will not apply to the doctoral program of studies. The 54 credits must be distributed as follows:

- A minimum of 6 credits of course work from communication research tools in courses numbered 900 or above, 3 credits of which must be in Commun 900. (Students will determine additional research tool credits in consultation with their advisor, so as to demonstrate methodological competence in their chosen area of study.)
- A minimum of 15 credits reflecting the student designing a thematic program of study combining theory and praxis in the study of communication processes.
- A minimum of 21 additional elective credits.
- A maximum of 12 credits for completion of the doctoral dissertation [Commun.

Comprehensive Preliminary Examination
A student must pass all components of a comprehensive preliminary examination to be advanced to candidacy for the doctoral degree. The examining committee is responsible for setting an examination schedule agreeable to all parties subject to the constraints that: (a) examinations must include at least 18 hours of questioning, and (b) must be completed in no longer than two (2) calendar weeks. Each member of the examining committee must read and pass the student on all examination questions the faculty member contributes. The student must receive a passing evaluation from all members of the committee on the written portion of the examination in order to attempt an oral defense of the examination. An affirmative vote constitutes the committee’s decision to advance the student to candidacy for the doctoral degree.

Students who fail the doctoral preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam may be retaken only once. The preliminary examination must be successfully completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Dissertation
The candidate, under the supervision of the major professor and in collaboration with a dissertation committee, must write a dissertation that demonstrates the ability to formulate a research topic and pursue an independent and original investigation of the chosen topic. The practices for the dissertation will conform to the guidelines established by the UWM Graduate School. The dissertation committee shall be composed of the major professor and four additional graduate faculty members (at least three of whom must be from the Communication Department's graduate faculty). The dissertation committee is responsible for assessing the dissertation project, which involves approving the dissertation prospectus proposal, reviewing working drafts of research in progress, and, finally, evaluating the candidate's ability to defend decisions made during the course of research. After submission of a reading copy of the dissertation to the faculty dissertation committee, the candidate and the major professor will schedule a committee meeting for the purpose of undertaking an oral defense of the dissertation work by the candidate. At the conclusion of the candidate's oral remarks, the dissertation committee will vote on passing the candidate's dissertation work. A majority of the committee must vote to approve the dissertation and recommend granting of the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Time Limit
All components of the Ph.D. program must be completed within 10 years of matriculation.

Communication Sciences and Disorders

Overview

The Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders offers a program of graduate study which prepares students for careers as speech-language pathologists in public schools, hospitals, rehabilitation centers, nursing homes, and university training programs. The program typically takes 2 calendar years to complete. Students usually prepare for service delivery in both school and healthcare clinical settings to maximize career flexibility. Occasionally, students may choose to focus career preparation on just one type of setting.

Departmental laboratory and instructional facilities include a speech and language clinic, a hearing evaluation center, a speech and language laboratory, and faculty research laboratories. Research and instructional laboratories contain state-of-the-art technology, a variety of acoustic and physiological measurement systems including a swallow station, and augmentative and alternative communication (AAC) devices. Students typically participate in at least three semesters of on-campus clinic. Student participation in a research experience is required.

Following a minimum of two successful practicum experiences in the on-campus clinics, students are eligible for off-campus externships in medical, rehabilitation, school, and birth-to-three sites. A successful practicum experience is one in which a student earns a grade of B or better. Students placed in these facilities are required to pass a criminal background check prior to the externship placement, in accordance with Wisconsin State Statutes, Chapters 48 and 50.

Master of Science in Curriculum and Instruction

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements to be considered for admission to the program.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than 6 credits.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

An applicant lacking the required grade point average (2.75 on a 4.00 scale) may be considered for admission on probation.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at time of admission should immediately contact the Department Chair. Students who have not completed a Proposed Program of Study form with their advisor and filed it with the Department by the end of the semester in which they are admitted may not be allowed to register for the next term.

Students may elect either of two alternative programs of study: Plan A or Plan B. Students seeking all or part of their teacher certification program as part of their Master's degree program must select Plan A. Students should consult with their Major Professor regarding specific certification requirements. Students matriculating in Plan A can complete either a thesis (3-6 credits) or a scholarly paper (3 credits). Students matriculating in Plan B must complete a thesis (6 credits).

Plan A

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement is 30 credits including 12 credits in curriculum and instruction core areas; 12 to 15 credits in a focus area approved by the student's major professor; and completion of 3 credits of Currins 800, Master's Seminar in Curriculum and Instruction or 3 to 6 credits of Currins 890, Master's Research or Thesis.

Scholarly Paper or Thesis
Students must complete either a scholarly paper or thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within 5 years of initial enrollment.

Plan B

The potential audience for Plan B would be individuals interested in exploring careers in higher education, either in teacher education or in a related education or

Curriculum and Instruction

Curriculum

Unique features of this curriculum are: all credits are taken at the 700 level or above; the opportunity for students to engage in meaningful quantitative or qualitative action research; and the 6 thesis credits are taken on-line.

A representative curricular sequence of coursework can be found in the C&I Master's Degree Handbook.

Thesis

A thesis is required. In consultation with the major professor, the student develops a research focus area. Research focus areas would include: action research in urban and diverse schools, organizational research in community agencies, varied issues that school districts face concerning marginalized students, literacy, charter schools, voucher schools, alternative school settings and the like. The thesis will be presented at the annual spring School of Education Research Conference or with at another educational conference selected by the student in consultation with the major professor.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within 5 years of initial enrollment.

Certifications

Graduate students seeking initial teacher certification or added certification(s) can arrange their Plan A Master's degree program so that a portion of the credits earned towards the Master's degree can also serve as partial fulfillment of teacher certification requirements. Please note that students must also make a separate application to the School of Education's Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Certification program through the Advising Office in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction. The Advising Office is located in Enderis Hall, room 220, or Department of Curriculum and Instruction's Website: www4.uwm.edu/soe/academics/currins.

Doctor of Philosophy in Economics

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program. A master's degree is not prerequisite for admission to the Ph.D. program in economics.

- An undergraduate major in economics with a grade point average (both overall and in economics) of 3.0 (4.0 scale) and one semester of calculus or adequate preparation at the undergraduate level equivalent to two semesters of coursework in intermediate economic theory, one semester of statistics, and one semester of calculus.

- An applicant having a master's degree in economics or graduate coursework in economic theory must have a graduate grade point average of at least 3.33 (4.0 scale).

- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination General Test and Subject Test or equivalent quantitative courses is recommended. Test of English as a Foreign Language exam is required for applicants whose native language is not English.

- Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's scholastic achievement and potential.

Reapplication
A student who is in the master's program must formally reapply for admission to Graduate School before continuing toward the Ph.D. To receive doctoral student status, a student must complete the master's degree or obtain a waiver of this requirement from the admissions committee, the graduate study advisor, and the Department Chair. The waiver must be obtained before the student completes 27 credits in the M.A. program.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. In Economics, the newly admitted Ph.D. student is advised by the Graduate Study advisor.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. Of the total credits required, a minimum of 42 must be taken in the field of economics, including 12 credits in Econ 801, 802, 803, and 804; 12 credits in quantitative theory; a total of 15 credits in two areas of concentration; and 3 cr of research skills as detailed below. An additional 9 to 12 credits may be chosen either in a minor field outside the Department or in electives either in or outside the Department, as follows.

Economics

Minor field or electives: This requirement may be satisfied in one of two ways:

1. Minor field: 9 to 12 credits in a single department other than Economics; courses planned with a professor in the minor department and the examination, if required, is administered by the minor department.

2. Electives: 9 to 12 credits in courses from any departments, including Economics, but no more than 6 credits in any one department other than Economics; courses are to be planned with the approval of the Graduate Study advisor and no examination is required.

Research skill
Research skill requirements are individually assigned by the graduate study advisor. Research skill requirement is fulfilled through courses in computer science, mathematics, statistics, mathematical economics (700 level or above), or econometrics (700 level or above).

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements. The Ph.D. student meets the continuous portion of the residence credit requirement by completing 8 to 12 credits in each of two consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit is not earned at the master's level or prior to award of the master's degree.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass doctoral preliminary examinations for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examinations are given in sections covering economic theory and the student's two areas of concentration. Students must take the sections in economic theory first.

Students may attempt any prelim exam twice. Any student failing a prelim exam twice may appeal to the Graduate Faculty for permission to take the exam for a third time if:

1. The student's request is accompanied by letters of support from at least two members of the faculty and where one of the faculty is a member of the prelim committee awarding the failing grade, and

2. The student is still able to satisfy the time limits outlined below. (Note: These conditions must be met before an appeal can be considered by the Graduate Faculty. Satisfaction of these conditions in no way obligates the Graduate Faculty to grant any appeal.)

Students may not take the field exams until they have passed both theory exams. A section is also included covering the minor if there is one; this section is administered by the department concerned.

The schedule specifying the time at which these examinations are taken is as follows:

1. A doctoral student with an M.A. in Economics from UWM must attempt both theory prelims at the conclusion of 2 semesters or 12 credits (whichever happens last) and must pass both theory prelims prior to the start of the 5th semester or at the conclusion of 24 credits (whichever happens last).

2. A doctoral student with an M.A. in Economics from another institution must attempt both theory prelims at the conclusion of 3 semesters or 24 credits (whichever happens last) and must pass both theory prelims prior to the beginning of the 6th semester or at the conclusion of 36 credits (whichever happens last).

3. A doctoral student without an M.A. in Economics must attempt both theory prelims at the conclusion of 5 semesters or 36 credits (whichever happens last) and must pass both exams prior to the beginning of the 8th semester or at the conclusion of 48 credits (whichever happens last).

Dissertation
The candidate must write a dissertation which demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

See the doctoral requirements for additional information.

Overview
The Department of Educational Psychology resides in the School of Education at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and prepares graduate students for a variety of clinical, research, and teaching professions at the master's or doctoral level.

The Master of Science in Educational Psychology is designed to serve those who want to increase their understanding of human behavior from conception through adulthood, research and evaluation of learning, and teaching in informal and formal educational settings. The program permits concentrations in School Counseling, Community Counseling, School Psychology, Human Development and Learning, and Educational Statistics and Measurement. The Department also offers certification sequences to qualify students as school psychologists and school counselors.

The goal of the Doctor of Philosophy in Educational Psychology is to prepare psychologists, researchers and educational professionals to effectively work on the unique challenges of promoting education, learning, and mental health in urban environments. The four areas of emphasis in the doctoral program are Counseling Psychology, Learning and Development, Educational Statistics and Measurement, and School Psychology.

The Counseling Psychology and School Psychology specializations at the master's and doctoral level are accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA).

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program
1. An undergraduate GPA of 3.00.
2. At least 18 undergraduate credits in education or related social sciences.
   Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.
3. Applicants who have a GPA lower than 3.00 but above 2.5 may be recommended for probationary admission with appropriate supporting documentation.
4. Personal interviews may be required prior to admission.
5. Applicants for programs in counseling, educational statistics and measurement, and school psychology are required to submit three letters of recommendation.
6. Initial advisor assignment will be made by the area chair of the concentration to which the applicant has applied.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at time of admission should immediately contact the Department Chair.

Credits and Courses
Each concentration has unique requirements; the student should consult the descriptions of each concentration to determine specific requirements. Descriptions are available from the Department.

Students seeking an emphasis in counseling are required to complete 48 credits.

Thesis
Optional. Up to 6 degree credits may be awarded for thesis research.

Comprehensive Examination
The student who writes a thesis must pass a final oral examination in defense of that thesis. The student who does not write a thesis must pass a final oral or written comprehensive examination.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Community Counseling and School Counseling
The counseling program in the Department of Educational Psychology offers two distinct concentration areas: Community Counseling and School Counseling. Given UWM's location in the largest urban area in Wisconsin, the counseling faculty is committed to training multiculturally competent community counselors and school counselors to serve clients in urban environments. Both concentrations share a core preparation in the areas of counseling and educational psychology. As students make progress in their program of studies, their focus will take on a more specialized training with content specific courses and... field placements where they will refine their counseling skills in practical settings.

The concentrations train counselors to work with a diverse group of clients in urban settings and to deliver services in an ethical manner, as outlined by professional codes of conduct. They share in common courses comprising an Educational Psychology core of studies, a general Counseling core of studies, and a Concentration core. The Educational Psychology core provides knowledge for understanding research and professional scholarship, techniques of educational and psychological measurement, and typical human growth and development across the life-span. The Counseling core courses provide training in basic helping processes and relationships, career development, social and diversity issues in counseling, group work, appraisal of client issues, counseling theory, and the role of family systems. The Concentration core provides training in advanced strategies for helping clients change, and opportunities for increasing competency with specific populations through field placement. Fieldwork in Counseling and Supervised Practicum in Counseling involve the refinement of more advanced and sophisticated counseling skills in placements in actual counseling settings. Students are required to spend 20 hours each week during the semester at their placement site (an exception to this hour requirement is described below for students interested in seeking experience in dual concentrations). Each concentration requires 48 credits.

Community Counseling
The Community Counseling concentration prepares students for work in a variety of community settings such as mental health clinics, community agencies, counseling centers, colleges and universities, and business and industry. Students arrange their program of studies in consultation with their advisors so that the 48 credits earned toward a master's degree will meet selected state certification requirements.

School Counseling
The School Counseling concentration prepares students to work as school counselors. The program is approved by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. Students are trained to apply the principles of learning, human development, counseling, and research and measurement within the schools. Preparation is designed to enable students to deliver school counseling programs and services to schools and the community. Students arrange their program of studies in consultation with their advisors so that the 48 credits earned toward a master's degree also will satisfy Wisconsin State Certification requirements. Certification is available as a K-12 School Counselor and as a Bilingual Counselor.

The School Counseling Certification program is for students who already possess a master's degree. Certification students are admitted to the school counseling certification and enroll as non-degree candidates. They need to meet the requirements for school counselor certification, which are generally fewer than the credits required for the M.S. Final selection of courses is determined by consultation with an advisor. Certification is available as a K-12 School Counselor and as a Bilingual Counselor. The requirements for this certification program meet the certification standards of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Admission
Admission to the master's concentrations in counseling takes place twice a year. Deadline date for department receipt of completed applications is November 1 for spring semester admission and February 15 for fall.

If you are interested in applying to one of the master's concentrations in counseling, please see the Educational Psychology Web site for more information. A student handbook containing detailed information on each program is available online; it can be accessed by clicking on the specific program of interest in the left-hand navigation bar. For further questions not addressed on the Web site, contact the Department of Educational Psychology at edpsydpt@uwm.edu.

Students who seek admission to the Community or School Counseling concentrations within the counseling area must apply through the Graduate School for admission to the Department of Educational Psychology. Please note that Graduate School deadlines are earlier because they receive, evaluate, and send completed graduate school applications to the Department. Upon admission, the student is assigned to a faculty member of the Department of Educational Psychology-Counseling Area who shall serve as the student's advisor.

The Counseling Area follows the admissions requirements of the Graduate School and the Department of Educational Psychology.

Certification as a School Psychologist

Students completing the M.S. concentration and the Ed.S. in School Psychology are eligible for certification as a School Psychologist in the State of Wisconsin. School Psychologists are eligible and encouraged to obtain National Certification as a School Psychologist (NCSP) by taking the national certification examination.

Doctor of Philosophy in Educational Psychology

The goal of the Doctor of Philosophy in Educational Psychology is to prepare psychologists, researchers and educational professionals to effectively work on the unique challenges of promoting education, learning, and mental health in urban environments. The four areas of emphasis in the doctoral program are:

- Counseling Psychology
- Learning and Development
- Educational Statistics and Measurement
- School Psychology

Advising and the Major Professor

Upon admission to the doctoral program in Educational Psychology, students are assigned a temporary advisor in their area of emphasis (e.g., Counseling Psychology, Learning and Development, Educational Statistics and Measurement, or School Psychology). This person is available to discuss initial course selection and provide general advice about the program. After beginning the program and before filing a Student Academic Plan, students should seek a Major Professor. The permanent Major Professor may—but does not have to be—the same person who is the temporary advisor. Students must select an advisor in their area of emphasis. Selection of a Major Professor is by mutual consent between the student and the faculty member. Students should notify the Training Director within their emphasis when the Major Professor has been selected.

Residence

The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements of one continuous academic year of full-time graduate studies at UWM. This can be satisfied by completing at least 8 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit cannot be earned at the master's level.

Program of Study

Core Educational Psychology Requirements:

In many cases, students entering with a Master's degree will have completed some of these courses. Courses taken during Master's preparation may be counted in meeting the core requirements. Elective credits are taken in consultation with the major professor.

Psychological Foundations Core:

Students must take 12 credits minimum of psychological foundations (social, cognitive, affective, or biological basis of behavior); students without Ed Psy 631 and Ed Psy 640 must take these courses as part of their 12-credit minimum.

Degrees Conferred:
- M.S. in Engineering
- M.S. in Computer Science
- Ph.D. in Engineering

Overview
With the exception of the Master of Science in Computer Science, the graduate programs offered by the College of Engineering and Applied Science are college-wide programs, and the responsibility for these programs is vested in the graduate faculty of the College operating via an interdepartmental committee, the Graduate Program Subcommittee (GPSC).

The engineering master's program offered by the College is the Master of Science in Engineering.

The program provides breadth by requiring a program of coursework and depth through participation in research or design synthesis. The research or design synthesis effort is documented in a thesis that is presented and defended by the student at the final degree examination. For those with prior engineering/scientific work experience which includes appropriate report writing, the program offers a non-thesis option which requires additional coursework in lieu of thesis.

Since the program does not require a rigid set of courses, each student, in consultation with faculty, has the flexibility to put together a program of study which is compatible with the student's career objectives. The flexibility of customizing the program of study makes the Master of Science in Engineering Program suitable as a terminal degree as well as a stepping stone for doctoral level study.

Master's Overview
The master's program in Engineering currently offers the following areas of concentration:
- Civil Engineering
- Electrical and Computer Engineering
- Manufacturing Engineering
- Materials Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering

Ph.D. Overview
The Doctor of Philosophy, the highest degree offered by the University, is conferred in recognition of marked scholarship in a broad field of knowledge as well as distinguished critical or creative achievement within a special area of the general field (the special area being the subject of the doctoral dissertation). The Doctor of Philosophy program in the College is designed to meet the traditional high standards for such programs.

There are six major areas in the Ph.D. program:
- Civil Engineering
- Computer Science
- Electrical Engineering
- Industrial Engineering
- Materials Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering

In the various programs, there is enough flexibility to allow the student to develop a plan of studies tailored to meet individual needs. Evaluation of the study plan is based on its appropriateness as an engineering or computer science program, the availability within the University of appropriate course offerings, and the availability within the College of a faculty member who is qualified to serve as the student's major professor.

The Ph.D. degree requires a minimum of 66 credits beyond the baccalaureate, including a dissertation. The student must also satisfy a residence requirement.

Students who wish to gain an advanced level professional learning experience with an industrial or government organization may select the internship course (997) subject to approval of the advisor, a participating industrial or government organization and of the GPSC and the CEAS Associate Dean. Internship registration must be for 6 credits and may be used towards fulfilling the residence requirement. Not more than 6 credits of internship registration will be counted toward the degree. Further details are included under the description of the Doctor of Philosophy degree program in this section.

Many of the courses leading towards the various master's degrees and the doctoral degree are offered in the late afternoon or evening; thus students can complete much of their coursework on a part-time basis.

M.S./MUP Program Overview
In cooperation with the Department of Urban Planning, the College of Engineering and Applied Science offers a Master of Science in Engineering/Master of Urban Planning program to prepare students for positions in transportation, public works or similar areas. Students in the program will concurrently pursue a Master of Science in Engineering degree and a Master of Urban Planning degree from the School of Architecture and Urban Planning. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree. Candidates seeking admission to the M.S./MUP must apply to and be admitted to both programs. The requirements for admission to the Master of Urban Planning degree program are detailed in the Urban Planning section of the Bulletin.

Students are required to meet the College of Engineering and Applied Science requirements for the Master of Science in Engineering degree as well as the requirements for a Master of Urban Planning degree as set by the Department of Urban Planning. Students in the M.S./MUP program are required to take 6 credits in the Department of Urban Planning as well as an additional 24 credits of core courses in the Department of Urban Planning. The total credit requirement for the M.S./MUP program is 54 credits. Students in the M.S./MUP program must also take and pass a comprehensive exam in Urban Planning.

Program of Study
During the first semester or immediately after completion of 9 credits, a student in the Master of Science in Engineering program must select a thesis advisor who will be the student's major professor. During the first semester the student, in consultation with the program advisor or major professor, develops a program of studies and submits it to the College Graduate Program Subcommittee. To make subsequent changes, the student must petition the Graduate Program Subcommittee prior to pursuing the proposed changes.

Master's Program Committee
The Program Committee is proposed by the major professor in consultation with the department. The Committee is to include at least two members from the major area and at least one from outside the major area.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirements are 24 credits for the thesis option and 30 credits for the non-thesis option as outlined below. The student, in consultation with the major professor, develops a plan of study consistent with the student's professional interests; this plan has to be approved by the College Graduate Program Subcommittee (GPSC). Of the courses offered in the College only those numbered 400 and above may be taken for graduate credit for this degree. Independent study courses (699 and 999) may be included in the minimum course credit requirements provided GPSC approval has been obtained prior to registration in such courses. Typically no more than three credits of independent study are allowed in the M.S. Program. Guidelines on acceptable independent study courses are available in the CEAS Graduate Studies Office. A student may not use courses required for a baccalaureate degree for subsequent graduate credit.

Thesis Option
All students are encouraged to undertake the thesis option. The degree requires a minimum of 12 credits in an approved technical program of studies, 9 credits of approved electives and 3 credits of thesis. At least 12 credits, not including thesis, must be in courses of 700 level or higher. At least 12 credits, including thesis, must be earned at UWM. The thesis may be written in absentia provided prior permission has been obtained from the major professor and the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in the College of Engineering and Applied Science. Students in the thesis option must pass a final comprehensive examination partially in defense of the thesis.

Non-Thesis Option
Students will be required to specify a thesis or non-thesis option in their program of study. After 12 credits of course work are completed, changes from thesis to non-thesis option will not be allowed, except under exceptional circumstances to be considered on a case-by-case basis. Students may always change from a non-thesis to a thesis option. Departments and faculty may make a thesis a requirement (or preference) of employment for TA's, RA's, and PA's.

Departments may offer the following options and publish appropriate guidelines.

Capstone Option
The graduation requirements for this option are completion of 27 credits of course work plus 3 credits of a capstone project. The course work must include a minimum 18 credits in an approved technical program of study and 9 credits may be approved electives. At least 15 credits must be of 700 level and above. For the capstone project, the student must submit a written proposal and receive approval from a faculty advisor and department chair. The student will register for a 3 credit course that allows flexible independent study (either independent study or a specific capstone course).

The capstone project should be designed with the intent of leading to creative work based on the student's background, and should be the equivalent of 3 credits of work to be completed over a single semester. Upon completion of the capstone, the student must submit a written report that is acceptable to the faculty advisor and department chair. The student must give an oral presentation of the project to a committee of three graduate faculty.

Comprehensive Exam Option
The graduation requirements for this option are completion of 30 credits of course work and a demonstration of course mastery. The course work must include a minimum 21 credits in an approved technical program of study and 9 credits may be approved electives. At least 15 credits must be of 700 level and above. Course mastery may be demonstrated by one of the following: either:

1. The student achieving a minimum 3.5 GPA on at least 30 credits of course work, including 15 credits of courses 700 or higher, and passing an oral examination given by the comprehensive examination committee.
2. The student passing a written master's comprehensive examination when it is offered by the department.

Departments allowing an examination
http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
equivalent to the courses below can be used to satisfy this requirement with the approval of the Department. The six courses are:

- CS315 Computer Organization and Assembly Language Programming
- CS317 Discrete Information Structures
- CS351 Data Structures and Algorithms
- CS458 Computer Architecture
- CS535 Algorithm Design and Analysis
- CS537 Introduction to Operating Systems

All students must complete the degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Time Limit

All students must complete the degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Integrated B.S.-MS Degree

Admission

An Integrated B.S.-MS program is available for exceptional undergraduate students. In this program, students take 6 graduate credits while completing the B.S. degree.

Minimum admission requirements:

- 3.2 GPA.
- 36 credits or less remaining for the B.S.
- Approval from their major department.

Application Process

1. In consultation with their major professor, students must complete an Integrated B.S./M.S. Program of Study Form. Students must indicate on the form which 6 graduate-level credits are being taken while completing the B.S. degree. Engineering students must have the form approved by the CEAS Office of Graduate Programs and Research. Computer Science students must have the form approved by the Graduate Program Representative for the CS M.S. Program. Students must have their Program of Study approved prior to the start of the final undergraduate semester and before starting graduate courses.

2. Students must apply to the Graduate School. The M.S. degree requirements must be completed within five years of completion of the B.S. degree. Students in the Integrated Program are not required to take the GRE exam for admission to the Graduate School.

Program of Study

Advanced standing will be granted to Integrated B.S.-MS students who have successfully completed six credits of pre-approved course work at the graduate level with a grade of B or better. If a course has U/G status, the student must follow the syllabus and grading scale designated for graduate students. Once admitted to the Graduate School, students in the Integrated Program must meet the requirements listed in the following tables:

Doctor of Philosophy in Engineering

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these College requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Bachelor's or master's degree in engineering or computer science depending on the program area selected.
2. Applicants with B.S. or M.S. degrees outside of engineering or computer science may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The undergraduate/graduate preparation including mathematics equivalent to ElecEng 234 or Math 234, or the made-up deficiencies must be sufficient to assure the Graduate Program Subcommittee that the applicant is able to proceed with advanced work directed toward the doctoral degree.
3. A grade point average of 3.0 on the basis of 4.0 in highest degree granted. An applicant with a master's degree in engineering having a GPA of less than 3.0, but at least equal to 2.75, may be admitted if substantial evidence can be submitted demonstrating that the applicant has the capacity to perform satisfactory doctoral work.
4. All applicants are required to submit a brief (1 or 2 page) statement describing their professional goals and at least two letters of reference.

Reapplication

A student who receives a master's degree at UWM must formally apply for admission to the Graduate School as a doctoral student before continuing studies which will be credited toward the Doctor of Philosophy in Engineering.

Credits and Courses

The minimum degree requirement is 66 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree. The minimum credit distribution of coursework to be undertaken must be as follows depending on the option selected.

- 21 credits in the major area of concentration
- 9 credits in an approved minor area
- 6 credits in mathematics and/or quantitative methods
- 18 credits of doctoral thesis
- 9 credits of approved electives
- 3 credits of XXX 700, CEAS Graduate Seminar (XXX can be any CEAS department)

The 6-credit requirement in mathematics and/or quantitative methods may be met by satisfactorily completing certain courses specified by the GPSC or by taking the minor in mathematics. When such courses also count for either the major or the minor area, the remaining credits may be taken as approved electives.

The student must achieve a 3.0 GPA separately in each of the following areas: the major area, the minor area, the quantitative methods area and the required ethics course.

The major area of concentration must be in one of the six areas approved for the Ph.D. degree in the College. These areas are:

- Civil Engineering, Computer Science,

A minimum of 26 credits, excluding thesis and internship, if applicable, must be at the 700 level or higher.

A minimum of 33 credits, including thesis and internship, when applicable, must be completed while enrolled at UWM in the Ph.D. degree program.

A maximum of 33 credits of coursework can be considered for transfer credits for prior graduate work including a master's degree earned at UWM or elsewhere provided the coursework taken falls within the appropriate areas. Students entering the program without a prior applicable master's degree are limited to a total maximum transfer of 9 credits for courses taken elsewhere.

Independent study courses (699 and 999) may be included in the minimum course credit requirements provided GPSC approval has been obtained prior to registration in such course. Typically no more than six credits of independent study are allowed in the Ph.D. Program.

Guidelines on acceptable independent study courses are available in the CEAS Graduate Studies Office.

The GPSC may require candidates to complete certain courses as part of the requirement for the specific major or to meet the mathematics and/or quantitative methods requirement.

Major Professor as Advisor

The Graduate School requires that the student must have a major professor to advise, supervise, and approve the program of study before registering for courses. The GPSC will assign the incoming student to a temporary Program Advisor at the time of admission. Prior to the completion of 12 credits (9 credits for part-time students), the student must select a major professor who will be the student's thesis advisor. The student in consultation with the major professor develops a proposed program of studies which is submitted to the Graduate Program Subcommittee for approval. For subsequent changes, the student must file a revised program of study for approval.

Internship Elective
Students interested in undertaking an internship may do so by taking not more or less than 6 credits in course 997. Registration for Internship may be used toward meeting the residence requirements. Not more or less than 6 credits of internship will be counted toward the degree. The internship normally involves a cooperative effort with industry or government agencies where the student is involved actively in advanced professional engineering activities.

Registration in the internship course must be subsequent to passing the Qualifying Examination and submission of an internship proposal outlining the scope and objectives of the activity. The internship proposal must be duly approved by the advisor, the organization where the internship is proposed, the GPSC and the CEAS Associate Dean for Graduate Studies. The College does not guarantee that every student interested in an internship will be placed appropriately. In the absence of suitable placements, students should plan to take other courses to fulfill the degree requirements.

Foreign Language
There is no foreign language requirement for the degree.

Residence
The program residence requirement is satisfied either by completing 8 or more graduate credits in two consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions, or by completing 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions.

Qualifying Examination
A qualifying examination must be taken to determine whether the individual is qualified for doctoral-level work. For students entering with a bachelor's degree, this examination, which will be written, may be taken after 18 credits of graduate work have been earned and must be satisfactorily completed before 30 credits of graduate work have been completed. Students admitted after completing an appropriate master's degree must take this examination in the semester immediately after the 18 credits of graduate course work have been earned at UWM.

The examination will be for a given area, but will also include material on basic engineering principles. The examination will normally be offered twice a year during the regular academic year. A student may take the examination twice; if a passing grade is not obtained on the second attempt the applicant will not be permitted to proceed toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Doctoral Program Committee
The Program Committee is proposed by the major professor in consultation with the department. The Committee is to include at least five graduate faculty (three from major area, one from minor area, and one from another area). Outside members, particularly for those with internships, are desirable. The majority of the Committee members should be from the student's major field.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
A student is admitted to candidacy only after successful completion of the doctoral preliminary examination conducted by the Program Committee. This examination, which normally is oral, must be taken before the completion of 48 credits of graduate work toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Engineering and should be taken within the first seven years in the program. Prior to the examination the student must present a proposal for a doctoral dissertation project. The examination may cover both graduate course material and items related to the proposed dissertation project.

Dissertation
The student must carry out a creative effort in the major area under the supervision of the major professor and report the results in an acceptable dissertation. Registration for dissertation requires successful completion of the doctoral preliminary (Candidacy) examination and prior approval of the student's advisor, the doctoral committee, and the GPSC of a dissertation proposal which outlines the scope of the project, the method of approach, and the goals to be achieved. Any proposal that may involve a financial commitment by the University also must be approved by the Office of the Dean. Total dissertation project registration is for a minimum of 18 credits and any student registering for thesis must continue to register for 3 credits per semester during the academic year until the dissertation is completed.

Dissertation Defense
The final examination, which is oral, consists of a defense of the thesis project. It can only be taken after all coursework and other requirements have been completed.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information see the Graduate School Ph.D. requirements.

M.A./MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Library and Information Science, the Department of English offers a M.A./MLIS program to prepare students for positions as humanities librarians. Students enrolled in this program concurrently pursue a M.A. degree in English and a MLIS degree. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

Students interested in the English M.A./MLIS program are expected to follow all the requirements and standards as described in this section of the Bulletin with the following exceptions: the 21 credits required for the M.A. in English in the coordinated degree program are to be taken within the Department. Courses in related areas must be approved by the Coordinator of Graduate Studies in English. For more information on this program, see the Library and Information Science page.

Final Project
A research paper or other project appropriate to the student's professional goals.

Oral Examination
Usually lasting an hour and a half, the oral exam covers the final project and a reading list of at least 30 texts not listed in the project bibliography or works cited list.

Regulations concerning final projects and oral examinations
1. Students should consult with their advisors before completing 24 credits to determine a final project. Ordinarily, it is a revised and expanded course or seminar paper of at least 30 pages. The project should demonstrate the student's skills in research, critical analysis, argumentation, and prose style. For students in Plan C (Creative Writing), the project is a substantial portfolio, the exact character of which is determined in consultation with the student's Master of Arts Committee. The project serves both as a concluding effort at the master's level and also as an indication of a student's potential for doctoral study.

2. In consultation with the student, the graduate coordinator appoints an M.A. Examining Committee. At least two of the three members must be English Graduate Faculty. The M.A. Examining Committee administers the final Oral Examination, covering the project and a separate reading list of at least 30 texts, to be selected by the student and approved by the Committee.

3. The project must be submitted and the oral examination completed within one year after the completion of 24 credits. Students should remember that a maximum of 27 credits at the master's level is applicable to the Ph.D. 54 credit requirement.

4. The Examining Committee offers a recommendation regarding the student's qualifications for further graduate study at the doctoral level. The Committee Chair puts this recommendation in writing and places it in the student's academic file.

5. Students who fail the oral examination may be required to revise their final project, retake the examination, or both. The oral examination may be retaken only once. No additional credits may be earned for the revision of the project after a failed examination. For further information regarding the M.A. project and examination, see the English Graduate Program Handbook.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in English
Admission
Students in the UWM Master of Arts degree program in English must pass an M.A. exam and be recommended for admission into the Ph.D. program by their M.A. committee. An application for the Ph.D. program also must be submitted to the Graduate School.

Applicants with master's degrees from other institutions are evaluated on the basis of standard application materials: GPA, GRE scores, statement of purpose, three supporting letters, and a sample of academic writing. Such applicants are admitted to doctoral study provisionally and are required to complete an Academic Review within six weeks of finishing 12 credits.

For more specific information about departmental requirements for admission, please visit the English Department's Graduate Admissions Web page.

The Academic Review is a one- to two-hour meeting with three faculty members of the English Graduate Faculty. At least two members come from the student's concentration. The Review covers the student's academic progress in doctoral coursework, two unrevised course papers, and a list of 20-25 books chosen by the student in consultation with the reviewers. See the English Graduate Program Handbook for further details regarding the Academic Review. Applicants should contact the Graduate Program Office for additional information and deadlines.

Credits and Courses
The Ph.D. program requires 54 credits beyond the B.A. (55 for Rhetoric and Composition, 56 for Literature and Cultural Theory), including no more than 27 credits earned at the master's level. Course distribution requirements vary according to the doctoral concentration a student enters.

Doctoral Concentration
Students applying to the English doctoral program must indicate their preference for one of the following doctoral concentrations: Literature and Cultural Theory; Rhetoric and Composition; Creative Writing; Professional Writing; Media, Cinema, and Digital Studies. The Coordinator of Graduate Studies and a Program Coordinator for each concentration provide initial advising for the student in course enrollment and in selecting a Major Professor for long-term advising. Although a continuing doctoral student can change concentrations, such changes require approval by the Coordinator of the new concentration and the Coordinator of Graduate Studies, and may require a substantial amount of additional coursework.

Because course requirements change frequently, students should regularly consult with Program Coordinators or the Coordinator of Graduate Studies regarding doctoral concentration requirements. The following listings reflect current curricular requirements:

Advising
Students are required to consult periodically with their Major Professor. The Major Professor helps the student to define an area of special interest within the concentration for the preliminary examination. The Major Professor also assists the student in the selection of appropriate coursework and may chair the Preliminary Examination Committee.

Foreign Language Requirement
All Ph.D. candidates are required to demonstrate proficiency (reading knowledge) in a foreign language. The choice of a language must be approved by the student's advisor. If a student has not met this requirement in other ways (see English Graduate Program Handbook), a student must pass a two-hour written examination in the translation of a piece of literature or criticism. A student may use a dictionary and/or grammar book. The exam must be arranged in advance with the Coordinator of Graduate Studies and must be taken before the preliminary examination. If a student's Major Professor considers proficiency in more than one language necessary to the student's specific plan of study, exams in more than one language may be required. The exam may be retaken until proficiency is attained.

Dissertation
The dissertation topic, together with a brief prospectus, must be approved by the Graduate Policy Committee. The student's major professor or a member of the dissertation committee must present the topic and prospectus to the Graduate Policy Committee. See the Coordinator of Graduate Studies and the English Graduate Program Handbook for specific guidelines for selecting a doctoral committee and preparing the dissertation proposal. The Department considers 200 pages a reasonable length for the dissertation.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Dissertation Defense
The completed dissertation is subject to an oral defense, to be arranged by the Coordinator according to Graduate School regulations. A copy of the dissertation is kept in the Department office.

Degrees Conferred:
• M.S. in Exceptional Education

Overview

The Department of Exceptional Education offers two options for a program of study at the master's level: a general option or a certification option. Students choosing the General Option enroll in 15 credits of core requirements and 15 credits that reflect a focus area of study. This program is created in consultation with a faculty advisor. Students choosing the Certification Option must be accepted into one of the Department of Exceptional Education's Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Certification Programs as well as the Graduate Program. Certification programs include Early Childhood Education (0-8 yrs), Primary/Middle and Middle/Secondary Education (grades K-9 or 6-12 in the areas of learning disabilities, cognitive disabilities, and emotional disturbance), Deaf and Hard of Hearing (grades K-12). Up to 15 credits of coursework in the certification program may be applied to the Master's degree in addition to 15 credits of core requirements.

Under the auspices of the Ph.D. program in Urban Education, the Department offers doctoral level training with a designated specialization in Exceptional Education.

Freshwater Sciences

Overview

The School of Freshwater Sciences offers a graduate program of studies providing students with advanced training and education in four areas: Freshwater System Dynamics; Human and Ecosystem Health; Freshwater Technology; and Freshwater Economics, Policy and Management. Each of these focus areas is interrelated with the others, and includes biologic, physical, technologic and policy aspects of freshwater.

The Master of Science program has two tracks designed to provide a strong foundation necessary for the training of graduates that will utilize novel approaches to the sustainable and equitable use and management of freshwater systems worldwide. The Doctor of Philosophy program is a research degree designed to explore and discover novel approaches to the sustainable and equitable use and management of freshwater systems worldwide. These programs will create an interdisciplinary atmosphere for training the next generation of scientists armed with the knowledge, skills and experience to anticipate and address the freshwater issues of the future.

Timely application is encouraged for students seeking financial support. When applying for admission, applicants should describe as completely as possible their specific research interests within freshwater sciences. Applicants are strongly encouraged to establish contact, before or during the application process, with Freshwater Sciences faculty members whose research interests are closest to their own, regarding the likelihood of one serving as the student’s major professor.

Master of Science in Freshwater Sciences Admissions

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. A bachelor’s degree in biology, chemistry, economics, geosciences, mathematics, physics, public policy, or other appropriate natural science, social science or engineering discipline.
2. A minimum GPA of 3.0.
3. Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (This requirement is optional for Professional Track applicants.).
4. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant’s scholarship and/or research potential.

The student must indicate in the Statement of Purpose (part of the formalized application process) the track to which they are applying and the intended focus of their M.S. studies. The statement must also indicate how their previous education has prepared them for graduate studies.

Critical skills required for the successful completion of the M.S. program include research design, data analysis, and effective communication of research results.

Thesis Track

Major Professor as Advisor
Students in the thesis track must be accepted by a faculty member who will serve as the initial major professor, and be primarily responsible for matriculation. Acceptance or agreement by a faculty member does not constitute formal acceptance into the School of Freshwater Sciences. Prospective thesis-track students are strongly encouraged to communicate with the prospective major professors early in the admission process.

A plan of study is required that identifies the planned courses and timeline for completion of the degree. For the thesis track, this includes coursework and proposed research and is planned by the student in consultation with the major professor and must be approved by the Thesis Advisory Committee.

Thesis Advisory Committee

The membership of the Thesis Advisory Committee should be established by the end of the student’s first semester. The Committee must consist of three members including the M.S. student’s advisor as chair (or co-advisors as co-chairs who are graduate faculty members from the School of Freshwater Sciences) and at least two additional members, one of whom must come from outside the student’s research focus. Consideration will be given to the inclusion of one external, non-UWM member of the committee. If included as part of the committee, this person would participate in the thesis defense.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
examination. The Committee must meet at least once a year to monitor the student’s academic and research progress.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits.

Required core courses (9 credits)
502 Aquatic Ecosystem Dynamics
504 Freshwater Analysis
One of the following:
506 Environmental Health of Freshwater Ecosystems

Two 512 Freshwater Sciences Practicum (2 credits each)

Proposal Defense and Preliminary Oral Examination
The student must complete a formal oral defense of her or his written thesis proposal. This defense should be made before the end of the third semester and will also serve as the preliminary oral examination. The Thesis Committee decides by simple majority whether the student passes, fails, or must repeat the examination or defense. At the discretion of the Committee, a student who fails the defense or examination may be allowed one additional attempt at successful completion.

Thesis
The thesis is conducted with oversight from the student’s Advisory Committee. The thesis research is expected to be of a caliber sufficient for publication in a peer-reviewed journal. Satisfactory completion of the thesis, including successful defense, is required for graduation. Up to six credits may be awarded for thesis research.

Please see the Graduate School thesis and dissertation formatting requirements for further information.

Thesis defense
The thesis defense is a public presentation of the thesis research followed by an oral defense administered by the Advisory Committee.

Freshwater Sciences

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Professional Track
Major Professor as Advisor
Upon admission to the program, each student in the professional track will be assigned an initial advisor based on their background. The initial advisor will provide counseling to the students and help to identify goals and objectives of their graduate education. Students should identify their permanent advisor during the first semester in the program. The advisor will oversee the student’s internship.

A plan of study is required and planned by the student in consultation with his or her advisor and the internship coordinators of the program. The plan of study identifies the planned courses and timeline for completion of the degree coursework and internship.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 36 graduate credits.

Required science core courses (15 credits)
504 Freshwater Analysis
506 Environmental Health of Freshwater Ecosystems
508 Freshwater Engineering
510 Economics, Policy & Management of Water

Required professional core courses (9 credits)
BusMgmt 706 Managing in a Dynamic Environment

Research-focused internship (3 credits)
980 Graduate Internship

Internship
All students in the professional science track are required to participate in a three- to six-month internship research experience (3 credits), generally in the summer between the first and second years of the program. Internship experiences will center on complex regional, national, and global water problems and support student learning relative to identified content, skill, and practice targets. Internship experiences will require learners to apply what they learn to authentic, practical problems in the field, both locally and, potentially, across the globe. The program coordinators will secure research internship opportunities with regional, national, and international partners in industry, government, and non-profit sectors. It will be the responsibility of the student and advisor to identify the direct supervisor within a specific organization and submit a proposed plan of study that identifies goals and objectives for their internship experience. Proposals will be reviewed by the program coordinators and approved based on how the internship experience meets program goals, the feasibility of the proposed plan, and the qualifications of the internship supervisor.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Elective courses are selected in consultation with the student's Ph.D. committee. A minimum of 27 credits must be earned in residence at UWM. Students may take up to a maximum of 9 credits of independent study counting toward the degree.

Students must be proficient in at least three of the four areas of study: 1. freshwater systems, 2. human/ecosystem health, 3. freshwater technology, and 4. freshwater economics, policy and management. To meet this requirement, core courses are offered in each of these respective areas:

- FRSHWTR 502 Aquatic Ecosystem Dynamics
- FRSHWTR 506 Environmental Health of Freshwater Ecosystems
- FRSHWTR 508 Freshwater Engineering
- FRSHWTR 510 Economics, Policy and Management of Water

The student's doctoral committee can recommend an exemption from the core course in any area that the student is deemed proficient. For more information on exemptions please contact the SFS graduate representative. Requests for exemption from Quantitative Freshwater Analysis-FRSHWTR 504 follow the same guidelines as the core course proficiency policy.

A Program of Study, including coursework and proposed research, is planned by the student in consultation with the major professor, and must be approved by the Committee. A student must present an annual progress report and an updated plan of study to his or her Doctoral Advisory Committee. For students entering with advanced degrees, some of the coursework may already be completed. Requests for counting previously taken courses toward the degree requirements will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. A minimal grade point average of 3.00 must be earned in coursework, not including research or seminars.

Ph.D. Advisory Committee

The membership of the Ph.D. Advisory Committee will be established by the end of the student's first year. The Committee must consist of five members including the doctoral student's advisor as chair (or co-advisors as co-chairs) and at least two graduate faculty members from the School of Freshwater Sciences. The other two members should represent at least one other department within UWM outside the School of Freshwater Sciences, with consideration given to the inclusion of an external, non-UWM member. The Committee must meet at least once a year to monitor and formally report to the faculty on the student's academic and research progress.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

The preliminary examination must be passed by the end of the second year for the student to continue in the program. Extensions of this deadline must be approved by the Ph.D. Advisory Committee. The examination is in two parts: written and oral. The content of the examination is determined in advance by the student's Advisory Committee, and will include subject matter that is broadly related to the area of research that the student will specialize in, as well as content related to the core courses. The Doctoral Committee decides by simple majority whether the student passes, fails, or must retake part or all of the examination. At the discretion of the Committee, a student who fails the examination may be allowed one additional attempt of all or part of the examination. After successful completion of the preliminary examination, the student concentrates on the development and execution of original research.

Dissertation Proposal Hearing

Following successful completion of the doctoral preliminary examination, the student submits a written dissertation proposal to the student's Ph.D. Advisory Committee. The proposal must be submitted within one semester of the successful completion of preliminary exams, and defended by the end of the following semester. Extensions of this deadline must be approved by the Ph.D. Advisory Committee.

Dissertation Status

Specific requirements which must be completed before the Graduate School places a doctoral student in dissertation status are described in the Doctor of Philosophy Degree requirements section.

Dissertation

During the final year of study, the candidate must present a public seminar on the dissertation research and subsequently prepare and successfully defend a dissertation reporting the results of the candidate's research to the Committee. The original research findings embodied in this dissertation are expected to be accepted for publication in one or more refereed journals. Please see the Graduate School thesis and dissertation formatting requirements for further information.

Dissertation Defense

As the final step toward the degree the candidate must defend the dissertation before the Ph.D. Advisory Committee.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

In addition to these departmental strengths, individual faculty members apply their expertise in topics such as remote sensing, GIS, and cartography to problems of the city. Geography faculty also participate in the certificate program in Geographic Information Systems, which is jointly offered by the College of Letters and Science and the School of Architecture and Urban Planning.

While the master's program offers a more traditional structure within which students can strengthen their knowledge of the discipline and one or more of its subfields, the department's unique Ph.D. program is designed to be especially attractive to forward-looking students interested in the urban environment who seek a flexible, versatile, 21st century graduate education with a strong emphasis on interdisciplinary. The Ph.D. program's urban-environmental theme is inclusive and encompassing of processes and problems associated with the intersection of human and natural environments, strongly focused on "the city" as the entity of engagement. The program breaks with longstanding tradition in the field of geography in stressing a balance between specialized analytical research and synthetic research, between traditional academic research and community engagement, and between research and teaching. It relies heavily on Geographical Information Science (GIS) as a research tool and as an organizing framework.

Facilities and Resources

The University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee is the repository of the venerable American Geographical Society Library, an internationally renowned research resource. The Department of Geography boasts a large instructional Map Collection, which functions as a federal government depository for maps; and a Soils and Physical Geography Laboratory, which supports research projects among several UWM departments.

Microcomputer facilities used by the Geography Department for instruction include two PC/Windows workstation labs. Software installed in these labs includes geographic information systems, remote sensing, mapping, illustration, photo editing, desktop publishing, statistical, database management, and word processing packages. Several university DEC Alphas, other microcomputer laboratories, and multimedia facilities also are available for graduate student research.

Other research resources at UWM available to the Geography Department staff and students include the Cartography and GIS Center, the Great Lakes WATER Institute, the Center for Urban Initiatives and Research, the Center for Latin America, the Center for International Education, the Center for Urban Transportation Studies, the Center for Women's Studies, the Institute for Survey and Policy Research, and University Information Technology Services (formerly Information and Media Technologies).

Master of Arts/Master of Science in Geography

The M.A. normally is awarded to those who concentrate in cultural or human geography, whereas the M.S. is awarded to those who concentrate in physical geography. Students must elect to pursue either the M.A. or M.S. option during their first semester in the program. A minimum of 6 credits in physical geography or natural science courses appropriate to the student's area of study are required for the M.S. Students may also elect to complete their degree through either a thesis or non-thesis track.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
1. Evidence of general intellectual ability and compelling interest in geography. An undergraduate major in geography is desirable as evidence of such ability and interest but is not required. Past coursework will be compared to the core requirements of the UWM Geography bachelor's degree in order to determine any deficiencies that need to be satisfied as a condition of acceptance.

2. Submission to the Geography department of three letters of recommendation supporting application.

3. Submission of recent GRE scores.

4. Departmental approval, based on thorough evaluation of applicant's potential for professional development.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The Chair of the Graduate Student Administrative Committee is a temporary advisor; within the first semester the student selects an advisor in the student's specialization.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits with an average GPA of 3.0. The student, in consultation with the advisor, plans a program of studies to include 4 credits in Geography 525 (Geographic Information Science); 4 credits in Geography 547 (Spatial Analysis); 3 credits in Geography 810 (Introduction to Techniques of Research and Presentation); 3 credits in Geography 870 (Contemporary Geographic Approaches); and 12 credits in graduate-level (700 and above) courses approved by the student's advisor (at least 3 of these credits must be in one Geography graduate seminar course). The remaining 4 credits will be earned in the student's capstone project (see Thesis Track and Non-Thesis Track information below). The student also must attend Geography colloquia regularly while in residence and must present her/his thesis research at a departmental colloquium.

Thesis Track

The student must register at least 4 credits of Geog 890: Research and Master's Thesis (approved by the student's advisor). In addition, the student, through the advisor, must present a proposed thesis topic and Advisory Committee to the Graduate Faculty of the Department for its approval. For students electing the M.S. option, the Faculty will also judge the appropriateness of the thesis topic for that degree. The student must then write a thesis acceptable to the major professor for presentation to the Advisory Committee (two faculty in addition to the advisor). The defense date for the thesis must be set at least two weeks prior to the Graduate School deadline for completion of all work. The thesis must be approved by the advisor and delivered to the committee at least six weeks prior to the defense date. Students must submit the thesis to the advisor in sufficient time to meet the committee deadline. Exceptions to these deadlines under unusual circumstances must be approved unanimously by the student's committee.

In addition to submission of the final thesis to the Graduate School (according to their required procedure), the candidate must present the Geography Department with a professionally hard-bound copy which meets Graduate School specifications for quality. This copy will remain on file in the department.

Non-Thesis Track

This track is intended for students who are not interested in continuing their graduate education beyond the master's degree, and plan to seek professional employment. The M.A. degree will normally be awarded upon completion of this track. Those who wish a M.S. degree must formally petition the Graduate Faculty in writing, providing a rationale as to why that degree is appropriate to their program. The student must complete at least 4 credits of graduate work (approved by the student's advisor) as either:

1. Two research papers (Geog 999)

Students pursuing the non-thesis track through the two research paper option must choose two separate topics, and conduct extended literature reviews on the topics, although other possibilities, such as a small research project, should not be excluded. The papers are expected to be 25-50 pages apiece. The student is expected to have an oral defense with three committee members regarding the two papers. According to current guidelines, the student is not expected to present his/her papers to the colloquium series.

OR

2. A graduate internship (Geog 698 or Geog 889—note that Geog 810 is a prerequisite for Geog 889)

Students pursuing the non-thesis track through the graduate internship should conduct at least 180 hours of internship. The internship should be related to the student's academic area of interest and must be approved by the advisor. The student is expected to write a scholarly paper of 25-50 pages length that connects the internship to the appropriate literature. The student must have a committee of three faculty members, and is expected to go through an oral defense with the committee members regarding the internship paper. According to current guidelines, the student is not expected to present his/her internship paper to the colloquium series.

Comprehensive Examination

In combination with the thesis defense (or after completion of the work for the non-thesis track), the student must pass a final oral examination over the field of geography, administered by the student's Advisory Committee. Scheduling this examination during the summer is not permitted except under unusual academic circumstances and with the approval of the department faculty.

Time Limit

This program is designed to be completed in two years of full-time attendance. The Graduate School requires that all degree requirements be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Geography M.A./MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, the Department of Geography offers an M.A./MLIS coordinated program to prepare students for positions as map librarians. Students in the program will pursue concurrently a Master of Arts in Geography degree program and a Master of Library and Information Science degree program, with an emphasis on Map Librarianship. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

The M.A. in Geography normally has a minimum requirement of 24 credits in geography. For the coordinated M.A. Geography/MLIS degree program, however, students can substitute 6 credits in L&I Sci courses for 6 credits of geography. This program, therefore, requires a total of 48 credits. Students must complete the 30 credits required for the MLIS degree and the 18 credits in Geography courses specified below.

Students are encouraged to take L&I Sci 683 Cartographic Resources in Libraries (3 cr) as one of the two L&I Sci courses that substitute for 6 credits of geography.

The Geography Department offers opportunities for fieldwork that may count toward these requirements. In addition to off-campus fieldwork, the American Geographical Society Collection at the UWM Golda Meir Library provides many unique opportunities for map librarianship fieldwork and is an appropriate site for an internship.

Graduates of the program are qualified to assume positions as curators and staff members in map collections of universities, governmental agencies, and industry. In cases where map collections are not of sufficient size to warrant separation as distinct collections, knowledge of how to store, classify, and retrieve maps will be a valuable set of skills that enhance the qualifications of the information professional.

Doctor of Philosophy in Geography

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements to be considered for admission to the program. Students from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds may be admitted. They must present the following credentials:

1. Master's degree.
2. Statement of interest in the program.
3. Substantial evidence of scholarly potential and commitment.
4. Three letters of recommendation, submitted to the Geography Department.
5. Recent (within five years) GRE scores.

In some instances where the applicant's record demonstrates exceptional promise, the Department will consider applications for admission to the Ph.D. program directly from a B.A./B.S. degree. Such admission does not constitute a waiver of any of the requirements indicated below.

The Graduate Program Committee, during the admission process, will evaluate an applicant's academic background and will assign deficiencies based on a comparison of his/her background and the proposed specific area of study as outlined in the student's statement of interest. In general, the department seeks students with:

1. Potential for planning and successfully completing an independent scientific research project, as evidenced by a master's thesis and/or other appropriate materials;
2. Basic statistical analysis skills;
3. Interest and/or ability in evaluating problems related to the urban environment with a spatial framework; and
4. Interest in examining research questions within a multi-disciplinary (human/physical) team environment.

Reapplication

A student who receives the master's degree from UWM must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Major Advisor and Committee

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations; the student may not register for any courses without that advisor's prior approval. The Chair of the Graduate Student Administrative Committee is a temporary advisor; within the first semester the student selects an advisor within the area of specialization. Each student, preferably after completion of the first year of study, also will select four additional members of the faculty/qualified professions to form his/her advisory committee. A majority of the committee members must be core geography faculty members. Affiliated faculty members from other departments may serve as major advisors.

Graduate Student Orientation

All new students are expected to participate in the department orientation program, offered during the week prior to the start of fall classes. If a student enters the program in the spring, s/he must participate in this program during the subsequent fall semester. New students will be paired with an experienced student mentor during their first year. Instructional opportunities sponsored by the Center for Instruction and Professional Development (CIPD) and the Preparing Future Faculty (PFF) initiative will be offered to all teaching assistants and other interested students enrolled in the doctoral program.

Course of Study

Dissertation
The candidate must write an acceptable dissertation that demonstrates formulation, design, and independent execution of a significant research project. The dissertation must make an original contribution to knowledge in the field of geography. It may focus on geographical theory, methodology, data, or analysis, or it may involve collaborative approaches, interdisciplinary syntheses, and integrative solutions appropriate to the focus of the student's graduate program of study.

Portfolio Evaluation
By the end of the first full academic year in the program, each student will undergo a formal portfolio evaluation by the members of the faculty in order to determine the student's readiness to continue in the program. This evaluation will include inspection of all written work produced in courses, commentary by relevant instructors, and any other materials the student chooses to submit. The possible outcomes of this review will be:
1. PASS (student continues with the normal second year of their program);
2. FAIL (student is recommended for academic dismissal); or
3. PROBATION (student is counseled to take specific courses or other actions to achieve the necessary readiness to continue in the program). In the case of a recommendation of Probation, the student will be re-evaluated after an additional semester. If this second review does not result in a decision to PASS, the student will be recommended for academic dismissal.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements of one continuous academic year of full-time graduate studies at UWM. This can be satisfied by completing 8 to 12 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit cannot be earned at the master's level or before the master's degree is awarded.

Elective Courses
Courses taken from geography or cognate fields to achieve the total of 54 credits required for the Ph.D. degree. Students must have the approval of their advisors for the elective courses.

Geography

Submission of Completed Dissertation

In addition to submission of the final dissertation to the Graduate School (according to its required procedure), the candidate must present to the Geography Department a professionally hard-bound copy that meets Graduate School specifications for quality. This copy will remain on file in the department.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information see the Graduate School Ph.D. requirements.

Special Issues for Directly Admitted Students

Students directly admitted to the doctoral program after completion of their bachelor's degree will not earn a master's degree during the course of their studies. Further, formal doctoral status (which affects stipend rates and the ability to fulfill the residency requirement) will not be granted until the student has completed 24 credits in the program. Lastly, no more than 12 dissertation credits can be used to satisfy the 54-credit doctoral degree requirement.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate preparation consisting of one year each of: college chemistry, college physics, and calculus; one summer of field training in geology for students majoring in geology.
- Undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 (4.0 scale).
- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (General Test).

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. A geology student who lacks field training must acquire the training not later than the summer following initial enrollment.

Proposal for Thesis

Prior to the formal undertaking of thesis research, the student must prepare a written proposal for the thesis problem including an estimate of costs to be incurred. Copies of the proposal are to be distributed to the faculty advisor and the Department reading file. One copy is to be placed in the student's permanent Department file. An abstract of the proposal is to be distributed to each Department faculty member for comment and criticism.

Thesis

The student must write an acceptable thesis embodying the results of original research completed under the direction of the advisor.

Comprehensive Examination

The student must pass a comprehensive examination, either oral or written or both. In part a defense of the thesis, the examination covers the student's entire graduate program of studies. At the option of the student, the part of the examination consisting of the presentation of the results of thesis research may be open to other graduate students.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Geosciences

Admission

To be considered for admission to the program, an applicant must meet Graduate School requirements.
School requirements plus the following program requirements:

1. Hold a master's degree in one of the natural sciences, engineering, or mathematics or have equivalent experience.
2. Have an appropriate background in aspects of the geosciences relevant to the intended field of study.
3. Submit scores from the Graduate Record Examination (general test).
4. Arrange to have at least three (3) letters of recommendation sent to the Graduate Coordinator of the Department of Geosciences.

Exceptional students without a M.S. degree may be considered for admission. A student who holds a master's degree from UWM must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Course of Study

Doctoral students must earn 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, of which 24 credits may be taken from formal course work completed as part of the master's study. At least 21 graduate credits beyond the master's degree must be earned in formal coursework.

Each student must prepare a formal Program of Study to be submitted to the Graduate School within the first semester in the program. Courses are selected in consultation with the student's advisor with approval from the Doctoral Committee. Students are strongly advised to take courses from each of their committee members prior to taking the doctoral preliminary examination. For full time students, coursework should be completed within 4 semesters after admission to the Ph.D. program. In unusual situations, this timetable may be extended beyond 4 semesters. A timetable for coursework completion for part time students will be established on an individual basis.

Residency Requirement

The Graduate School requires satisfaction of a residency requirement. This involves completing at least 8 graduate credits in 2 consecutive semesters or 6 graduate credits in 3 consecutive semesters (exclusive of summer sessions) while in full doctoral status at UWM. In addition, at least half of the graduate credits required for the Ph.D. must be earned at UWM.

Quantitative Skill

A working knowledge of computer programming, statistics, numerical methods, or GIS appropriate to the student's field of study is required. Standards for this requirement will be established by the student's Doctoral Committee. Undergraduate courses taken to meet this requirement do not apply to the course requirements for the Ph.D.

Doctoral Committee

The membership of the Doctoral Committee will be established in the student's first semester. The Committee must consist of the following: the doctoral student's advisor as chair (or co-advisors as co-chairs); at least three additional graduate faculty members from the Geosciences Department; and at least one member from outside the student's fields of specialization. The student is required to arrange a meeting with the Doctoral Committee at least once each year.

The student may request a change of advisor if another faculty member is available, willing, and able to assume that role. If this change involves a significant modification of the area of specialization or research, the student's record will be reexamined to determine whether the student's background is sufficient for the new specialty. If it is not, it may be necessary for the student to withdraw from the program and reapply in the new specialty. Normally such a change of direction will not be allowed once the dissertation proposal has been defended.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

Advancement to dissertator status requires that students must pass a doctoral preliminary examination and then develop and successfully defend a dissertation proposal. The doctoral preliminary examination is administered in two parts: a set of written exams and a follow-up oral exam. The structure of the examination will be established by the student's Doctoral Committee. It must be passed prior to the completion of 24 credits in the program and must demonstrate knowledge in the fields of geology and related sciences defined by the Doctoral Committee. The written and oral exams are taken after the residency requirement is fulfilled.

Subsequently, the student must present to the Doctoral Committee a written proposal in NSF format for her/his dissertation research. At a minimum, it should provide an overview of and approach to the problem being addressed, a budget, and appropriate bibliographic references. The dissertation proposal should be defended within one semester of completion of the preliminary exam. Students who successfully pass all three elements of the doctoral preliminary examination are admitted to doctoral dissertator status.

Annual Presentation of Results

Each dissertator is required to make a 30-minute presentation of research results at a Geosciences Colloquium each year. Dissertators also are required to make a 50-minute colloquium presentation of the results of the completed doctoral research prior to the dissertation defense.

Dissertation

The candidate must present a written dissertation reporting the results of independent, original research carried out under the direction of the major professor. Prior to a defense, the dissertation must be reviewed by a Reading Committee consisting of the major professor and at least two other members of the Doctoral Committee. Information regarding dissertation deadlines, preparation, and review of the dissertation is available from the Student Services Office of the Graduate School.

Dissertation Defense

The student first will present research results in a colloquium. Then the dissertation must be orally defended before the entire Doctoral Committee. The defense may include questions related to any of the dissertation's fields of study. If the dissertation is defended and the oral examination is passed to the satisfaction of a majority of the Doctoral Committee, the candidate is passed and recommended for the degree.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Additional Requirements and Information

Detailed information about program requirements is provided to each student following admission and is available from the Department office. For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Doctoral Requirements Web page.

Doctor of Philosophy in Health Sciences

Admission

To be considered for admission to the program applicants must satisfy all UWM Graduate School admission requirements in addition to the following College of Health Sciences requirements:

1. Submission of scores on the General Test portion of the Graduate Record Examination; test taken within last five years.
2. One of the following:
   - Master's degree or equivalent in an area that provides foundational academic preparation in proposed Health Sciences Ph.D. Area of Concentration.
   - Bachelor's degree with exceptional promise, as indicated by research experience/evidence of writing or an undergraduate project, recommendations, GRE scores, and undergraduate GPA.
3. A sample of the applicant's written work that demonstrates his or her ability to conduct research and/or the ability to critically analyze the scholarly work of others.
4. A letter outlining the applicant's academic and professional background, declaration of Area of Concentration and Major Professor as well as specific research interests and goals for the Ph.D. program. This statement should be submitted to the Graduate School and must be complete and thorough as it provides information that is central to the admission decision. This letter will serve in lieu of the Graduate School's "Reasons for Graduate Study" statement.
5. Three letters of recommendation from individuals familiar with the applicant's intellectual achievement and potential. At least two of these letters must be from faculty or senior administrators at academic institutions.

For applicants from countries other than the U.S.A. whose first language is not English, a score of at least 250 on the computer-based TOEFL will be accepted in lieu of the TOEFL.

The Ph.D. Steering Committee will make an admission recommendation and forward it to the appropriate College of Health Sciences departmental Graduate Faculty or Executive Committee and identified Major Professor. The final admission decision is contingent upon approval by the departmental Graduate Faculty Committee or Executive Committee, the applicant's Major Professor, and the Graduate School.

Prior to admission an eligible College of Health Sciences Graduate Faculty member must agree to serve as the applicant's major professor.

Reapplication

A student who has received a master's degree in Clinical Laboratory Sciences, Communication Sciences and Disorders, Kinesiology, or Occupational Therapy from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D. degree.

Residence

The student must complete at least half of the graduate credits required for the Ph.D. in residence at UWM in doctoral status. In addition, the student must complete at least 8 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. In exceptional cases, modifications of the residence requirement may be requested, subject to the approval of the College of Health Sciences Ph.D. Steering Committee and the Graduate School.

Course of Study

The Ph.D. program requires 72 credits beyond the Bachelor's degree, including no more than 36 credits from a related master's degree and/or other post-baccalaureate coursework. A student must complete a minimum of 36 credits at UWM including dissertation credits. Precise numbers of credits and actual course requirements will be determined after review of the applicant's previous coursework. The student plans an individual program of study in consultation with the Major Professor and Doctoral Committee that will include a set of core courses, an area of concentration, cross-disciplinary courses, electives, and the dissertation.

Core Courses (16 credits)

Election (6 credits)

Elective courses relevant to the student's program of study will be selected from within CHS and from departments across campus. This cross-disciplinary approach will encourage collaboration and interaction, and provide breadth and depth to a student's focused course of study.

Dissertation (minimum of 12 credits)

The last component of the degree requirements, independent research and dissertation, will be structured by the choice of concentration. The dissertation will consist of focused, independent research that contributes to the existing body of knowledge.

Foreign Language

Foreign language coursework is optional, depending upon the recommendation of the student's Major Professor.

Doctoral Committee
In consultation with the Major Professor, each student is responsible for selecting a Doctoral Committee before completing 12 credits in the doctoral program. The doctoral committee shall consist of the student's Major Professor and four other Graduate Faculty including at least one from: 1) the area of concentration; 2) a supporting area within the College; and 3) a supporting area from outside the College. Upon formation of the Doctoral Committee, the student must file a "Doctoral Committee" form with his/her Major Professor which is to be subsequently filed with the CHS - Ph.D. Steering Committee.

Doctoral Preliminary Examinations
The doctoral preliminary examinations must be completed within three years of initial enrollment in the program. Students may receive up to two additional semesters to complete the preliminary examinations with approval of the CHS - Ph.D. Steering Committee. The examinations consist of a written examination designed to demonstrate the breadth of a student's knowledge and the ability to conduct advanced research, and an oral exam covering issues raised during the written exam and/or focusing on the proposed dissertation research. The oral exam must follow the written exam within 10 days. Students take the preliminary examinations after completing all doctoral course work or with no more than three credits of doctoral course work remaining. Students cannot take the examinations if they have any incomplete or unreported grades or a GPA lower than 3.0. Students who fail the preliminary examinations may not proceed to the dissertation. The examinations may be retaken only once.

Dissertation Proposal
Upon successful completion of the preliminary examinations, the student submits a written dissertation proposal and delivers an oral presentation of the proposed research to the Dissertation Committee. The proposal takes the form of a scholarly document outlining the problem, its background and significance, summarizing relevant literature, and outlining the proposed research methods. It should include a tentative timetable and outline any required resources (space, equipment, etc.). Members of the student's Dissertation Committee must approve the dissertation proposal. Acceptance of the dissertation proposal establishes an agreement between the student and the Dissertation Committee as to the nature and scope of the research to be conducted, and the procedure for completing the dissertation. Upon Dissertation Committee approval, research proposals that use animal or human subjects must receive approval from the Animal Care and Use Committee or the Institutional Review Board.

Dissertator Status
Specific requirements which must be completed before a doctoral student qualifies for dissertator status are described on the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements page.

Dissertation
The dissertation is a major piece of original research representing a substantial contribution to the existing body of knowledge. The original research findings embodied in the dissertation should be acceptable for publication in a refereed journal. The student's Major Professor and Dissertation Committee provide guidance in completing the dissertation.

Dissertation Defense
Once the dissertation document meets with Dissertation Committee approval, an oral defense takes place. At the time of the defense, the dissertation must be of publication-quality (as judged by the Dissertation Committee). The dissertation defense will be held in an open forum after which the Dissertation Committee will meet in closed session to make a decision on degree conferral. The time and place of the public presentation must be announced with adequate time (i.e., at least one week prior to the defense) so that faculty and students may attend.

Time Limit
The student must complete all requirements for the degree within seven years of the date of initial enrollment in the program. Upon successfully passing the preliminary examinations, the student must complete all requirements for the degree within four years.

Admission

To be considered for admission, an applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements:

1. An undergraduate minor or 18 credits in history or equivalent preparation.

2. Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's scholastic achievement and potential.

3. A sample of the applicant's written work that demonstrates his or her ability to conduct historical research and/or the ability to analyze critically the work of others.

(Precise numbers of credits and actual course requirements while in Ph.D. status will be determined after a review of the applicant’s previous coursework.) Doctoral students may not accumulate more than 6 credits in U/G courses, nor more than 6 credits in independent study without the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies. Students applying to the History doctoral program must indicate their preference for one of the following doctoral concentrations: Modern Studies, Global History, Urban History. A doctoral student may change concentrations after admission only with the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies. The following list of courses includes those taken at both the master’s and doctoral level; with the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies, some of these requirements may be met by work from previous institutions.

Modern Studies Concentration
Modern Studies focuses on the modern period of world history and on the application of current theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives for the study of the modern period and of "modernity" itself. Typically, scholarship in this category may appropriate concepts and methodologies from other academic fields, and may involve literary theory, feminism and gender critique, traditions of the avant-garde, cultural studies, Marxism, neoconservatism, modern and postmodern art and architecture, film, media studies, and theories of post-industrial society. Students in the Modern Studies concentration are encouraged to participate in the university's Center for 21st Century Studies and its thematic programs that explore contemporary cultural and social phenomena, and to consider taking elective courses in the English Department's Modern Studies Concentration.

Those choosing this concentration must take English/History/MAFLL 740 or 741, Backgrounds of Modernism I or II (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in modern history, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in Modern Studies and related disciplines (21 credits).

Global History Concentration
Global history focuses on the study of phenomena that transcend single nations or regions, including the environment, religion, ideology, labor, migration/diaspora, war, peace, industrialization, colonialism and imperialism, social movements and political conflicts, slavery, class, women, gender, science and technology, popular culture, trade and finance, demography, politics, nationalism, and international relations. Students in Global History may emphasize

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
African, Asian, European, Latin American, Middle Eastern, or United States history in a global context, analyzing historical issues within localities, regions, and nation-states, or concentrate on transnational dynamics and phenomena. In their inquiries, they will often cross geographic, disciplinary and conceptual boundaries, question or perhaps challenge existing regional or chronological frameworks, and develop new approaches to understanding global developments and interactions.

Those choosing this concentration must take History 839, Approaches to Global History (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in Global History, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in history and related disciplines (21 credits).

Urban History Concentration

Urban history is the study of urban areas, including cities, suburbs, and metropolitan regions around the world and throughout recorded human existence. Students of urban history examine all aspects of urban life. They study how the physical landscapes and social structures of urban areas have been produced and have changed over time. They examine how people respond to the problems and opportunities that arise in urban contexts, and they study the cultural activities that take place in urban areas. The evidence and sources on which urban historians draw are diverse. They include quantitative documents produced by government and other research entities; the records of the proceedings of municipal entities, voluntary, religious and political organizations; manuscript collections from private organizations and individuals, oral interviews, and reports from the media such as newspaper collections.

Those choosing this concentration must take History Urban Studies 980, Growth of Urban Society (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in Urban History, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in History and related disciplines (21 credits).

Advising

The Director of Graduate Studies provides initial advising for the student in selecting courses and assists in selecting a Major Professor for long-term advising; the Director may assign a provisional graduate advisor before students select a Major Professor.

Students are required to consult periodically with, and have their schedules approved by, the Director of Graduate Studies, the provisional advisor, or the Major Professor. The Major Professor helps the student to define a dissertation topic and assists the student in choosing appropriate courses and in selecting members of the student's

History

Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Committees. The Major Professor normally chairs the student's Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Committees.

Foreign Language or Data Analysis Proficiency

Students must demonstrate proficiency in one or more relevant foreign languages by passing a written examination in the translation of source materials or historical analysis. If a student's Major Professor considers proficiency in more than one language necessary to the student's specific plan of study, exams in more than one language may be required.

With the approval of the Major Professor, a student may substitute proficiency in another skill relevant to historical study; in these cases, proficiency will be demonstrated through relevant course work.

Minor

Students are not required to elect a minor field, but they may wish to supplement their concentration in this way. Depending on the particular course array, students may need to take more than 54 credits to complete both the major and minor requirements.

Those who wish to take a minor have three options:

- Option A: Minor in one field
  Working with a minor professor, students take 8-12 credits in a single department, leading to a minor examination.

- Option B: Interdisciplinary Minor
  Students take 8-12 credits in two or more departments, selected for their relevance to the student's area of concentration. The minor will be defined in consultation with the student's Major Professor and the Director of Graduate Studies.

- Option C: Minor in Public History
  This 21-credit minor is appropriate for students planning a career in archives, museums, historic preservation, or other related specialties. It is not available to students who already have a specialization or degree in public history at the master's level. Students in this minor are required to take 12 credits as follows:
  - History 700 Introduction to Public History, 3 credits
  - History 701 Internship in Public History, 6 credits
  - History 715 Research Methods in Local History, 3 credits
  Students must take History 700 in the first semester of their first year. The remaining 9 credits in public history must be selected from courses that pertain to the area of public history in which the student wishes to specialize.

For students interested in careers as archivists, electives should be selected from the following courses:

- L&I Sci 681 Using Archives: The Value of Primary Sources in the Information Age, 3 credits
- L&I Sci 775 Modern Archives Administration, 3 credits
- L&I Sci 777 Seminar in Modern Archives Administration, 3 credits
- L&I Sci 778 Archival Outreach: Programs and Services, 3 credits
- L&I Sci 779 Arrangement and Description in Archives, 3 credits
- L&I Sci 790 Fieldwork in Archives and Manuscripts, 3 credits

- Anthro 720 History and Theory of Museums, 3 credits
- Anthro 721 Administration and Organization of Museums, 3 credits
- Anthro 722 Museum Exhibits, 3 credits
- Anthro 723 Museum Curation, 3 credits

Students interested in careers in historic preservation are advised to take at least three of the following:

- Arch 560 Introduction to Historic Preservation, 3 credits
- Arch 760 History of Building Architecture, 3 credits
- Arch 835 Studies in Architectural History and Precedent: (Historic Preservation), 3 credits
- Arch 531 Historic Concepts of Architecture, 3 credits
- Arch 533 Vernacular Buildings and Groupings, 3 credits

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

The doctoral preliminary examination includes written and oral components designed to demonstrate the breadth of a student's knowledge and the ability to conduct advanced historical research. It must be taken within five years of enrollment in the Ph.D. program.

Students who fail the doctoral preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam may be retaken only once. The Director of Graduate Studies provides specific guidelines for selecting the Doctoral Preliminary Examination Committee and preparing the doctoral preliminary examination proposal.

Dissertation
The dissertation is a major piece of original research representing a substantial contribution to historical scholarship. In consultation with the Major Professor, the student chooses a dissertation committee, which must approve the prospectus. The student's Major Professor provides guidance in preparing the prospectus and in developing and writing the dissertation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

School/College: College of Letters and Science and Lubar School of Business

Degrees Conferred:
- Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations

Overview

The Lubar School of Business and the College of Letters and Science offer and present jointly the Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations (MHRLR).

The MHRLR is an innovative master's program offering students an interdisciplinary blend of courses and faculty in the areas of human resources and labor relations. The MHRLR program prepares students for careers as practitioners, and emphasizes a firm educational grounding in both the liberal arts and business administration. This grounding includes knowledge of human resources, staffing, labor relations, the legal system, and statistics.

Elective courses and options within the core requirements allow students to gain the specialized knowledge needed to work in the human resource management and labor relations areas of: compensation and benefits, collective bargaining, alternative dispute resolution, recruitment and selection, training and development, occupational health and safety, equal employment opportunity, strategic human resource management, and international human resource management.

The program is designed for full-time and part-time students who seek careers in the private or public sectors, and with unions or management.

Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following requirements to be considered for admission to the MHRLR program:

1. Submission of GRE or GMAT scores and two letters of recommendation to the MHRLR program.
2. Students admitted to the program will be expected to present at least three credits of prior work in microeconomics and introductory statistics.
3. Students who are deficient in the areas of microeconomics or statistics at the time of admission (see above) will be expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. Deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.
4. Applicants are reviewed by the MHRLR admissions committee to assess academic achievements and the ability to do intensive graduate-level work.

Major Professor as Advisor

A student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The assistant director of the MHRLR Program advises and supervises the newly admitted student.

The assistant director, in consultation with the student, reviews the student's academic background and career goals and designs an appropriate program of study consistent with degree requirements.

Credits and Courses

The Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations degree will be awarded upon completion of 36 credits of prescribed graduate study and appropriate prerequisite course work. The program offers a balance between liberal arts and business-based education, requiring that at least 15 credits be taken within the College of Letters and Science and at least 15 credits be taken within the Lubar School of Business.

The degree requires completion of 21 credits in core courses that provide each student with a solid grounding in both labor relations and human resources while permitting some specialization according to student interests.

Degree Conferred:
- M.S. in Kinesiology

Overview

Kinesiology is an academic discipline which involves the study of physical activity and its impact on health, society, and quality of life (www.AmericanKinesiology.org). The Master of Science degree in Kinesiology provides students with an understanding of how physical activity (including sport and exercise) impact and are affected by various physiological, mechanical, and psychosocial aspects of human health and performance.

The degree offers focused study in Exercise and Nutrition in Health and Disease, Integrative Human Performance, or Neuromechanics and prepares students for careers in higher-education, research, and practice through didactic coursework in the areas of Biomechanics, Exercise Physiology, Motor Behavior, Rehabilitation, Sport & Exercise Psychology, and Psychosocial Aspects of Human Behavior.

Knowledge and skills in research-related and discipline-specific coursework help prepare students to address complex real-world health and performance issues and utilize critical thinking skills to generate knowledge and make sound decisions to support continued personal and professional development.

Language, Literature, and Translation

Degree Conferred: M.A. in Language, Literature, and Translation

Overview

The Departments of Foreign Languages and Literature, of French, Italian and Comparative Literature, and of Spanish and Portuguese — under the guidance of a Coordinating Committee — cooperate in offering an interdepartmental, interdisciplinary master's program designed for the student who wishes to focus on language and literature as areas of study broader than national or linguistic borders and to study language, literature, and translation on a cross-cultural basis.

Students may complete one of the following concentrations: Classical Greek; Classics; Comparative Literature; French and Francophone Language, Literature, and Culture; German Language, Literature, and Culture; Latin; Linguistics; Spanish and Hispanophone Language, Literature, and Culture; Translation Professional Track; and Translation Research Track. In addition to these specific concentrations, students may pursue course work in Hebrew Studies, Italian Studies, and Slavic Languages.

Inquiries concerning this program should be directed to the Coordinator of the Language, Literature, and Translation program.

Master of Arts in Language, Literature, and Translation

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these program requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Knowledge of a language other than English. Entrance competencies for specific concentrations are as follows:
   - Language concentrations: an undergraduate major in the language, or comparable background, such as coursework, a significant immersion experience, or native fluency combined with appropriate academic training.
   - Translation tracks: competence on a qualifying examination.
   - Comparative Literature concentration: an undergraduate major in comparative literature, including advanced study of a language other than English, or equivalent literary and language preparation.
   - Linguistics concentration: an undergraduate major in linguistics or in a related field, such as English, a foreign language, psychology, philosophy, or anthropology; and at least a basic-level familiarity with a language other than English, as evidenced by

by coursework, immersion experience or native fluency.

2. Submission to the MALLT Program of three letters of recommendation, at least two of which should be from instructors acquainted with the student's academic work.

3. Submission to the MALLT Program of a well-developed statement of approximately 500 words outlining the applicant's academic background and interests, reasons for graduate study in the MALLT program, intended concentration and professional goals.

Applicants who meet general Graduate School requirements (an undergraduate grade point average of at least 2.75) and the above program requirements may be admitted in good standing.

Upon recommendation of the Coordinating Committee, an applicant lacking in course background may be admitted with specified deficiencies in the above on the condition that the deficiencies be made up by the end of the first full semester (9-12 credits). Credits earned in making up deficiencies do not count toward the degree. If an applicant furnishes substantial evidence of capacity to do satisfactory graduate work despite a deficiency in GPA on admission, probationary admission may be recommended.

Transfer of Credits

Any course submitted for transfer must be no more than five years old at the time of the student's admission to the MALLT Program, must have been taken at the graduate level in a recognized institution, and must have been completed with a grade of B or better. Since Graduate School regulations allow the transfer of only 12 non-degree graduate credits to a master's program, students are advised to apply for degree candidacy in the MALLT program before completion of 12 credits of course work.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations.

The Coordinating Committee refers each incoming student to a temporary advisor, normally the Graduate Advisor in the student's chosen concentration, as stated in the application. The Graduate Advisor assists in assessing the student's competencies, interests, and future academic or professional needs. Normally, the Graduate Advisor recommends a Major Professor after his/her initial meeting with the student.

The Major Professor and the student establish a plan of study by the end of the student's first semester of graduate work. The plan will be reviewed by the Major Professor and the student after the successful completion of 12 credits and the removal of any deficiencies that may have been assessed at admission. At the time of the review, the student may request another Major Professor in the event that his/her programmatic needs have been modified or altered. Subsequent minor changes must be approved by the Major Professor.

The Major Professor evaluates and updates the student's progress after completion of every six (6) credits or every semester of subsequent work. The student may not register for any courses without this advisor's prior approval.

Credits and Courses

No credits carrying a grade below B- may be counted toward meeting the MALLT degree requirement of 30 credits.

The MALLT degree offers two tracks: the Standard Track within which students may complete one of eight concentrations and the Translation Track, which will be designated as a concentration on the student's transcript. Students are not obligated to elect a concentration, but many will find it beneficial to do so. They also have the option of completing two concentrations, but, in doing so, students must complete all requirements for each concentration and a minimum of 36 credits for the degree.

Standard Track

Thirty graduate credits are required, 6 of which must be in core seminars in the language, literature, and linguistics areas. The student develops a program of study in consultation with the Major Professor, normally including the following:

1. Two core seminars as a foundation in basic aspects of languages, literatures, and linguistics.
2. Five to eight courses in a language, literature, or linguistics area to permit concentration in the student's major area of interest.
3. Up to three courses in related areas to give the program breadth.

The following are the minimum course requirements for a concentration within the Standard Track:

- Classical Greek: at least 15 graduate credits in Greek
- Classics: at least 18 credits of graduate-level course work consisting of an equal number of credits in classical Greek and in Latin

Translation Professional Track

The Professional track is designed for those considering careers as in-house or freelance translators who are not necessarily interested in further study at the doctoral level.

Students must earn thirty graduate credits, as indicated below; they may not count undergraduate credits earned in the Translation Certificate Program. Admission is based in part on a qualifying examination that consists of a 300-word translation from the source to the target language and one 150-word essay in the target language.

Overview
The College of Letters and Science offers an interdisciplinary graduate program leading to a Master of Liberal Studies. The MLS curriculum consists of small introductory seminars, special topics courses conceived exclusively for the program, electives taken in specific departments, and a final thesis or independent project. All courses are taught by graduate faculty drawn primarily from the College of Letters and Science and augmented by other interested instructors from across the University. Such faculty diversity allows students to expand their cultural and intellectual horizons through a carefully structured course of study that encourages multiple perspectives on important issues and integration of knowledge across disciplines. The MLS program is housed in the internationally respected Center for Twenty-first Century Studies, which ensures access to leading scholars, outstanding facilities, special lectures and other events. Each fall a limited class of new students is admitted in order to maintain an intimate learning environment, and all courses are offered during evenings or weekends. Although the MLS is not a traditional graduate degree that focuses on a single academic field or set of professional skills, its emphasis on critical thinking, imaginative reflection, ethical consideration, and effective communication carries substantial value in both private and public life.

Master of Liberal Studies
Admission
To be considered for admission to the Master of Liberal Studies, an applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School. For non-native speakers of English, demonstration of English proficiency for the MLS requires a TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) score of 600 on the old exam or 250 on the new, or a score of 7.0 on the IELTS (International English Language Testing System) exam, as well as a score of 50 on the TSE (Test of Spoken English). In addition, the applicant must submit an essay (two pages) describing why s/he is interested in pursuing graduate study in an interdisciplinary program and describing the educational background and life experiences that s/he brings to the program. An interview with the director of the program also is required.

Major Professor as Advisor
As specified in the regulations of the Graduate School, a major professor will be assigned to every person enrolled in the program to advise and supervise his or her work. Those admitted to the program will consult with the Director of the Master of Liberal Studies program for assistance in identifying an appropriate advisor. The responsibility of the advisor will be to assist in selecting a cohesive sequence of courses and developing a rationale for that sequence. The major advisor must approve the program of study.

Credits and Courses
requirements are changing.
Currently enrolled students have the option of following the old or new requirements. Students entering in Fall 2014 or later must complete the new requirements.

Credits and Courses
Twenty-seven credits are required for the MLS degree, distributed as follows:

Core courses (8 cr)
All students must take a required introductory two-course sequence (4 credits for each course) designed to orient the individuals to the program, to establish a common base of knowledge in an interdisciplinary context, and to create a sense of intellectual community among the participants, many of whom may be re-entering the world of formal education.

Special topics courses (6 cr)
Participants must complete at least two courses from an array of special topics courses in a seminar format (3 credits each) offered under the LibrlSt curricular area number.

Elective courses (9 cr)
Participants select elective courses to total 9 credits from special topics courses offered under the MLS curricular area code, graduate courses offered within departments, and independent study (LibrlSt 799). Although the core and special topics courses that are designed specifically for the Master of Liberal Studies will be emphasized in all programs of study, participants may wish to take graduate courses offered by departments or to undertake independent study in order to pursue specific interests.

Culminating project (4 cr)
Participants must complete a culminating project, undertaken in a 4 credit independent study course (LibrlSt 798). This project, which must be interdisciplinary in nature, can take the form of a traditional research paper or thesis, but it also may adopt an alternative creative, performative, or occupationally related practical model. The project must be approved by the student’s advisor and the program director.

Transfer credits
Individuals with prior graduate course work may receive permission to count up to 9 credits of that work toward the Master of Liberal Studies if the Advisory Committee accepts the courses as relevant to the program of study and if the courses meet Graduate School requirements for transfer. Liberal Studies core courses and the culminating project course must be taken at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Master's Programs

The purpose of the MLIS program is to prepare librarians and information professionals who are able to manage change in an urbanized, technologically oriented, and knowledge-based society. The MLIS program provides a systematic course of study which enables individuals with a strong service orientation to apply principles of library and information science, use current methods and tools, and recognize the value of research.

Students may elect to specialize according to the type of library or information service which best meets their needs: i.e., school, public, academic, or special; or to follow a more generalized approach. Concentrations in archival studies, information organization, information technology, and public library leadership are available.

Graduates of the Master of Library and Information Science degree program are expected to demonstrate the following competencies:

1. To apply scientific principles in developing and managing information resources designed to meet user needs and interests.
2. To analyze, describe, and organize resources for effective and efficient retrieval and dissemination of information.
3. To utilize knowledge of information sources, services, and systems to meet the informational needs of users.
4. To apply management principles in planning, developing, marketing, and evaluating library and information services.
5. To work in specialized areas of library and information service, utilizing knowledge obtained from concentrations within the School and in other disciplines.
6. To build upon current knowledge of information and communication theories and technologies in planning, design, development, and delivery of information services.

The master's degree program is designed to support each of these objectives with appropriate coursework and educational experiences.

The School of Information Studies in collaboration with the School of Education offers post-bachelor's programs leading to State of Wisconsin licensing as Initial Instructional Library Media Specialist, Instructional Library Media Specialist, and Instructional Library Media Supervisor.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Students admitted to the Master of Library and Information Science degree program can incorporate in their degree program the courses for these licenses to the extent that these courses satisfy the degree requirements, either as required core courses or as electives. Licenses will be granted only to those persons who are eligible to hold a Wisconsin license to teach in the elementary or secondary schools or who have completed an approved elementary or secondary classroom teacher preparation program. For additional information about these licenses and their relationship to the master's degree, consult the School Library Media Coordinator.

The advanced courses offered by the School of Information Studies may be elected on a non-degree basis by post-master's students who wish to continue their professional education or special education or for students in other fields of study, provided that they have completed the appropriate basic courses (or their equivalent).

A Master of Arts in Women's Studies/Master of Library and Information Science program to prepare students for positions as archivists, 48 credits.

Master of Library and Information Science

Application

The student must apply to both the Graduate School and the School of Information Studies.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following additional requirements of the School of Information Studies to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Miller Analogies Test (MAT). (GRE or MAT scores are currently required of domestic applicants and will be required of international applicants beginning with the summer 2004 admission term.) The test scores should be sent directly to the SOIS. This requirement will be waived for applicants whose overall undergraduate GPA, as calculated by the UWM Graduate School, is at least 3.00, or who already hold another master's degree or Ph.D., or the equivalent.

2. Applicants from foreign institutions are required to submit the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) score. The minimum acceptable score is 550 PBT or 79 iBT. A score of 6.5 or higher on the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) may be submitted in lieu of the TOEFL.

3. Two letters of recommendation from persons who can testify to the applicant's likelihood of success in the master's program in library and information science. References from former teachers or employers are preferred.

No prior coursework in library/information science is required. A student whose undergraduate grade point average is below 2.75 (4.0 basis) may be considered for admission on probation. See the Admission on Probation section of this Web site.

Faculty Advisor

Each student is assigned a faculty advisor in the School of Information Studies at the time of admission to the master's program. The name of the faculty advisor is included in the student's letter of admission and may also be obtained from an academic advisor in the School of Information Studies.

Credits and Courses

The minimum degree requirement is 36 graduate credits, 30 of which must be in library and information science and up to 6 of which may be in related areas. Students who have already completed a master's or doctoral degree in a field other than library science may have the library and information science master's program reduced to 30 credits. Under special circumstances, up to 6 of these credits may be from another field in a closely allied area with advisor consent. Students who have completed library science courses at the undergraduate level may, upon request, have their coursework reviewed to determine whether the content was the equivalent of that in required courses in the School of Information Studies Program. However, the establishment of such equivalencies will not reduce the total number of credits required for the master's degree in library and information science, but merely enable the student to avoid unnecessary repetition.
The number of credits needed for each of the coordinated degree programs is 12 credits less than the sum of credits of the two programs if taken separately. All degree requirements of each component program, however, must be satisfied. This includes makeup courses for deficiencies, required courses, and graduation proficiency requirements. The MLIS component of each coordinated program includes 30 credits of SOIS courses including the 12 credits of required courses.

The following are basic required courses:

- L&I SCI 615: Information and Records Management (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 691: Special Topics in Information Science: Electronic Records (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 777: Seminar in Modern Archives Administration (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 778: Archival Outreach: Programs & Services (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 779: Arrangement and Description in Archives (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 791: Topics in Information Organization: Preservation of Contemporary Information Media (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 891: Advanced Topics in Library and Information Science: Appraisal and Selection of Archives and Manuscripts (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 999: Independent Research (3 credits)

Information Organization Concentration

The Information Organization Concentration requires a minimum of 15 credits of coursework taken from the list of qualifying courses below. The student's concentration program must be approved by the SOIS Information Organization Curriculum Coordinator. A fieldwork experience of 1-3 credits with a focus on information organization is required of students without practical experience.

Courses that qualify for the concentration are as follows:

- L&I SCI 615: Information and Records Management (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 691: Special Topics in Information Science: Electronic Records (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 777: Seminar in Modern Archives Administration (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 778: Archival Outreach: Programs & Services (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 779: Arrangement and Description in Archives (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 791: Topics in Information Organization: Preservation of Contemporary Information Media (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 891: Advanced Topics in Library and Information Science: Appraisal and Selection of Archives and Manuscripts (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 999: Independent Research (3 credits)

Public Library Leadership Concentration

The Public Library Leadership Concentration requires 21 credits of coursework planned in consultation with the student's advisor. Credits for the concentration count as electives for the MLIS. The courses that qualify for the concentration are as follows:

Required: Students must take the following courses

- L&I SCI 736: The Public Library (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 861: Seminar in Intellectual Freedom (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 864 (891 topic): Public Libraries: Philosophy, Politics and Policy (3 credits)

Electives: Students must take at least three of the following courses

- L&I SCI 520: Managing Library Collections (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 524: Management of Library and Information Services (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 622: Information Marketing (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 661: Ethics and the Information Society (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 682: Digital Libraries (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 685: E-publishing and Web Design (3 credits)
- L&I SCI 862: Legal Issues for Library and Information Managers (3 credits)

Proficiency Requirement in Library and Information Science

This course of study requires students to demonstrate proficiency in the field of library and information science. There are two options for completing the proficiency requirement: passing a comprehensive examination or completing and successfully defending a thesis.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Comprehensive Examination
Students choosing the comprehensive examination option must successfully pass a written comprehensive examination. A student who fails the examination the first time may repeat it once. However, a student who fails the examination may not select the thesis option.

Thesis Option
Students choosing the thesis option must take at least three credits of thesis coursework in addition to the 36 credits required for the comprehensive examination option, making the minimum credits required for the thesis option 39 credits. However, only 3 credits of thesis coursework may count towards the total degree credit requirement of 39. Those who already have a graduate degree must complete a minimum of 33 credits for this option.

Students who choose the thesis option in the coordinated master's degree programs also need to take an additional 3 credits of thesis coursework. Thus, while total degree credits vary among the coordinated master's programs, the Master of Library and Information Science component of each requires 33 credits of SOIS course work, three of which would be taken as thesis credit. Students pursuing thesis options in both programs will be required to fulfill each program's thesis requirement and complete two separate theses.

Students in the thesis option also must take a minimum of three credits of research methods. More may be required by individual circumstances, but only the first three credits may count toward degree credit requirements. Either 540-890, Research Methods in Library and Information Science, or a comparable course chosen in consultation with the major professor, can contribute towards satisfaction of this requirement. Students must complete the five core courses in addition to the research methods requirement before defense of the thesis proposal can occur.

Students may select the thesis option at any point in their course of study, but are encouraged to make this decision and form their thesis committee as early as possible to avoid the necessity of taking additional coursework. The faculty advisor assigned to each student upon admission may serve as the student's thesis advisor, but is not required to do so. It is the student's responsibility to enter into a mutually agreed upon advising relationship with a thesis advisor in SOIS, who then serves as chair of the thesis committee.

Likewise, a student may withdraw from the thesis option and pursue the comprehensive examination option; however, the student would need to meet the registration and other requirements for the comprehensive examination set forth in SOIS policies and procedures as published in the SOIS Bulletin.

Students must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis. The thesis defense may be repeated once.

Time Limit
Students in the 36-credit program must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment. Students in the 30-credit program must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

The program emphasizes the study of the representation, storage, retrieval, use, and impact of information resources on society. Graduates will contribute to the knowledge base of the discipline and will take on leadership roles as scholars and administrators in the discipline and the profession.

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program in regular status:

- Have a cumulative GPA in course work for the Master's degree of at least 3.5 and an undergraduate GPA of 3.0. Applicants possessing a Master of Library and Information Science (or an equivalent degree) are preferred. Applicants with a master's degree in an allied discipline are encouraged to apply, but must complete the four required courses of the MLIS program in addition to the regular course requirements.
- Submit verbal and quantitative scores for the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) taken within the past five years.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
The program credits will be distributed as follows:

- Introductory seminar course 901
  Doctoral Seminar in Information Studies, to be completed during the first semester.
- A minimum of 9 credits in research methodologies and analysis with at least three credits in qualitative and three in quantitative.
- A minimum of 12 credits in the major area (information policy, information retrieval, organization of information), which includes a doctoral seminar in the major area.
- 9 credits in a minor area, which may be in information studies or another allied discipline relevant to the student's research interests.
- 3 credits of an elective upon approval of the major professor.

Major Professor as Advisor

Unless a student specifically requests a particular faculty member, all doctoral students initially are assigned an "interim" advisor. After the completion of 12 credits, a student is required to designate a faculty member from an approved list of major professors with specialized interests compatible with those of the student to act as the major professor. The major professor is expected to assist the student in planning the remainder of the program of studies, chair the student's preliminary examination committee, supervise the completion of the Ph.D. dissertation, and conduct the dissertation defense meeting. All students should consult the program handbook for additional details on school policies and procedures.

Residence

The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements of one continuous academic year of full-time graduate studies at UWM. This can be satisfied by completing at least 8 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit cannot be earned at the master's level.

Course of Study

To fulfill the credit requirements for the Ph.D. in Information Studies, a student must complete at least 36 graduate credits beyond the master's degree. Students who do not possess a Master of Library and Information Science or the equivalent will be required to complete the four required courses for the MLIS program in addition to the regular program requirements.

Preliminary Examinations / Preparatory Essays

Students will be required to complete the doctoral preparatory essays towards the end of their coursework. The purpose of the essays will be to demonstrate the student's mastery of coursework and relevant subject matter and the student's qualifications to proceed with dissertation research. The essays will consist of three areas: research methods, the major area, and the minor area. The essays will represent non-credit research papers based on topics assigned by the student's doctoral committee, which will consist of at least three members, including one representing the student's minor. The timeline for completion of the essays will be at the committee's discretion. Based on the committee's assessment of the essays, students will be recommended for advancement toward the Ph.D. or academic dismissal from the program. If the essay results are found to be unsatisfactory, the student will have one opportunity to repeat the essay in a future semester after conferral with the major professor on how to prepare for the next attempt.

The preparatory essays must be successfully completed within four years of initial enrollment.

Dissertation Proposal

A doctoral committee of five faculty members will be in place by the time the student undertakes her/his dissertation proposal. The committee will consist of three members from the School of Information Studies, a faculty member in an allied area from outside the School, and a fifth member who may come from SOIS or another discipline. All doctoral committees shall be chaired by a major professor from the SOIS graduate faculty. Approval of the dissertation proposal, which ordinarily should occur within two semesters after successfully passing the preparatory essays, allows a student to proceed towards completion of the dissertation.

Dissertation

The candidate must write a dissertation which demonstrates her/his ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation that contributes to the knowledge base of the field.

Dissertation Defense

After submission of a reading copy of the dissertation to the student's doctoral committee, the candidate and the major professor will schedule a committee meeting for the purpose of undertaking an oral defense of the dissertation work by the candidate. At the conclusion of the candidate's oral remarks, the dissertation committees will vote on passing the candidate’s dissertation work. A majority of the committee must vote to approve the dissertation and recommend granting of the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Approval of the dissertation by the student’s doctoral committee satisfies a final requirement for the Ph.D. degree in Information Studies from the UWM-SOIS.

Time Limit

All components of the Ph.D. program must be completed within seven years of matriculation.

Additional Information for Doctoral Students

For additional information on policies and procedures for doctoral students, please see the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements page.

Master of Arts in Linguistics

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Undergraduate major in linguistics or related field (e.g. languages, psychology, anthropology, philosophy).

2. Undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 (4.0 scale).

3. Three letters of recommendation to the Department's Director of Graduate Studies from persons familiar with applicant's academic ability and achievement.

4. A sample of academic writing.

5. Though not required, submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination may enhance the application.

Applicants may be admitted with course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Applicants should contact the Linguistics Department office for additional information and deadlines.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a Major Professor to advise and supervise the student's work as specified in Graduate School regulations. The director of graduate studies serves as an initial advisor. It is recommended that the student have a permanent advisor by the end of the second semester of enrollment.

Credits and Courses

Students admitted to the master's program earn the degree by completing a minimum of 30 credits of graduate coursework, submitting a final project, and passing an oral examination on the final project.

Students who demonstrate a capacity for doctoral work and wish to earn a Ph.D. at UWM are advised to proceed as rapidly as possible to doctoral status. No more than 30 credits earned at the master's level may be included in the 54 credits required for the Ph.D.

The M.A. in Linguistics requires 30 graduate credits, including:

- 18 credits in required courses covering core areas of linguistics:
  - Linguis 415 First Language Acquisition or Linguis 420 Introduction to Second Language Acquisition
  - Linguis 450(370) General Phonetics and Phonetics Practicum
  - Linguis 460 Sounds and Sound Systems

- 12 elective credits distributed among 400- to 800-level courses in linguistics and related fields as approved by the student's major professor.

Students who completed any of the required courses as undergraduates will substitute another course selected in consultation with their major professor.

TESOL Concentration

Students may elect to complete a concentration in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages as part of their M.A. studies. The TESOL concentration requires that students complete, in addition to the above courses, the following courses as part of their electives:

- Linguis /MALLT 708 Proseminar in Linguistics
- Linguis 410 Literacy, Grammar, and Methodologies in ESL Education
- English/Linguis 565 Introduction to Adult/University-Level TESOL
- English/Linguis 569 Internship in Teaching ESL to Adult Learners
- Linguis 799 Reading and Research for Master's Students (TESOL-related paper/project)

The TESOL concentration will be noted on the student's transcript.

Final Project

A research paper or other project appropriate to the student's professional goals, to be defended in an individualized oral examination.

- Final project. The project is a research paper on a topic chosen in consultation with the student's advisor; for students specializing in Teaching ESL to Adult Learners, the project may take some other form as approved by the major professor.
- Oral examination. The oral examination, usually lasting an hour and a half, focuses on the final project but also covers other elements of the student's program of study.

1. Students should consult with their advisors before completing 24 credits in order to determine a final project.
Ordinarily, this is a revised and expanded course or seminar paper of at least 30 pages. The project should demonstrate the student's skills in research, analysis and argumentation. For students specializing in Teaching ESL to Adult Learners, the project may consist of documentation of the outcome of a pedagogical investigation undertaken during the student's internship. The project serves both as a concluding effort at the master's level and as an indication of the student's potential for doctoral study.

2. In consultation with the student, the Director of Graduate Studies appoints an M.A. Examining Committee. At least two of the three members must be Linguistics Department faculty members. The M.A. Examining Committee administers the final Oral Examination.

3. The project must be submitted and the oral examination completed within one year after the completion of 24 credits. Students should remember that a maximum of 30 credits at the master's level is applicable to the Ph.D. 54 credit requirement.

4. Students who express intent to go on for the Ph.D. are evaluated by the M.A. Examining Committee regarding their qualifications for further graduate study at the doctoral level. The Committee Chair puts the Committee's recommendation in writing and places it in the student's academic file.

5. Students who fail the oral examination may be required to revise their final project, retake the examination, or both. The oral examination may be retaken only once. Students must register for 1-3 credits when revising the final project after a failed examination; however, the additional credit(s) may not count toward the 30 credits required for the degree.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Linguistics

Admission
Students wishing to enter the Ph.D. program in Linguistics, including those who hold a master's degree from elsewhere, must satisfy the requirements for the UWM Master of Arts degree in Linguistics. Students apply to the Graduate School for admission, which, in turn, forwards completed applications to the Department. The Department faculty then evaluates the applications and decides on admissions to the Ph.D. program in Linguistics. Occasionally, an exceptionally well-qualified student will be admitted to the Ph.D. program with a baccalaureate degree. The student must complete the requirements of the M.A. degree in the course of fulfilling the requirements for the Ph.D.

New students are admitted each year typically to begin in the Fall term. To be considered, all application materials normally must be received by the Graduate School no later than December 15. Admission materials will include:

- Completed Graduate School application.
- Official transcripts of previous work, including evidence of a master's degree either completed or in progress.
- Three letters of recommendation.
- Sample of written work.
- Statement of purpose.

In addition, students whose native language is not English must submit scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), or the equivalent. A score of at least 587 (TOEFL) is normally necessary for admission. The minimum score for the computer based TOEFL is 240, or 95 for the internet-based test (iBT).

Submission of Graduate Record Examination (GRE) results, though not required, is encouraged.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's work as specified in Graduate School regulations. The Director of Graduate Studies serves as an initial advisor.

The Ph.D. program requires a minimum of 54 credits beyond the B.A. The 54 credits are distributed as follows:

- Required courses
  - Linguis 415 First Language Acquisition or Linguis 420 Introduction to Second Language Acquisition
  - Linguis 450 General Phonetics and Phonetics Practicum
  - Linguis 460 Sound and Sound systems
  - Linguis 464 Word and Sentence Structure
  - Linguis 466 Semantics
  - Linguis 468 Language in its Various Forms or 470 Historical/Comparative Linguistics
  - Linguis 550 Advanced Phonology
  - Linguis 560 Advanced Phonetics
  - Linguis 564 Advanced Syntax
  - Linguis 566 Advanced Semantics
  - 12 credits in 800- to 900-level linguistics seminars and independent studies, at least 9 credits of which must be in seminars;
  - 12 elective credits, selected with approval of the student's major professor

General Restrictions
Doctoral students may not count more than 9 credits in independent study toward the degree without the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies. No more than 18 credits may be counted in courses taken outside the Department of Linguistics.

Advising
Students are required to consult periodically with their Major Professor. The Major Professor helps the student to define an area of special interest within the concentration for the preliminary examination. The Major Professor also assists the student in the selection of appropriate coursework and may chair the Preliminary Examination Committee.

Foreign Language Requirement
All Ph.D. candidates are required to demonstrate proficiency (reading knowledge) in a language other than English. The choice of language, and the means of demonstrating proficiency, must be approved by the student's Major Professor in consultation with the Director of Graduate Study.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The doctoral preliminary examination consists of an oral defense of a major research paper submitted by the student typically after completing 39 to 45 credits toward the Ph.D. degree. Though the scope of the examination, which usually lasts two hours, is open-ended, its focus is on the submitted research paper, which itself is intended to demonstrate the breadth and depth of a student's knowledge and the ability to conduct advanced research in one or more areas of study. The successfully-defended research paper should lead naturally to timely preparation of the dissertation proposal.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Students cannot take the preliminary examination if they have any incomplete or unreported grades or a GPA less than 3.0. The exam must be finished within ten years from the date of initial enrollment. Students who do not complete the exam within this time frame will be considered to have failed the exam. The exam may be retaken only once, after making appropriate revisions to the research paper. Students who fail the preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam must be passed within five years of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Dissertation

The dissertation topic, together with a comprehensive prospectus, must be approved by the student's doctoral committee in a dissertation proposal hearing that should be held not later than the semester immediately following the preliminary examination. The dissertation proposal is typically, albeit not necessarily, a refinement and extension of the research paper defended in the oral preliminary examination. Though no specific length requirements are imposed on the dissertation itself, the Department considers 200 pages to be reasonable and representative.

Dissertation Defense

The completed dissertation is subject to an oral defense, to be arranged by the Major Professor in coordination with the Director of Graduate Studies a one semester extension for additional course work. Students who do not complete the exam within this time frame will be considered to have failed the exam. The exam may be retaken only once, after making appropriate revisions to the research paper. Students who fail the preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam must be passed within five years of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information see the Graduate School Ph.D. requirements.

Master of Science in Mathematics

Five options for the master's degree are offered: the standard mathematics/statistics option (A), the industrial mathematics option (B), the atmospheric sciences option (C), the applied statistics option (D), and the actuarial science option (E). Students who plan to continue for a Ph.D. degree with a focus on mathematics/statistics should elect the standard mathematics/statistics option; those who seek the Ph.D. with a focus on atmospheric sciences should elect the atmospheric sciences option.

Option A is changing
Currently enrolled students have the option of following the old or new requirements. Students entering in Fall 2014 or later must complete the new requirements.

A. Standard Mathematics/Statistics Option

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Completion of three semesters of undergraduate calculus.
2. At least 18 credits of acceptable undergraduate preparation beyond calculus.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering graduate student is assigned a temporary advisor by the Department Graduate Program Coordinator.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 to 36 credits, depending upon which option the student chooses: either 24 credits from mathematics courses, at least 18 credits of which are numbered 700 or above; or 30 credits from mathematics courses, at least 12 credits of which are numbered 700 or above; or at least 36 credits in mathematics courses open for graduate credit.

Under the 30-credit option, up to 9 credits may be in approved courses from outside the Department. Under the 36 credit option, up to 12 credits may be taken in approved courses from outside the Department.

Thesis
A thesis is optional. A student choosing the thesis option must enroll in Math 790. A maximum of 3 credits of thesis may be counted toward the degree requirements. An acceptable thesis will represent an original contribution and may involve applications, a novel exposition, or computational aspects of a mathematical problem or theory. The student must pass an oral defense of the thesis.

Examination or Project
Each student who does not elect the thesis option must satisfy one of the following requirements:
1. Pass a written comprehensive examination.
2. Present a satisfactory oral and written report on a comprehensive project done under the supervision of a faculty advisor.

The project option is open only to students who complete the 36 credit graduation requirement. Students electing the project should register for 1 to 3 credits of the M.S. seminar 791. Students planning to continue for a Ph.D. should select the written comprehensive examination option.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Time Limit
Under the 24 or 30 credit option, the student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment. Under the 36 credit option, the student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

B. Industrial Mathematics

Objective
The objective of the master's program in industrial mathematics is to enable students to acquire the fundamentals of applied mathematics in areas of classical and numerical analysis, differential equations and dynamical systems, and probability and statistics. At the same time, the connection of these fields to modeling of physical, biological, and engineering phenomena will be stressed by requiring credits outside of the Department of Mathematical Sciences. Students are to obtain practical experience in mathematical modeling and analysis during an internship or industrial project that will culminate in a thesis.

Admission
An applicant must meet the Graduate School requirements as well as the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. A bachelor's degree in an area of mathematical science (applied or pure mathematics, actuarial science, statistics, etc.), computer science, economics or finance, physics, engineering, or a related field.
2. Completion of at least three semesters of undergraduate calculus plus at least 6 credits of acceptable mathematics courses requiring calculus.

Students satisfying only the minimum mathematics requirements will be expected to take courses that do not count toward the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies. The entering graduate student is assigned an advisor by the chair of the Industrial Mathematics Committee. Depending on the thesis topic, the student may later change advisors.

General Requirements
A student must have completed, either prior to entering the program or by the time of graduation, courses in advanced calculus, numerical analysis, and ordinary differential equations. In addition, students must complete courses involving Fourier series, linear algebra, linear programming, mathematical modeling, partial differential equations, probability, and calculus-based statistics.

Credits and Course Work
At least 36 graduate credits in G or U/G courses at UWM are required, subject to the following regulations. A student must have:

1. At least 18 credits from the list of approved industrial mathematics courses, including Math 701, 715, and at least 6 additional credits at or above the 600 level.
2. At least 6 upper level (300 or above) credits of a coherent set of courses, approved by the advisor, in an application area (e.g., physics, engineering, business) outside of the Department. Students already proficient in an application area are expected to substitute mathematics courses.
3. Not more than 6 credits in any combination of independent study or seminar or thesis (Math 790, 791, 792, 799, or 990);
4. Not more than 12 credits below the 500 level from within the Department of Mathematical Sciences;
5. Demonstrated knowledge of an advanced scientific programming language approved by the Industrial Mathematics Committee; and
6. Advisor's prior written approval for every course.

Thesis
A thesis in which the student solves a mathematical problem with an industrial source is required. The student must work with the advisor/major professor from the start of the thesis through its completion, receiving his/her approval. The student must pass an oral defense before three faculty members.

Time Limit
Full-time students, without deficiencies, could be expected to complete the program in two years. All degree requirements must be completed within seven years of initial enrollment.

Special Recommendation
It is recommended that, by the time of graduation, students master the material presented in the following courses, either prior to enrolling or through course work: 313, 314, 564, 571, 601, 602, 701, 702, and 715. C. Atmospheric Sciences

Option

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements to be considered for admission to the program. Entering graduate students should have a general background in both mathematics and physics; given the intrinsic multi-disciplinary nature of the atmospheric sciences, no specific undergraduate course work is required. However, applicants should have an adequate mathematical background that includes calculus, vector analysis, ordinary and partial differential equations, and linear algebra. Students lacking this background may be admitted provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. Deficiencies must be made up within three enrolled semesters of graduate study.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. This advisor will be assigned upon enrollment in the program by the chair of the Atmospheric Sciences Committee.

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, 12 of which must be in the atmospheric sciences 700 number sequence, 6 of which will be approved graduate elective credits, and 6 of which will be from either the mathematics sequences 521/522 or 601/602, or from two of the following courses: Math 703, Math 705, Math 801, and AtmSci 750.

Thesis
A thesis is optional. Students who choose the thesis option must enroll in AtmSci 990 for the final 6 credits of the required total. An acceptable thesis will represent an original contribution to knowledge in the atmospheric sciences. Upon completion of the thesis, students must pass an oral examination to defend the thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
In the non-thesis option, students must pass a written comprehensive examination that tests basic knowledge of the atmospheric sciences.

Time Limit
Full-time students, without deficiencies, can be expected to complete the program within two years. All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Option D is changing
Currently enrolled students have the option of following the old or new requirements. Students entering in Fall 2014 or later must complete the new requirements.

D. Applied Statistics Option
The M.S. Option in Applied Statistics is designed for students who will seek employment as statisticians in non-academic settings after obtaining a M.S. degree. Students desiring to obtain a Ph.D. with a concentration in statistics should follow Option A: Standard Mathematics/Statistics Option.

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program: completion of three semesters of undergraduate calculus and at least 18 credits of acceptable undergraduate preparation beyond calculus; these credits should include a one year sequence in mathematical statistics.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering graduate student is assigned a temporary advisor by the Department Graduate Program Coordinator.

Credit and Courses
The minimum requirement is 32 credits in Mathematics or Mathematical Statistics. All students must complete Math 535, 571, 621, and 622 and MthStat 462, 761, and 762. In addition, each student must complete 12 approved credits of applied statistics from UWM or the Medical College of Wisconsin.

Thesis Option
Students with grade point averages of 3.7 and no grades below B+ after their first 18 credits completed in the program will be eligible to write a thesis and earn 3 credits toward the degree. In addition, students who write a thesis are exempt from the Master's Proficiency exam.

Master's Proficiency Exam
Students who are not eligible for or who do not complete the thesis option are required to pass a written comprehensive examination.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
actuarial science, probability or statistics at the 700 level or above. (All substitutions have to be approved by the Actuarial Science Committee and the Graduate Program Coordinator.)

- At least nine credits from the following list: Math 311, 790, 792, 799, MthStat 563, 564, Econ 701, 702, BusMgmt 705. Students already proficient in these areas but having less than two actuarial exams passed must substitute at least six credits of other courses in probability or statistics at the 700 level or above. Credits for Math 790, 792 and 799 can be counted toward the degree requirement only for students who have passed two actuarial professional exams and only when these courses cover topics in actuarial science, probability, or statistics.

Students who have completed program courses for undergraduate credit should discuss alternative graduate-level courses to substitute for those courses in their programs of study.

Thesis
A thesis is not required for the actuarial science option. Rather, students must pass three departmental written proficiency exams, which are based on the learning objectives of the actuarial professional exams P/1, FM/2, and one of MFE/3F, MLC, C/4. Waivers for departmental exams are granted for students who have passed the corresponding professional exams.

Professional Development
For future advancement in the field of actuarial science, "Validation by Educational Experience" (VEE) credits are required. VEE credits may be earned from the Society of Actuaries (SOA) and Casualty Actuarial Society (CAS) with a grade of B- or better in the following courses: MthStat 563, 564 (VEE-Statistical Models); Econ 701, 702 (VEE-Economics); BusMgmt 705 (VEE-Corporate Finance). Courses taken at other universities may be used to meet the VEE requirement of the SOA/CAS.

Time Limit
Students who are eligible to complete the program with 27 credits may earn the degree in three semesters. Other full-time students are expected to complete the program in two years. Students must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Mathematics

Admission
Applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus departmental requirements as given for admission to the master's program. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to this Ph.D. program.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering graduate student is assigned a temporary advisor by the Department Graduate Program Coordinator.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The student, in consultation with the major professor, must select both a primary and a secondary area of specialization. The primary area may be chosen from one of the following seven fields with minimum credit requirements as shown. The secondary area may be chosen from another of these fields or may be chosen from another appropriate department. Minimum course requirements for all work in both areas of specialization require approximately two full years of study.

Except for students in the atmospheric sciences field, each student must pass a written examination in one foreign language; the examination is administered by the Department's Language Committee. Acceptable languages are French, German, and Russian; exceptions may be permitted upon written request of advisor.

Computer Proficiency
The student shall pass an examination on a higher programming language and/or other appropriate advanced computer skills; the examinations administered by the Department's Computer Committee. The Computer Committee may accept advanced computer science course work in lieu of the examination.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
When the student is sufficiently prepared — normally when the student has earned 24 credits in specified areas above the 700 level — a doctoral preliminary examination to determine the student's knowledge and achievement is taken. For students in mathematics, the exam evaluates the student's general knowledge of mathematics, as well as the student's knowledge of the major area of concentration. Students in atmospheric sciences are examined in three areas: at least one from the 190 curricular area code and at least one from the 600/601 curricular area codes. Students must pass this examination to continue in the program. With permission of the examination committee, the student may repeat this examination once. If the student does not have a master's degree in mathematics before this examination, the committee will determine whether the student's performance is sufficient to qualify for the master's degree.

Doctoral Dissertation Proposal
Hearing
After passing the language requirements and the doctoral preliminary examination, the student participates in a doctoral dissertation proposal hearing. At this hearing, the student is examined on the student's chosen area of research and a dissertation topic is approved.

Dissertation
The primary requirement for the Ph.D. in mathematics is the candidate's completion, under the supervision of the Department advisor, of an original and significant mathematical investigation presented in the form of a dissertation. The investigation is to be in the field of algebra, analysis, applied mathematics, probability and statistics, topology, or atmospheric sciences. A dissertation for the industrial mathematics field must involve an industrial problem requiring a mathematical solution.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, present a colloquium based on the dissertation and must pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. If the candidate does not successfully defend a thesis within five years of admission to candidacy, the candidate may be required to take another doctoral preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Minor Area for Other Ph.D.
Majors
A doctoral student planning a physical science major other than mathematics may fulfill requirements for mathematics as the minor area of concentration by completing 12 credits of approved mathematics courses with a grade of B or better, at least 6 credits of which must be in courses 700 or above.

A doctoral student planning a non-physical science major may fulfill requirements for mathematics as the minor area of concentration by completing 12 credits with a grade of B or better in approved mathematics courses 300 or above.

For additional information on the Ph.D., see the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements page.

Overview

Mediated communication brings information, persuasion, and entertainment to our neighborhoods, our nation, and our world. As the choices expand and the reach of the media becomes more global, media producers can be anyone from a major corporation to an individual activist with a Web site, and media consumers can interact with the products they encounter in a multitude of ways.

The M.A. in Media Studies offered through the Department of Journalism, Advertising, and Media Studies is wide ranging and interdisciplinary. The goal of the program is to foster knowledge and understanding of mass media and society through critical, cultural, historical, legal, ethical, or social scientific approaches. One particular emphasis of the program is the relationship between the media and the public interest.

The program is oriented toward academic study rather than instruction in technical skills. The curriculum focuses on research and critical thinking about the media. Students complete 24 credits of coursework and a 6-credit thesis. They work closely with their faculty advisors to design a course of study and to conduct original research for their theses.

Mass Communication graduate faculty members have national reputations for research in an array of specialties. Students in the master's program also are active in research.

The program's alumni apply what they have learned to a range of endeavors, including media-oriented careers and advanced academic work. An increasing number continue their education in Ph.D. programs.

Master of Arts in Media Studies

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Present an overall undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 or above.
2. Submit three letters of recommendation from persons capable of judging the applicant's capacity for success in a graduate program of study.
3. Submit scores from the General Test section of the Graduate Record Examination.
4. Submit a sample of original writing in English — a piece of academic or professional work, or a brief essay about a topic of the applicant's choice.

International students, in addition to satisfying the Graduate School's requirements for English language proficiency, must submit TOEFL or IELTS scores sufficiently high to meet program standards.

Advisors

The department's graduate director initially advises students and helps them find a thesis advisor. Students consult with their advisors as they prepare their course plans and consider thesis topics. The thesis advisor guides the student in preparing a thesis proposal, provides advice on the thesis research, and chairs the thesis committee. In consultation with the graduate director, students may change thesis advisors.

Courses and Credits

Students must take 30 graduate credits, at least 24 of which must be in courses offered by the Department of Journalism, Advertising, and Media Studies. Two courses are required of all students:

- JAMS 700 Introduction to Graduate Study in Mass Communication
- JAMS 701 Mass Communication Theory and Research Design

Students also must take at least two 800-level seminars offered by the Department of Journalism, Advertising, and Media Studies, and a minimum of 6 credits of JAMS 990, Research and Thesis.

Thesis

All students write a thesis based on original research. The thesis advisor chairs the thesis committee, which also includes two other members. The committee chair and at least one of the other committee members must be from the Department of Journalism, Advertising, and Media Studies. Normally, all members of a thesis committee will be members of the UWM graduate faculty. With the approval of the thesis advisor and the departmental graduate program committee, a student's thesis committee may include someone who is not a member of the UWM graduate faculty when such a person has at least a master's degree and greater expertise in the subject area than do available members of the graduate faculty.

The thesis advisor guides the student in writing a formal thesis proposal, which must be approved by the thesis committee. After the thesis proposal has been approved, the student carries out the proposed research.

The thesis committee evaluates the written thesis and conducts an oral examination at which the student defends his or her research. A student receives credit for the thesis only if all three members of the committee approve the thesis.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Degrees Conferred:
- Master of Music

Overview

The Department of Music offers a graduate program of study in music, preparing the student for a career in a performing area, music education, music history and literature, conducting, or theory and composition. The Master of Music program permits concentration in performance (voice or instrument), chamber music performance, conducting, music education, music history and literature, theory and composition, collaborative piano (vocal or instrumental), and string pedagogy. Students should consult the Department of Music for specific information regarding these concentrations.

M.M./MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, the Department of Music offers a M.M./MLIS coordinated degree program to prepare students for positions as music librarians. Students in the program will concurrently pursue a Master of Music degree program (with a concentration in Music History and Literature) and a Master of Library and Information Science degree program. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree. For more detailed information on this program see Concentration in Music History and Literature later in this section and the Library and Information Science section of the Bulletin.

Concentration in Instrumental or Vocal Performance, Chamber Music Performance, and Collaborative Piano

Applicant proposing concentration in Music Performance or Collaborative Piano must demonstrate outstanding performance skills.

An on-site audition is required; in extreme cases, recorded examples of an applicant's performance may be accepted in lieu of an in-person audition. Applicant should contact faculty in the appropriate performance area to inquire about specific audition repertoire and procedures.

Applicant proposing voice studies must demonstrate undergraduate study or other proficiency in two foreign languages. A voice diagnostic exam will be given at the audition in the areas of diction, literature, pedagogy and related vocal subjects to determine proficiency.

Concentration in Choral or Instrumental Conducting

A student must successfully pass an audition that demonstrates an advanced level of conducting skill to qualify for admission to the program.

Students may also have to pass other audition(s) in performance area(s), depending on their focus.

Students intending the Choral Conducting concentration will take the UWM Basic Diction MUSED249 Final Exam upon entrance into the M.M. degree program. If deficiencies are found, students will take Basic Diction, MUSED249 as a prerequisite course that will not count toward earned degree credits.

All applicants should contact the appropriate choral, wind ensemble/band, or orchestral faculty to inquire about specific audition and entrance exam procedures.

Concentration in Music Theory and Composition

Applicant should preferably have experience in computer notation, MIDI applications, theory, literature, and analysis.

Applicant must submit a portfolio of original compositions, which could include CD / DVD / computer software files / MIDI programs and must include at least one excerpt and one complete composition in conventional notation.

Applicant also could include the following: (1) copies of analytical research papers or presentations submitted or presented at regional or national theory, composition, or computer music conferences, and/or (2) computer-assisted analysis or presentations in such areas as Schenkerian analysis.
Concentration in Music Education
Applicant must have an undergraduate degree in music education with certification and teaching experience, except by special permission.
Applicant should contact faculty in the Music Education area to inquire about other entrance requirements.
An audition is required only if the applicant plans to take performance lessons, or if an audition is required for acceptance into an emphasis program (instrumental conducting or choral conducting).

Concentration in Music History and Literature
Applicant must have a reading knowledge of a language other than English, preferably German.
Applicant must submit two examples of written work (essays, research papers).

Concentration in String Pedagogy
Applicant should contact faculty in the appropriate string and String Pedagogy areas to inquire about audition and additional entrance requirements.

While prospective students are not required to submit Graduate Record Examination scores, they are strongly advised to take these tests before or early in their graduate work if they wish to be considered for a UWM Distinguished Graduate Student Fellowship or if they plan to continue their graduate work after completing a master's degree at UWM.

Diagnostic examinations in both music history and music theory are required of all entering and transferring graduate students before their first semester of study at UWM. Exceptions will be granted in extenuating circumstances. In no case will students be allowed to proceed beyond the first year of graduate study without having taken the diagnostic exams. These examinations assist the faculty in determining whether the student may proceed with required graduate courses, or whether they first need to remove deficiencies.
Applicants exhibiting deficiencies in music history will be required to enroll in Graduate Music History (Mus 704), and those exhibiting deficiencies in music theory will be required to enroll in Graduate Theory Foundations (Mus 703); these courses must be passed with a minimum grade of “B” or better. Additionally, other areas of deficiency may require further review.
Graduate Music History may count toward the degree as an elective. Credits earned in making up deficiencies in music theory do not count toward the degree. The following courses are recommended to fulfill the graduate theory elective requirement: Music 680, 731, 744.

Master of Science in Nonprofit Management and Leadership

Admission
To be admitted to the M.S. in Nonprofit Management and Leadership degree program, an applicant must meet Graduate School requirements.

During the admissions process, students will be asked to show evidence of having satisfactorily completed undergraduate or higher level foundation coursework in the principles of accounting and economics. Those students who are unable to show such evidence may be admitted with these academic deficiencies but will then meet with their respective academic advisors to identify and obtain approval for what they must do to remove these deficiencies.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Applicants must submit the following for review by the Graduate School and the Nonprofit Management Program Faculty Committee:

1. Official transcripts from all colleges or universities previously attended.
2. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic ability and/or professional achievements.
3. Scores from either the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT).
4. For those students whose native language is not English, minimum TOEFL score (Test of English as a Foreign Language) of 550 PBT or 79 iBT or minimum IELTS score (International English Language Testing System) of 6.5.
5. Each student's academic preparation is evaluated at the time of application. A personal interview may be required.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at the time of admission should immediately contact the Program Director.

Total Program
For the coordinated degree program, students will complete 85 degree credit hours. A student not completing the requirements for the coordinated degree program would need to complete all requirements of an individual program—MBA or DNP—in order to receive a degree.

DNP Clinical Project
The candidate will complete a final comprehensive clinical project as part of the residency experience which demonstrates the ability to implement the principles of evidence-based practice and translation under the direction of the major professor.

The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the clinical project. A candidate who does not pass this examination may apply for reexamination within one year from the initial examination date. This reexamination may occur only one time. A candidate who does not pass this examination within program time limits may be required to undergo another comprehensive preliminary examination and be readmitted to the program and/or candidacy.

Time Limit
Students in the coordinated MBA/DNP degree program must complete all degree requirements within seven years of the first enrollment semester as a degree student.

Doctor of Nursing Practice
There are two entry options for the Doctor of Nursing (DNP) Practice Program.

1. Program for individuals with a bachelor's degree in nursing and a current Registered Nurse license.
2. Program for individuals with an advanced practice master's degree in nursing and a current Registered Nurse license.

Admission
The admission requirements of the DNP program in Nursing are consistent with those requirements specified by the Graduate School of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. In addition, students must also meet the following requirements for the College of Nursing:

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following College of Nursing requirements to be considered for admission to the doctoral program in Nursing:

1. A bachelor's degree in Nursing from a professionally accredited program, with a minimum undergraduate grade point average of at least 2.75 (4.0 scale) for the post baccalaureate DNP option.
2. A master's degree in Nursing with an advanced practice focus from a professionally accredited program, with a minimum grade point average of 3.2 (4.0 scale) for the post master's DNP option.
3. Completion with a grade of C or higher of an upper-level undergraduate course in statistics.
4. Current registration as a professional nurse.
5. Completion of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) within the last five years.
6. Three (3) letters of recommendation for graduate study in nursing, two (2) of which are from persons most knowledgeable about the applicant's recent academic and work experiences.
7. Completion of an autobiographical sketch.
8. Personal interview with a faculty member may be requested.

These data are used by the Admissions Subcommittee as indicators of academic potential.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Reapplication
A student who receives a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the DNP.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The student is assigned to an initial advisor at the time of admission. The student, in consultation with the major professor, establishes a formal plan of study that is submitted to the College of Nursing Graduate Admission and Progression Committee for approval. For subsequent changes, the student must file a revised plan of study for approval by this committee.

The DNP program is offered to provide the highest academic preparation in clinical nursing. This is accomplished through core courses required of all students (30 credits) and completion of requirements for one of four clinical tracks. The following tracks are available:

Advanced Practice Nursing

- Family Nurse Practitioner

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
- Clinical Nurse Specialist (CNS) with options for focus in

Occupational Therapy

Phone: (414) 229-4713 | E-mail: stoffelv@uwm.edu

School/College: College of Health Sciences

Degrees Conferred:
- M.S. in Occupational Therapy

Overview
The Department of Occupational Science and Technology offers a Master of Science in Occupational Therapy that prepares students to become occupational therapists. During the program, students engage in graduate-level instruction embedded in the theory, research, and clinical underpinnings required to become evidence-based occupational therapy practitioners. Students may select a thesis option or project option in pursuing this degree. Students who are interested can choose to combine elective courses from the OT program with other courses on campus to receive the transcript-designated concentration in assistive technology and accessible design and/or ergonomics.

Graduates of the program are eligible to take the occupational therapist certification examination offered by the National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy. The Master of Science in Occupational Therapy Program is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Occupational Therapy Education (ACOTE) of the American Occupational Therapy Association (AOTA), located at 4720 Montgomery Lane, Suite 200, Bethesda, MD 20814-3449. ACOTE’s telephone number c/o AOTA is (301) 652-AOTA (2682) and its Web address is www.acoteonline.org.

All students admitted to the M.S. in Occupational Therapy degree program will be required to complete a Background Information Disclosure form (HFS64). A background check, which identifies a past criminal record, does not necessarily preclude an individual from pursuing studies in occupational therapy or becoming a successful practitioner. Should there be a discrepancy between the information reported by the student on HFS-64 and the reports issued by the Department of Justice and the Department of Health and Family Services, the student will be subject to dismissal from the occupational therapy program and reported to DHFS per HFS 12.20 (1)(c), Wis. Adm. Code.

Graduates of the master's program will be eligible to sit for the National Certification Examination for the Occupational Therapist administered by the National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy (NBCOT). After successful completion of this exam, the individual will be an Occupational Therapist, Registered (OTR). In addition, most states require licensure to practice; however state licenses are usually based on the results of the NBCOT Certification Examination. Candidates for the NBCOT Certification Examination will be asked to answer questions related to the topic of felonies when applying for the exam. For further information on these limitations and other certification requirements, contact NBCOT at www.nbcot.org or The National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy, 12 South Summit Avenue, Suite 100, Gaithersburg, MD 20877 (301) 990-7979. A felony conviction may affect a graduate's ability to sit for the NBCOT certification examination or attain state licensure.

For students applying to enter in Fall 2013 or Fall 2014, two options are available:
1. The B.S./M.S. Professional Entry Program (B.S. in Occupational Studies and M.S. in Occupational Therapy). Students applying to this option should contact the College of Health Sciences Student Affairs office (414 229-2758) for credit analysis, prerequisite information, and advising.
2. The M.S. OT Professional Entry Program (MS in Occupational Therapy). Students applying to this option should complete the Application to the M.S. OT Professional Entry Program and follow instructions related to admissions criteria and process indicated below.

Master of Fine Arts in Performing Arts: Dance

The Department of Dance offers graduate study leading to the Master of Fine Arts in Performing Arts—Dance. The program offers opportunity to hone technical skills, to explore personal intuition, imagination, and craft both in creating dance works and also in performing them, and to focus on critical areas of dance core studies.

Graduate choreographic projects may be pursued both on and off campus. Students may arrange to set works for schools, churches, galleries, community projects, and local dance companies, and are encouraged to discover new dance environments and resources. Two on-campus dance spaces, the Mainstage Theatre and the Mitchell Hall Studio 264, may be available for selected works during the year.

A block of on-campus and distance learning course work is available during the fall and spring semesters, in addition to the intensive summer graduate course offerings, which make the degree accessible to those whose full-time professional employment schedules require them to study at these non-traditional times.

Admission

Applicants who meet Graduate School requirements plus these program requirements may be admitted in good standing:

1. submission of a videotape or DVD of past or current performance and/or choreographic work.
2. submission of two letters of recommendation.

Applicants lacking in course background may be admitted with deficiencies on the condition that deficiencies be made up; credits earned in making up deficiencies do not count toward the master's degree.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise studies as specified in Graduate School regulations; the student may not register for any courses without this advisor's prior approval. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at the time of admission should immediately contact the Program Director.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement in Performing Arts—Dance is 60 credits distributed as follows, of which at least 6 must be in complementary studies.

- Dance Techniques and Somatics (Modern, African, Ballet, Alexander, Pilates, Yoga), 9-15 cr.
- Creating, Staging, and Performing Dance Works, 16-22 cr.
- Theory and Application of Dance, 12-18 cr.
- Electives in Complementary Studies, 6-14 cr.
- Final Project, 4-8 cr.

For those who began the program prior to summer 2008, the minimum degree requirement in Performing Arts—Dance is 48 credits, of which at least 6 must be in complementary studies. Students may distribute the required 48 credits of course work as follows:

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Final Project
Each student must undertake a final project of either one or two semesters duration (4-8 cr.). The project must be approved by the major advisor. The project may involve an array of challenging roles and/or production of choreographic work created by the student. These may occur in a variety of approved performance settings which may include on- or off-campus sites. The quality of performance and/or choreography will determine whether the degree is granted. This evaluation is made by the graduate faculty after the presentation of the final project. No comprehensive examination is required.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Master of Fine Arts in Performing Arts: Film
The Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres offers a graduate program in media arts practice. The curriculum is designed for serious and talented students who are preparing for careers as artists.

Facilities include a complete production studio, with all tools and services necessary for in-house film, digital video and sound work; photography and imaging labs; a digital studio for Internet projects, physical computing, interactivity and other forms of digital and media arts; and space for installation and performance projects. A special feature of the program is our excellent in-house processing facility for black-and-white reversal 16mm film.

In addition to a series of graduate seminars, students can choose from an array of elective options that include graduate production studios, conceptual studies courses, complementary studies from outside the department, professional practice opportunities in the field and U/G or G electives. Students are expected to originate and produce finished projects on a regular basis, culminating in a thesis presentation.

Admission
In order to be considered for admission to the program, an applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and submit original media-related work that demonstrates technical competence and creative promise.

An applicant whose grade point average or quality of work does not meet Graduate School and Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres program standards may be considered for admission on probation. Each student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The Graduate School and the Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres graduate program monitor the deficiencies. No course credits earned to make up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Transfer of Credits
With the approval of the Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres graduate program and the Graduate School, an applicant from another institution may be permitted to transfer up to 19 credits toward the total of 48 graduate credits required for the MFA degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
Each student chooses a major professor from the Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres graduate faculty to advise and supervise studies. In addition to the major professor, each student’s committee must contain a minimum of two Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres graduate faculty members. Any student electing a minimum of nine credits in either Conceptual or Complementary Studies must include a faculty member from that discipline on the committee as well.

Credits and Courses
The minimum Film-MFA degree requirement is 48 graduate credits, (18 cr required, 30 cr elective). It is recommended that students earn 12 credits each semester through full-time attendance on campus.

Film MFA Required Courses (18 credits)
710/ 712/ 714 Graduate Seminar (9 credits)
The Graduate Seminar provides students with the opportunity to interact and respond to each other’s works—in-progress on an ongoing basis. With faculty guidance, students help each other to articulate, refine and write about the ideas and meanings of their present work and to begin preparing for professional practices as artists. As such, the class features visits and presentations by established local, national and international artists, curators and critics working in the areas of film, video and new genres. Visits to museums, galleries, screenings and other events also constitute a significant part of this course.

730 (3 cr), 732 (6 cr) MFA Thesis Project (9 credits)
The graduate thesis is a substantial, year-long capstone project, (or group of smaller projects), worked on with the guidance of the student’s major professor.

Film MFA Elective Courses (30 credits)
With assistance and approval from the Director of Graduate Studies and their Graduate Advisor, entering students will design an individualized program of study based on the following elective courses.

720/ 722 Graduate Media Arts Workshop I/II (maximum of 9 credits)
Classes focus on conceptualization and production of student-initiated media arts projects.

900 Graduate Studio (maximum of 12 credits)
Graduate Studio provides for an ongoing critique of individual studio research in students’ chosen medium. Emphasis is on developing and maintaining an interdisciplinary dialogue. Along with studio research, individual and group critiques are required.

Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres Electives (maximum of 30 credits)
These are U/G and G classes in film, video & new genres that are regularly offered by the department, including topics such as 16mm film and video production, screenwriting, lighting, cinematography, audio production, animation, installation, performance and physical computing.

Conceptual Studies Electives (maximum of 12 credits)
Our Conceptual Studies program combines the study of media history, theory, and criticism with the practice of media production. Conceptual Studies credits can be combined with Complementary Studies credits to a maximum of 21 credits.

Complementary Studies (maximum of 9 credits)
These are UG courses offered outside the department that are relevant to a students proposed course of study. If courses inside the Department of Film, Video, Animation and New Genres are closely allied to an area of complementary study, such as Film courses in audio or photography and Music Department courses in electronic composition, they will count toward fulfillment of the Complementary Studies option. Students interested in Complementary Studies are encouraged to discuss their options with the Director of Graduate Studies and their major professor before enrolling in these courses.

700 Professional Practice (maximum of 9 credits)
Professional Practice is an internship or project done in connection with a media-related enterprise to develop specialized skills and practical experience in the field. It may also be carried out with a non-profit agency, using media as a form of community. Enrollment in a Professional Practice course must be endorsed by the student’s faculty advisor and approved by the Director of the Graduate Program.

Thesis Presentation
Upon recommendation of the major professor and advisory faculty, the student presents a thesis exhibition program of work executed since admission to the program. The exhibition may be held either during the semester in which the student completes coursework for the degree or during the following semester.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of the initial enrollment.

International Students
On completion of graduate studies, international students are eligible to apply for Optional Practical Training (OPT) for an additional year of practical work experience. If you are interested in OPT, please see an Immigration Coordinator at International Student and Scholar Services in the Center for International Education.

Philosophy

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate major in philosophy or other academic background judged suitable by the Department.
- Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Three letters of recommendation concerning academic qualifications.
- A sample of written work is recommended but not required.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. At time of admission, the student's program will be supervised by the Graduate Advisor.

A student planning to work beyond the master's program should select, in consultation with the advisor, courses which will develop broad philosophical competence. A student intending to terminate studies with the master's degree may plan a more specialized program.

Advisory Committee

During the first year in attendance, the student chooses an advisor and an advisory committee of three faculty members. The student's advisor serves as chair of this committee. The choice of committee is made in consultation with the student's advisor, and submitted to the Department's Graduate Studies Committee for approval. No later than the second week of the student's second semester in the program, the advisory committee meets with the student to discuss the individual's background in philosophy and goals in this program. By the end of the student's second semester the committee has conferred with the student's instructors and meets with the student to discuss that individual's progress in the program. At that time the student, together with the committee, plans the balance of the student's work in the program and how all requirements can best be met. The committee continues to gather information on the student's class work from the instructors, and at least once each semester meets with the student to discuss the student's continuing progress, future plans in the program and the meeting of departmental requirements. The student may at any time petition the Graduate Studies Committee for a change in the composition of the advisory committee.

History Requirement

Students taking Option A or B will be required to demonstrate competence in history of philosophy by passing 430 and 432 with a grade of B or better. The Graduate Studies Committee may certify competence if the student has as an undergraduate taken 430 and 432 at UWM within the past five years or has taken their equivalent as determined by the Committee. The determination may include an equivalency exam. Students selecting the language and linguistics concentration need only meet the requirement for 432.

Logic Requirement

The student is required to demonstrate competence in logic by passing 511 or 712 with a grade of B or better. The Graduate Committee may certify competence if within the last five years the student has taken 511 or 712 or has taken an equivalent course as determined by the Committee. The determination may include an equivalency exam.

Degree Alternatives

The Department of Philosophy offers three alternatives by which the Master of Arts degree in philosophy may be obtained: Option A, the non-thesis option; Option B, the thesis option; and a language and linguistics concentration with a thesis. There is no foreign language requirement for the completion of the Master of Arts degree in philosophy, though students are encouraged to develop proficiency in a foreign or classical language.

Option A: Non-thesis Option

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 30 credits in coursework, 21 of which must normally be in philosophy, 9 of which may be in related fields. All 30 credits must be earned with grades of B or better; and at least 12 must be in graduate seminars. (The Philosophy Department Graduate Studies Committee may permit students to count Philosophy 681 or 685 toward meeting this requirement, when the content and level of difficulty are equivalent to that of a graduate seminar).

A student proposing a program of study involving more than 9 credits of independent study, or fewer than 21 credits in philosophy courses, must gain specific approval of the student's advisory committee.

Every student choosing the non-thesis option takes a written exam of no longer than four hours on a philosophical area chosen by the student in consultation with the advisory committee. At least one full semester before the student is to take this exam, a specific list of primary and secondary sources to be covered on the exam is drawn up by the committee together with the student. The committee provides the student with sample questions.

Our research in gravitational physics is in several areas: In gravitational-wave astronomy, we play a leading role in the development for LIGO of templates to extract signals of gravitational-waves from the coalescence of binary neutron stars and from the stochastic background. In early cosmology, recent work includes renormalization methods to investigate inflationary models. In the quantum arena, work involves black-hole evaporation and information loss, and quantization of microscopic topological structures. In relativistic astrophysics we have established limits on the spin and mass of rotating neutron stars. Work in nuclear physics and particle physics includes a study incorporating gluon exchange and quark confining interactions into relativistic bound-state equations, and a study of production mechanisms for the Higgs boson and related intermediate mass bosons.

Research in theoretical physics also includes work in graph theory, fiber bundles, homotopy classes of diffeomorphisms, the quantum theory of measurement and black-hole entropy and information loss. Theoretical work in nonlinear dynamics and chaos concerns maps approximating dynamical systems.

Research in surface physics includes experimental work in electron microscopy, electron holography, electron diffraction, scanning tunneling microscopy and spectroscopy, atomic force microscopy, infrared spectroscopy, synchrotron radiation, and molecular beam epitaxy.

Theoretical work in surface physics focuses on the structure and dynamics of surfaces and interfaces. The theory groups have developed quantum mechanical multiple scattering theories for electron and positron diffraction, photoelectron diffraction, high-resolution electron-energy-loss spectroscopy, x-ray diffraction, and electron holography.

Experimental work in condensed matter physics also includes research in quantum transport phenomena and electromigration in mesoscopic systems, and superconductivity.

Experimental work in modern optics is being done with ultrafast lasers to study the dynamics of physical, chemical, and biological systems on the molecular and cellular level.

The student must pass a comprehensive oral examination, in part a defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Option 2: Non-thesis Option Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, 18 of which must normally be in physics and 6 of which may be in related fields. Of the 18 credits earned in the Department, at least 6 must be in physics courses numbered above 700, with the remainder in courses at least above 500; research, seminar and independent credits do not satisfy the 700 requirement.

Thesis
Not required.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive written or oral examination. The non-thesis master's Oral Examination should evaluate the student's achievements in graduate courses and fulfillment of the goals of the student's program of study. In particular, students should be familiar with the advanced as the material covered by the "core" courses (Physics 515, 531, 532, 711 and 720).

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The student plans an individual program of studies in consultation with the major professor. Coursework must include a minimum of 12 credits in physics graduate courses in the 700-999 levels (not including 711, 720, 721, or 990). A student may elect to complete one of the following minor programs: a minor of 9 to 12 credits in a single department; a minor of 12 credits in two or more departments. Traditional fields for the minor are mathematics, other natural sciences, computer sciences and engineering. In planning a minor in a single department, the student is advised by the minor professor; in planning a minor in two or more departments, the student is advised by the major professor. The program of study is to be chosen with the major professor and the departmental academic graduate committee.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Written Qualifying Examination
Prior to taking the oral doctoral preliminary examination, the student must pass a written qualifying examination which evaluates the student's general background in graduate-level physics. This examination is based on subject matter at least as advanced as the material covered by the non-thesis master's comprehensive examination. A student may not continue in the physics graduate program after 4.5 years without having passed this examination.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Proposal Hearing
The student must prepare a written proposal and pass an oral examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The oral examination primarily seeks to determine the student's preparation for independent research and the suitability of the proposed dissertation program. This examination shall be taken no later than four semesters after passing the written qualifying examination. However, no student will be required to take the oral examination earlier than the sixth semester of graduate work at UWM.

Dissertation
The candidate must present a dissertation reporting the results of an original and independent research investigation representing substantive creative contribution.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Master of Arts in Political Science

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Undergraduate major or substantial work in the field of political science.
2. Undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.0 (4.0 scale).
3. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's scholastic ability and achievements.
4. Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores. Applications will not be considered until scores are received.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The incoming student is advised by the chair of the departmental Graduate Committee; as the student develops specialized interests within the discipline, the student selects a major professor from within that area of specialization.

Political Science

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, 18 of which must be in political science and 6 of which may be in related fields; 18 credit hours of coursework must be taken at the 700 level or above. The Graduate Committee of the Department will consider requests that individual students' programs contain fewer credits at the 700 level or above.

All students will take three courses dealing with the scope and method of political inquiry.

Pol Sci 700 should be taken during the first semester.
Pol Sci 701 should be taken during the first semester.
Pol Sci 702 should be taken during the second semester.

Master's Paper
A formal thesis is not required. However, each student shall prepare and defend orally a paper which demonstrates conceptual ability and research competence in some recognized area (sub-field) of political science. It is expected that the master's paper will be prepared in a scholarly fashion, normally conforming to the format characteristic of journal articles published in the chosen area of study. A statement setting forth additional guidelines and criteria of evaluation will be made available.

For full-time students it is expected that the master's paper will be successfully defended prior to the completion of three semesters of graduate work. Consequently, the Department encourages students to choose paper topics for graduate seminars which may serve as the basis for the master's paper. Postponement of the oral defense of the master's paper beyond three semesters requires the approval of the Graduate Committee.

Comprehensive Examination
An oral defense of the master's paper is required. Master's papers will be defended orally before a three-person committee composed of one of the student's advisors and two other faculty members selected by the chair of the Department in consultation with the student and the advisor.

The committee will be selected at least one full semester prior to anticipated submission of the master's paper. The student must obtain committee approval of the research topic and methodology immediately following the selection of the committee.

A student may enroll for 3 credit hours of independent study for final preparation of the paper, subject to the approval of the Master's Committee.
Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Master's degree in political science.
2. Evidence of a high standard of achievement in graduate work at the master's level.
3. Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores, except for applicants receiving a M.A. degree from UWM.

In some instances where the applicant's record demonstrates exceptional promise, the Department will consider applications for admission to the Ph.D. program directly from the B.A. degree. Such admission does not constitute a waiver of any of the requirements indicated below.

All applicants for admission to the Ph.D. program will be evaluated on the basis of their prior academic record, scores on the Graduate Record Examination, and three letters of recommendation.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The incoming student is advised by the chair of the departmental Graduate Committee; as that student develops specialized interests within the discipline, the student selects a major professor from within that area of specialization.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM at the doctoral level.

Areas of Concentration
In consultation with the major professor, students plan a program of studies through which a high level of competence is gained in two substantive fields (hereafter referred to as "major" or "prelim" fields). The department offers five fields of study:

- American Politics
- Comparative Politics
- International Relations
- Political Theory
- Public Administration and Public Policy

In some cases, competence in foreign language skills is necessary for significant disciplinary research. Students may fulfill the research requirements, beyond Political Science 700, 701, and 702 through demonstration of a reading knowledge of one foreign language. Competence is established through examination, by an appropriate UWM language department. The student must perform at a level equivalent to six semesters of college-level work in the language.

Distribution Requirement
To ensure broad exposure to the discipline, students must take a minimum of three courses outside of their prelim fields, at least two of which must be in a single field. Courses used to satisfy this requirement must be taken from the departmental offerings in the five substantive fields described above. Courses that bridge two or more fields of study cannot be used to satisfy this requirement if one of those fields falls within a student's prelim areas.

- The major portion of work should be in political science courses numbered 700 or above. If approved by the Graduate Committee, a limited number of 300-699 level courses may also be included, although this is normally permitted only if necessary to overcome some deficiency in the student's prior preparation.

Core Research Requirements
Attainment of the Ph.D. denotes a high level of competence in research skills relevant to the discipline of political science. Thus, all students must complete the core departmental research seminars Political Science 700, 701, and 702. Since skills learned in these courses are important elements in dealing successfully with subject matter presented in other seminars, students should enroll in these seminars immediately upon entering the graduate program.

Students must earn at least three additional credits in research methodology from courses offered by the Department of Political Science or other departments. Students using a course from outside the Department of Political Science to satisfy this requirement may enroll on a "Credit/No Credit" basis, where the grade of "Credit" demonstrates satisfactory completion of the requirement. Upon successful petition to the departmental Graduate Committee, a student may gain exemption from this requirement, based on course work completed in the five years prior to entering the graduate program. Students who receive this exemption must still complete at least 27 credits in residence. Credits earned to meet the research requirement may count toward the 54 credits of work required for the Ph.D. if they carry graduate credit and are taken for a grade.

Evaluations of Student Progress
The Department annually evaluates the progress of each student, in order to identify areas of strength and weakness as an aid to the student and the student's major professor in planning the program of study. This evaluation is also used to determine whether or not the student should be encouraged to pursue further graduate work.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass a doctoral written and oral preliminary examination covering both of his or her fields of study. The preliminary exam is taken during the semester following the completion of coursework.

Dissertation
The candidate, working under the supervision of the major professor and the candidate's dissertation committee, must write an acceptable dissertation. A dissertation prospectus must be written during the last semester of coursework and will be defended at the end of the following semester as part of the preliminary examination. Guidelines for preparation of the dissertation are available from the Graduate School.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as a final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. The candidate who does not successfully defend a thesis within five years of admission to candidacy may be required to take another comprehensive preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Psychology

Ph.D. in Psychology graduate programs:

The Department of Psychology offers four degrees conferred:

- M.S. in Psychology
- Ph.D. in Psychology

Overview

The Department of Psychology offers four graduate programs:

Ph.D. in Psychology

- Clinical psychology program (accredited by the American Psychological Association), which includes earning the M.S. degree.
- Experimental psychology program with a choice of three areas of emphasis: behavior analysis, health and social psychology, or neuroscience. Includes earning the M.S. degree.

M.S. in Psychology

- Terminal experimental psychology program with a specialization in behavior analysis.
- Terminal experimental psychology program with a specialization in health psychology.

All programs train students in the facts, methodologies, and theories of psychology, with special emphasis on developing research competence. The department has well-equipped laboratories and an on-campus training clinic. The city of Milwaukee provides additional opportunities for training at hospitals, social service agencies, and the Medical College of Wisconsin.

Note that the department's doctoral programs are actually combined M.S./Ph.D. programs, although students who already have a master's degree in psychology are also encouraged to apply. If admitted, they will not be required to earn the M.S. at UWM if their master's degree included an empirically based thesis.

Transfer from clinical to experimental, or vice versa, requires reapplication. Although it is possible for the academic portion of the doctoral program to be completed in four years, most students require five or more years. Doctoral students are expected to be enrolled full time and to earn their Ph.D.'s within seven years of initial enrollment, exclusive of the one-year internship required in the clinical program.

Students seeking only master's-level training may apply to either the health psychology or the behavior analysis specializations; there are no other terminal master's programs in the Department of Psychology. Transfer from health psychology to behavior analysis, or vice versa, requires reapplication. It is possible to complete requirements for the M.S. in two or three years of full-time study. Part-time study is allowable, as long as the M.S. is earned within seven years of enrolling.

Students may not earn more than two degrees from the Department of Psychology at UWM. Therefore, students who earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from UWM are not eligible to apply for admission to the doctoral program unless they earned a master's degree in psychology elsewhere.

The department refers students interested in Counseling Psychology or School Psychology to the Department of Educational Psychology.

Psychology

Health psychology is concerned with the psychological variables that influence physical health and illness. The M.S. program in health psychology offers training in research and theories relevant to health promotion. The program of study consists of core health psychology coursework, research coursework, psychology breadth coursework, and an optional field placement. Current research topics include gender and health, cancer prevention and health education, reproductive health and STD prevention, patient advocacy and self-care behaviors, the effects of stress and mechanisms of coping with it, and child abuse prevention. Advising and the Major Professor
Graduate School and departmental regulations require students to have a major professor to direct their research activities. It is important for students to start their research early in their graduate studies. Admits are assigned to a major professor they have chosen during the admissions process.

Before the end of the second semester, the student must form an advisory committee of three departmental faculty members, including the student's major professor. Students are free to change their major professor at any time. The Department also provides a Graduate Program Coordinator, who advises about courses and program requirements and who approves programs of study. The Graduate Program Coordinator is also available to help students who wish to change their major professors to find new ones.

Credits and Courses: General Psychology Track
Students in the general psychology track must be simultaneously enrolled in the doctoral program. The minimum requirement for the M.S. is 30 graduate credits of psychology, 24 of which must be earned in formal coursework (excluding practica) and 6 of which must be earned through an acceptable thesis.

Thesis
The student, under the direction of an advisor, must develop an acceptable thesis based on empirical research. The student must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within three years of initial enrollment.

Credits and Courses: Specialization in Health Psychology

Lab course in research methods of psychology, and an advanced laboratory course in psychology. Students with one of these courses are eligible to apply, but the two remaining courses would have to be completed within three semesters of enrollment. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Students satisfying only this very minimal requirement should understand that additional work may be required to enroll in specific graduate-level courses.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Psych 510 Advanced Psychological Statistics
Psych 610 Experimental Design
Psych 620 Single-Subject Research Methods

Six credits in 790 Master's Research
Depending on students' goals and the advice of their advisors, they also may enroll in Psych 730 (Practicum in Behavior Analysis).

Thesis or Project
The student, under the direction of his or her major professor, must develop an empirical thesis or empirical project, which the student must defend in an oral examination. Students focusing on basic studies complete a thesis. Depending on the recommendation of their advisors, students focusing on applied studies complete either a thesis or a project that demonstrates their competence at delivering services.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Psychology Application
Application must be made to both the Graduate School and the Department of Psychology. In addition to materials required by the Graduate School, the applicant should submit to the Graduate Admissions Committee of the Department of Psychology transcripts of all undergraduate and previous graduate work (although the Graduate School requires official copies, the Department accepts unofficial copies); GRE examination scores; letters of recommendation; and the completed departmental application form. Applicants are admitted only at the beginning of each academic year. Applications should be submitted by December 5 (clinical doctoral program) or December 31 (other graduate programs). Important: It is essential to consult the department's website for application forms and important information, including the departmental admissions brochure: http://www4.uwm.edu/letsci/psychology/graduate/gradapp.cfm

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

1. Completion of an undergraduate major in psychology (or neuroscience).
2. Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
3. Receipt of a positive recommendation by the Admissions Committee.

Admission is based on evaluation of an applicant's entire record. In evaluating each application, the Admissions Committee examines such factors as GRE scores, grades, research record (e.g., research apprenticeships, publications, presentations, and senior or honors theses), and letters of recommendation.

Students without an undergraduate major in psychology (or neuroscience) may be considered for admission provided the following courses are completed: introductory statistics, a laboratory course in research methods of psychology, and an advanced laboratory course in psychology. Students with one of these courses are eligible to apply, but the two remaining courses would have to be completed within three semesters of enrollment. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Students satisfying only this very minimal requirement should understand that additional work may be required to enroll in specific graduate-level courses.

As part of their doctoral requirements, Ph.D. students must earn a master's degree in psychology that includes a thesis derived from empirical research; they do this by fulfilling the requirements of the "General Psychology Track" for the M.S. degree, described above, while enrolled simultaneously in the Ph.D. program. An exception is that students who already have earned a master's degree based on an empirical thesis in psychology or neuroscience from another college or university are exempt from the requirement of earning the M.S. in our department.

Advising and the Major Professor
Graduate School and departmental regulations require students to have a major professor to direct their research activities. Entering students are assigned to the major professor they have chosen during the admissions process. Students are free to change their major professor at any time. The Department provides a Graduate Program Coordinator, who advises about courses and program requirements and who approves programs of study. The Graduate Program Coordinator also is available to help any student who wishes to change his/her major professor.

Course of Study
The minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor’s degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM.

An experimental major is a program of integrated study. Each departmental major consists of designated courses as listed in the department's Doctoral Student Handbook.

About the Major in Neuroscience
Neuroscience is an interdisciplinary field devoted to the study of the nervous system. The major is designed to provide students with the intellectual and technical skills necessary for a productive career in academics or industry. The core faculty members are located in the psychology and biological sciences departments, and graduate students have frequent interactions with the faculty, postdoctoral fellows, and other students through coursework, research collaborations, and weekly seminars. Students also are part of the greater Milwaukee Area Neuroscience group, which includes faculty members and students from UWM, the Medical College of Wisconsin, and Marquette University. Students majoring in neuroscience learn a wide range of techniques working with laboratory animals and human subjects. These include, but are not limited to, experimental design, behavioral testing and analysis, neurophysiology, aseptic surgical techniques, quantitative protein and mRNA assays, immunohistochemistry, and functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI). Current research topics investigated by faculty members and students include cellular and molecular mechanisms of learning and memory; mapping brain areas involved in memory and emotion in humans and rodents using fMRI; effects of exercise on cerebral blood flow; mechanisms of recovery from brain damage; effects of aging on learning and memory; and the role of calcium and calcium-binding proteins in ischemic cell death.

About the Major in Health and Social Psychology
Health psychology, which is concerned with the psychological variables that influence physical health and illness, has become a dominant force in the health sciences, a field to which social psychological theories and research have much to offer. The major in health and social psychology offers training in research and theories relevant to health promotion. Faculty members and students work together on projects focused on gender and health, cancer prevention and health education, reproductive health and STD prevention, patient advocacy and self-care behaviors, the effects of stress and mechanisms of coping with it, and child abuse prevention. Research is conducted in the laboratory as well as in clinical settings, and many members of the faculty have strong ties to the Milwaukee community.

About the Major in Behavior Analysis
Behavior analysis emphasizes environmental control of the behavior of the individual organism. The major in behavior analysis provides broad theoretical, conceptual, and research training. Students enrolled in this doctoral program may focus on the experimental or applied analysis of behavior. Students and faculty members work together to investigate the fundamental relations between an organism's behavior and environmental events as well as techniques to apply these basic findings to a variety of situations in which a change in behavior is desired. Current research projects include translational research on self-awareness; procedures to enhance students' verbal skills (as in acquiring a second language and writing concisely); and treatment of individuals with developmental disabilities, including autism.

The Behavior Analysis Certification Board, Inc® has approved our course sequence as meeting the coursework requirements for eligibility to take the Board Certified Behavior Analyst Examination® to become BCBA's (nationally) and licensed behavior analysts (in Wisconsin). The BACB® also requires applicants to be experienced in providing behavior-analytic services. We have developed relationships with local providers to assist students in completing their practicum hours.

Departmental Minors
Students in the clinical program complete one departmental minor, and students in the experimental program complete two departmental minors if they are majoring in health and social psychology or neuroscience, or one departmental minor if they are majoring in behavior analysis. Departmental minors are chosen in consultation with the major professor from among the following areas:

- Neuroscience
- Cognition and perception
- Behavior analysis
- Health and social psychology
- Developmental psychology
- Psychopathology (experimental students only)
- Quantitative methods
- Neurobiology (neuroscience students only)

Note that quantitative methods and neurobiology, although counted as departmental minors, actually involve extradepartmental coursework. Each departmental minor consists of designated courses as listed in the department's Doctoral Student Handbook.

Statistics, Research Design, and History of Psychology Requirements
All students must complete advanced statistics (Psych 510) and experimental design (Psych 610). Clinical students, but not experimental students, must complete history of psychology (Psych 750).

Breadth Requirement
Experimental students must complete one psychology course in an area other than their major and minor areas. Clinical students follow American Psychological Association (APA) requirements and complete one course from each of the following areas:

- Biological bases of behavior
- Cognitive/affective bases of behavior
- Social bases of behavior

Clinical students may count coursework in their departmental minor toward a breadth requirement, if appropriate.

Multicultural Requirement
Clinical students must complete a course in multicultural issues in clinical or counseling psychology.

Developmental Psychology Requirement
Clinical students must complete a graduate-level lifespan developmental psychology course (Psych 762).

Extradepartmental Minors and Certificates (optional)
If they wish, and with the approval of their major professors, students may complete, in another department, a coherent program of at least 8 graduate credits

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
(undergraduate/graduate courses taken for graduate credit apply). They may also, if they wish, complete one or more graduate certificate programs.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements. Please note the requirement of earning at least 27 graduate credits at UWM. For more information on residence, see the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements page.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Students must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examination focuses on the student's major area of study and can be taken only after the master's degree has been earned and all relevant coursework has been completed satisfactorily. Specific guidelines for preliminary examinations in the various major areas can be found in the department's Doctoral Student Handbook.

Clinical Internship Requirement
With the approval of the department's Clinical Training Committee, clinical students are eligible to begin a required one-year, 2,000-hour internship after they have passed the preliminary examination and the doctoral dissertation proposal hearing.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must write a dissertation that demonstrates the ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation.

Final Oral Examination
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment (four years if entering with a master's degree), excluding internship.

Overview
The College of Letters and Science and the Lubar School of Business offer and present jointly the Master of Public Administration (MPA).

The program is designed to provide theoretical and practical preparation for careers in public and non-profit administration with three areas of concentration: municipal management, general public administration, and non-profit management.

MPA/MUP Program
A coordinated degree program has been designed to allow students to obtain both the Master of Public Administration and the Master of Urban Planning degrees concurrently.

This program is intended to combine professional training in planning with applied administrative and managerial skills. The MPA/MUP requirements are described later in this section.

Master of Public Administration
Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and hold a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university to be considered for admission.

There are no fixed prerequisites in terms of prior academic training; but background in public administration, American governmental institutions, economics, statistics, and computer applications in social science is beneficial. Each student's academic preparation is evaluated at the time of application. A personal interview may be required.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

The MPA program requirements to be considered for admission are:

1. An undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.0 (4.0 scale).
2. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's academic ability and achievement.
3. Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT).

Candidates seeking admission to the MPA/MUP program must apply to and be admitted to both programs. The requirements for admission to the MUP program are detailed in the Urban Planning section of this Bulletin.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations.

A student who is not assigned to an advisor at the time of admission should immediately contact the Program Director.

Credits and Courses
The Master of Public Administration degree requires satisfactory completion of 39-42 credits of prescribed graduate study and appropriate coursework.

Minimum Grade Requirements in the Core Courses
In order to demonstrate mastery of the critical Core Course material, MPA students must achieve a grade point average of 3.0 in the six Core Courses, and, regardless of average, students must earn a grade of B- or better in each Core Course. If a grade of C+ or lower is earned in any Core Course, that course must be repeated in an effort to earn the minimum grade of B-. If the student's grade point average in the six Core Courses is below 3.0, the student must repeat one or more Core Courses in which a grade of lower than B was earned in an effort to establish a grade point average of 3.0 in the Core. (For purposes of this requirement, the grade point average for the Core Courses will be calculated on the basis of only the highest grade earned; that is, the grade earned in the first attempt at a Core Course will not be averaged with the grade earned in the repeat.)

Credits and Courses: Core
Students entering the MPA program will be placed, at the discretion of the MPA Director, in one of two tracks (A or B) within the core. The minimum degree requirement is 39 credits for Track A students and 42 credits for Track B students.

Overview
The Zilber School of Public Health offers a Master of Public Health (MPH). The MPH is a professional master’s program. This program provides students with a broad understanding of public health practice with specialty tracks currently available in the areas of environmental and occupational health and community and behavioral health promotion. The MPH degree program prepares students for professional public health practice by building practical knowledge and skills, including the applied use of public health research, and program planning, implementation, and evaluation. Students learn to address complex public health challenges, including environmental health risk reduction, teenage pregnancy prevention, and the promotion of healthy social and physical environments. The program has a specific emphasis on health equity, social and environmental justice, and community partnerships.

The MPH curriculum provides basic and elective courses in Environmental and Occupational Health, Community and Behavioral Health Promotion, Public Health Policy and Administration, Epidemiology, and Biostatistics. Knowledge and skills in these core disciplines in public health help prepare students to analyze information and consider solutions to public health problems at the community, institutional, and societal levels. Cross-cutting competencies are separated into seven categories: communications/informatics, diversity/culture, leadership, professionalism, program planning/evaluation, public health biology, and systems thinking. Courses have been designed to fulfill competencies as outlined by the Association of Schools of Public Health (ASPH).

Master of Public Health

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following program requirements to be considered for admission to the program.

1. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant’s academic experience and potential for graduate work in public health
2. Submission of scores from the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) taken within the last five years.

The admissions committee may consider GMAT, LSAT, MCAT scores in place of GRE scores.

These materials will be considered in a holistic admissions process with special attention to ensure a diverse student body.

Prior to the start of classes in the first semester, students will be required to take diagnostic exams with content relevant to Biostatistics to assess their placement in statistics/biostatistics at initial enrollment. These exams will be administered by the Biostatistics division within the School prior to the start of each semester. Students will work with their advisors to choose appropriate coursework and to determine a plan of study. For admitted students who score below the division-set criterion on the diagnostic exam, advisors may suggest one or more prerequisite course(s) to best prepare students to succeed in MPH common core coursework.

Students will specify a chosen track during the application process. Successful applicants to the Environmental and Occupational track will have upper-level chemistry, biology, and mathematics through at least one semester of calculus.

Advisor
The student must have a faculty member to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Each student will be assigned a faculty advisor, who will typically be the student’s mentor. The advisor will assist the student in the development of an individual course of study designed to advance the career goals of the student and consistent with SPH accreditation requirements.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Administrative offices of the School of Public Health also have staff assigned on policies and procedures for admission, academic progression, and graduation.

Credits and Courses
All MPH students must develop skills in basic public health concepts and demonstrate the application of these concepts through a practice experience that is relevant to the students’ areas of specialization (or track of study). MPH students will take a common core curriculum of at least 24 credit hours, including a 3–5 credit practice/field experience and a 2 credit culminating experience, as well as a variable number of track-specific credit hours. Students must earn a cumulative G.P.A. of 3.0 or better to progress, and students must earn a B- or better in all required coursework.

Field Experience

PH 790 Field Experience (1-5 credits, Pass/Fail)

A planned, supervised, and evaluated practice experience related to a student’s track in the MPH program and professional interests. All students enrolled in the MPH program are expected to complete a minimum of 3 credits of practice experience in a government or non-governmental agency or organization (including community-based organizations and other not-for profit agencies) involved in public health activities. Many students may choose to complete their field experience working in participating local health department settings, local federally qualified health centers, or community-based organizations with public health-related programs and services with qualified preceptors. The over-arching objectives of the practice experience are:

- To help students further develop skills or competencies learned in their coursework by applying them in a public health practice setting.
- To provide a means for acquiring practical skills that are useful to public health professions and that are not available solely through academic instruction.
- To link the classroom experience to the core functions of public health practice setting.
- To understand the political, economic, environmental, social and organizational contexts within which public health activities are conducted.

Students will enroll in PH 790 Field Experience for 1 to 5 credit hours (65 contact hours being equivalent to 1 graduate credit for a total of at least 200 contact hours).

Capstone

PH 800 Capstone/Culminating Experience (2 credits, Pass/Fail), completed in the final year of study

The capstone seminar offers students the opportunity to integrate their academic and professional work in the MPH through an individual project that will include both written and oral presentation components. The project should relate to the student’s professional and career interests, and the capstone experience “must be used as a means by which faculty judge whether the student has mastered the body of knowledge and can demonstrate proficiency in the required competencies,” according to the Council on Education Public Health accreditation criteria.

Thesis

Not required. See capstone for similar culminating experience.

Comprehensive Examination

Not required. See capstone for similar culminating experience.

Public Health

(Ph.D. with a Concentration in Community and Behavioral Health Promotion)

School/College: Joseph J. Zilber School of Public Health

Degrees Conferred:
- Ph.D. in Public Health with a Concentration in Community and Behavioral Health Promotion
- Master of Public Health (MPH)
- Ph.D. in Environmental and Occupational Health

Overview

The Zilber School of Public Health offers a Master of Public Health (MPH), a Ph.D. in Public Health with a Concentration in Community and Behavioral Health Promotion, and a Ph.D. in Environmental and Occupational Health.

Offered by UW-Milwaukee’s Joseph J. Zilber School of Public Health, the Community and Behavioral Health Promotion (CBHP) doctoral program is designed to train students in social and behavioral science aspects of public health research and intervention with a particular emphasis on the development of community-level interventions. Faculty interest areas include: maternal, infant, and child health; health disparities; obesity; nutrition; food security; HIV and STD prevention; adolescent health; violence prevention; substance abuse prevention; creating healthy environments; and promoting mental health.

Students entering the program will be trained at the graduate level in health promotion from a public health perspective. Students will also have exposure to other key areas of public health (environmental health, epidemiology, biostatistics, and policy and administration), which will allow them to be integrated into the broader public health profession upon graduation. The Ph.D. in Public Health with a concentration in CBHP requires 66 course credits beyond the Bachelor’s degree. Course work includes core courses as outlined below (18 credits), advanced methods courses, electives, and credits taken as pre-dissertation research supporting CBHP faculty research. In addition, students will prepare for public health leadership through their own original research.

Student research in community and behavioral health promotion may focus on the social and behavioral determinants of disease and injury, the interaction of social and behavioral factors with other disease susceptibility or health promoting factors, or on interventions that seek to improve health through social and behavioral strategies within a community.

This program aligns with UWM's mission to further academic opportunities at all levels for women, minority, part-time students, and financially or educationally disadvantaged students. In addition, the program consistently strives for diversity within its faculty ranks to achieve the University's goal for cultural competency in teaching and learning.

Doctor of Philosophy in Public Health with a Concentration in Community and Behavioral Health Promotion

Admission Requirements

Applicants to the Ph.D. program in Public Health should have completed academic programs that facilitated development of solid analytical and communication skills. Applicable baccalaureate programs include those in the social and behavioral sciences, health and health-related sciences, and biological sciences. Baccalaureate degrees in related fields will be considered. At least one statistics course is preferred for admission. A minimum undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 (A=4.00) is preferred.

While a completed master's degree in public health or the social and behavioral sciences is encouraged, a master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission. For those applicants without a master's degree in a relevant field, most successful candidates will have work, research and/or volunteer experiences that contribute to career development in community health and health promotion. Demonstrated communication and analytic skills are required.

Applicants from diverse backgrounds with a strong interest in community health and health promotion are encouraged to apply. Each application will be evaluated individually on the basis of four key areas:

1. Academic record/achievement.
2. Work, research, and/or community experience.
3. Commitment/interest/awareness of public health and community health promotion.
4. Matching interest with current Community and Behavioral Promotion faculty.

Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores are required of all applicants. Submitted test scores must be from a test taken within 5 years of the date of application. For the GRE, only scores from the general test (verbal, quantitative, analytical writing) are required. While we do not have a minimum GRE score requirement, strong quantitative, verbal and writing skills are critical to successfully completing the program. Admitted candidates will typically score above 500 (153 revised test) in verbal reasoning, 600 (148 revised test) in quantitative reasoning and 4.5 in analytical writing.

Students must meet UWM Graduate School admission requirements. For international applicants whose native language is not English, the UW-Milwaukee Center for International Education Web site (http://www4.uwm.edu/cie/futurestudents/69/) provides English Language Proficiency Requirements including required TOEFL or IELTS scores, and students who attended an international university must also pay an additional fee for evaluation of international transcripts.

In addition, a personal statement, writing sample, résumé and at least three letters of recommendation from individuals familiar with the applicant’s scholarship, research achievements, and/or academic potential are required for the application. The letters of recommendation should address the candidate’s potential for achievement in a graduate program in public health from an academic as well as personal (e.g.,

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Ph.D. Health before continuing studies toward the Health degree must formally reapply to the Graduate Program Committee. The student must have graduate faculty status. The major professor if the fit and focus changes over program planning, and research design. Students may change their advisor/major professor at admission based as specified in Graduate School regulations. The student must have a major professor to guide the student in course selection, on fit and focus. The major professor serves as the primary advisor, and practicum credits must be completed at UW-Milwaukee in doctoral status in accordance with Graduate School policy. Thesis, dissertation, research, independent study, and practicum credits must be completed at UW-Milwaukee.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering student is assigned an advisor/major professor at admission based on fit and focus. The major professor serves as the student's research mentor and will guide the student in course selection, program planning, and research design. Students may change their advisor/major professor if the fit and focus changes over time. Such changes will need approval of the graduate program committee. The major professor must have graduate faculty status.

Reapplication
A student who receives the Master of Public Health degree must formally reapply to the Zilber School of Public Health to gain admission to the Ph.D. program in Public Health before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Course of Study
A minimum of 66 credits of coursework beyond the bachelor's level must be completed to earn the degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UW-Milwaukee. The course list consists of required common Ph.D. core courses, CBHP core courses, methods courses, advanced CBHP coursework, and elective courses. Also, students will be required to complete six credits of supervised research under the tutelage of the primary advisor prior to the required dissertation research requirement. This is to ensure that all students obtain hands-on, supervised research training. After achieving dissertation status, students will enroll in three research credits per semester for at least two semesters.

The assemblage of elective courses is not exhaustive but reflects a starting point for the new program. With few exceptions, all of the courses are graduate-level courses. Those that are designated as Undergraduate/Graduate (U/G) classes are taught at the level of advanced undergraduate students, but include additional material and assignments consistent with graduate-level curricula.

Preliminary/Qualifying Exam Process
Students must successfully complete a preliminary examination process before formally becoming candidates for this doctoral degree. The preliminary exam involves completing two projects:

1. An integrative review paper on a topic that is relevant to the student's primary research interests (and future dissertation topic) and broadly consistent with the mission of the School.
2. A public health "case study" project focusing on a specific policy proposal or health promotion problem.

Both projects must include a thorough integrative review of current relevant methodology. Together these projects will be used to assess the student's knowledge of public health theory and research methods, competence in the application of theory and research to policy and promotion, and ability to address a specific problem. Both projects will be developed in a research-focused, interdisciplinary team. In addition to the written projects, there will be an oral component in which students meet with a comprehensive exam committee for 60-90 minutes to address questions regarding both the case study and integrative paper. Students will be asked to articulate how these written products demonstrate both general and specific PH and CBHP competencies. The process through which a CBHP student is admitted to doctoral candidacy is directly tied to program expectations regarding scholarship and academic competencies.

Specifically, the design of the integrative review project will allow the student to demonstrate his or her ability to synthesize, integrate, and evaluate a broad base of research and theory pertaining to a selected area of public health. The case study project allows the student to demonstrate his or her skills in "translational" scholarship, defined as the capacity to integrate public health research and practice. The case study should focus on linking the student's primary area of research interest to the enterprise of public health promotion, broadly defined as...

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Dissertation Process

The student will concentrate on the attempt with all or part of the examination. The preliminary examination process must be completed no later than the end of the fifth year of study.

Although publication is not a requirement for the completion of these projects, both final products should be of “publishable” quality, as determined by the review committee.

Students will not be admitted to doctoral candidacy until they have completed the research and case study projects and the oral exam. Once the student has been admitted to doctoral candidacy, the dissertation committee may be formed. The preliminary examination process must be completed no later than the end of the fifth year of study.

It is important to note that good faith efforts will be made by the faculty advisor and committee members to ensure that students are prepared for the preliminary exams and will meet the expectations of the program. The preparatory phase may include additional methodological or theoretical coursework and/or specialized readings as necessary.

At the discretion of the examining committee, a student who fails the qualifying process may be allowed one additional attempt with all or part of the examination. After successful completion of the qualifying process, the student will concentrate on the development of the dissertation.

Dissertation Process

In consultation with his or her primary faculty advisor, the candidate will develop a dissertation research plan and form a dissertation advisory committee. The composition of the dissertation committee must be in compliance with the rules and regulations of the Graduate School. The candidate then submits a written dissertation plan to be reviewed and formally approved by the dissertation advisory committee. The research plan must clearly outline the student’s obligation for completing an original piece of work of sufficient quality, which is to be determined by the committee. The review and approval process will include a formal presentation to the committee.

Once the dissertation research and write up has been completed, the candidate submits the original work to the committee for review. In addition, the candidate must orally defend the dissertation document, including the research design, analysis and conclusion. The dissertation defense will be publically announced and open to the academic community. Once the defense is completed, students will be encouraged to revise their dissertation and submit it for publication.

Once the committee has formally approved the dissertation document and the oral defense, and the Chair of the CBHP Program has certified completion of all requirements, the candidate is awarded the Ph.D. in Public Health with a Concentration in Community and Behavioral Health Promotion.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

HBSSW offers students access to the University computer system, special interview training rooms, and specialized audiovisual materials.

Master in Social Work (MSW)
The MSW curriculum is designed to prepare students for advanced-level professional Social Work practice, and builds upon a solid base of coursework in human behavior, practice methods, research, and policy. The MSW program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education and can prepare students for state certification requirements.

Specializations

- Health Promotion and Risk Reduction
- Aging
- Gerontology
- Child Welfare
- Work and Organizational Psychology
- Community Practice

Concentration Areas

Physical, Behavioral, and Mental Health
The behavioral and physical health concentration is designed to prepare students for advanced social work practice involving the delivery of health, mental health, and addictions services to individuals, families, small groups, and the community. Students are exposed to issues, approaches, and technologies for application in prevention, treatment, administration, and policy. These are related to risks and problems with: alcohol and other drugs, mental health and mental illness, intimate partner violence, community violence, cognitive and physical disabilities, physical illness, and other behavioral health concerns across the lifespan. Coursework provides students with knowledge, values, and skills to prepare them for professional practice in a variety of private and public settings related to physical health, mental health, addictions, and substance abuse.

Gerontology
The concentration in gerontology is designed to aid students in understanding the complexity of the aging process from the perspective of the individual, family, society, and social policy. The concentration will cover the physical, psychological, and social processes of aging—including family roles and responsibilities, cultural diversity, social support networks, and the use of health and social services. Major developmental issues during the second half of life will be presented and interventions to facilitate adaptation to developmental change will be described. Coursework will enable students to: understand late-life mental disorders; develop assessment skills; formulate, implement, and evaluate treatment plans; and, become aware of issues related to age and ageism as they influence social work practice.

Child and Family Welfare
The social work profession has a long history of commitment to ensuring the welfare of children. Furthermore, professionals recognize the family system as being significant in the lives of children. The family system, in its various forms, represents a significant social institution, essential to communities and to society as a whole. This concentration focuses on the study of family systems, child and family welfare, and interventions to enhance the lives of children and families. Students in this concentration develop the advanced practice knowledge and skills necessary to provide services to children and families in a wide variety of settings.

Practice Method Areas

Direct Practice
By providing advanced-level knowledge and skills to address the changing impact of interpersonal and social problems, this specialty prepares students who are interested in using direct practice to help individuals, families, and groups.

Macro Practice
This method is for students who are interested in planned change with organizations and communities. Students will prepare for roles in planning, policy, administration, program development and community practice.

Double Methods
Students who are interested in gaining knowledge and skills relevant to both Direct Practice and Macro Practice techniques and settings may choose a “Double Methods” sequence. This combination of methods tracks may require up to an additional semester of coursework. Four semesters of Field Placement are required with two semesters of Direct Practice experience and two semesters of Macro Practice experience. Students who have interests that range from direct social work practice to more administrative social work roles will benefit from this option.

Master of Arts in Women’s Studies / Master of Social Work coordinated degree program
The College of Letters and Science and the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare collaboratively offer a coordinated program designed to provide students with theoretical and practical exposure to evolving professional practice and the field of feminist research and scholarship. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

Doctoral Program
The goals and objectives of the doctoral program reflect the Department’s concern with urban social problems, social and economic equity and well-being, cultural diversity, and the empowerment of individuals, families, organizations, and communities. The program is designed to prepare students to become leaders and researchers in the field of social work.
communities to effect change. The program will prepare students to make significant contributions to social work education and the knowledge base of the profession.

The program emphasizes three areas of specialization: Addiction and Behavioral Health, Applied Gerontology, and Family and Child Welfare.

Course credits acquired by satisfying deficiencies are not counted as program credits required for the degree.

Faculty Advisor

All students must have a faculty member within their area of specialized concentration to advise and supervise their studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Students must develop, in consultation with the advisor, a written plan of study, including selection of the specialized concentration and practice method areas. Students who are not assigned an advisor at the time of their admission should contact the Assistant Dean of HBSSW for assignment. Students may elect to change advisor contingent upon the new advisor's appropriateness to the area of specialized concentration, the advisor's acceptance of additional advisees, and formal notification to the office of the Assistant Dean of HBSSW.

Non-degree Students

UWM non-degree students may earn credits which, if appropriate, may be counted toward a degree at a later date. Non-degree students may enroll in 12 credits of the Professional Foundation courses with the exception of field education (721), and in courses for 12 credits of which prerequisites can be satisfied. Non-degree students may not enroll in field education or advanced curriculum practice methods courses (711, 713, 721, 722, 811, 820, 821, 822, 915). Students should contact the Graduate School for information and regulations on non-degree status as well as the HBSSW advising office prior to enrolling for social work courses under the non-degree classification.

Students who have, within the 5 years preceding admission, completed course work which substantially duplicates Professional Foundation courses may apply to the Chair of the Social Work Department for an exemption from the relevant courses. Exemption examinations are also offered on a scheduled basis for these courses. Exemption of the field experience (721) may be permitted under special employment experience circumstances and only by permission of the Director of Field Programs. Students interested in securing an exemption should request course exemption forms upon notification of admission to the program. All requests for exemptions must be made at the time of initial enrollment. Exemption requests will not be accepted following the end of the first semester of coursework.

Course of Study
A minimum degree of 43 graduate credits beyond the master's degree are required, at least 36 of which must be earned in residence at UWM.

Specialization Seminars (11-12 credits)
The curriculum includes three areas of specialization: Addiction and Behavioral Health, Applied Gerontology, and Family and Child Welfare. Each student must select at least one of these areas in which to concentrate. In consultation with the major professor, a student may also choose to develop expertise that spans more than one area.

Content in these three specialization areas is presented in the form of specialization seminars. All students must take at least three specialization seminars within the department and at least one relevant course external to the department; the external course must be from a list of courses approved for this purpose or a student's unique request approved by the doctoral program committee. At least two courses, including one internal and one external course, must be in the student's area of specialization, and at least one course internal to the department must be in an area other than the student's primary specialization. All specialization courses outside the department must be approved by the student's major professor prior to enrollment.

- SocWrk 945 - Family and Long-Term Care Across the Life Course (Applied Gerontology specialization)

Methods of Inquiry and Analysis (19 credits total)
Content in this area comprises a set of required courses in methods of social/behavioral research and statistics. Students are expected to enter the program with at least a basic background in both methods and statistics and may need to satisfy prerequisites before proceeding to required courses.

Research Methods

Preliminary Examination

All students must pass a preliminary examination subsequent to successfully completing all required coursework and prior to being admitted to doctoral candidacy (see gradschool.uwm.edu/students/current/doctoral/). The examination assesses students’ ability to articulate their research interests, analyze and synthesize empirical knowledge and relevant theoretical concepts, explain how theory may affect the generation of knowledge, and show familiarity with relevant scientific methodologies. In keeping with Graduate School rules, the preliminary examination should be completed within five years of enrollment.

An Application for the Doctoral Preliminary Examination must be completed by the student and signed and submitted to the Ph.D. Program Committee by the major professor six weeks prior to the first examination. Students who fail the preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam may be retaken only once. Complete policies regarding forming a preliminary examination committee, writing the proposal, and taking the examination are available in the Social Work Ph.D. program handbook.

Dissertation Proposal Defense

All students must successfully complete an oral defense of their dissertation proposal to determine their preparation for independent research. The defense must be completed successfully within four years of initial enrollment.

Dissertation

Students who have passed the Preliminary Examination and have submitted a one-page preliminary dissertation proposal are formally admitted to doctoral candidacy. In accordance with Graduate School policies, students must then register for a thesis research course each semester until the dissertation is submitted to the Graduate School. To meet the requirements for the dissertation, the candidate must complete an original independent research project that adds meaningfully to the existing body of knowledge in social work. It should be of a caliber that warrants publication in respected journals in the field.

Dissertation Defense

As the final step toward the degree, the candidate must pass an oral examination before his/her doctoral committee in defense of the dissertation. The examination may also cover general topics relevant to the student’s area of study. This requirement may not be completed until all other degree requirements are satisfied.

The sample should be at least 1000 words in length and represent work for which the applicant was the sole author, or if it is jointly authored should indicate which sections were primarily done by the applicant.

Advisement
The department will assign each MSW/Ph.D student a major professor. This assignment is based on congruence between the applicant's interests and the expertise of the major professor. In consultation with the director of the Ph.D. program, the student may change major professors after beginning the program, but no applicant will be admitted unless a doctoral faculty member in social work agrees to serve as major professor.

Financial Assistance
Through a combination of tuition remission, teaching assistantships, research assistantships, fellowships, and other options, the program will attempt to provide financial assistance to all admitted students during their first four years in the program. Applicants needing additional information on other sources of financial assistance, such as student loans, should contact the campus Department of Financial Aid.

Students who have passed the Preliminary Examination and have submitted a one-page preliminary dissertation proposal are formally admitted to doctoral candidacy. In accordance with Graduate School policies, students must then register for three research or thesis/dissertation credits each semester until the dissertation is submitted to the Graduate School. State of Wisconsin Credentials

The MSW Program prepares graduates to qualify for the Certified Advanced Practice Social Worker (CAPSW) credential granted by the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services (DSPS). Additionally, by choosing specific coursework in close collaboration with an advisor, a student can meet the educational requirements for these other State of Wisconsin-granted credentials:

1. School Social Work certification granted by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI).
2. Substance Abuse Counselor (SAC) certification granted by the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services.
3. Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) credential granted by the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services.

It is important to note that each of these credentials has different requirements, some of which go beyond the educational component that can be satisfied by the specific MSW program coursework. For instance, candidates for such credentials may have to take state and national competency exams, provide proof of post-degree supervised practice experience, or create a portfolio for submission to the state. Please see the Web sites of the above State of Wisconsin departments for further information about the particular requirements for each.

Courses

Courses numbered 300-699 are Undergraduate/Graduate. Courses numbered 700 and above are Graduate only.

Overview

The Department of Sociology offers M.A. and Ph.D. programs. The Master of Arts (M.A.) Degree Program in Sociology at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee offers a flexible and varied program of study to students who wish to specialize in one of the discipline's subfields. The program provides students with balanced and comprehensive training in sociological theory, research methodology and social statistics, which will prepare students for a variety of careers as well as continued study leading to the Ph.D. degree.

The Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology provides study and training for entry into academic and professional careers that would require theory-driven basic or applied research on social issues and phenomena. The program develops student expertise in general sociological theory and advanced methodologies for the analysis of social data, with particular emphasis on expertise in the analysis of social inequalities and social institutions.

Master of Arts in Sociology

Admission

New graduate students are admitted to the M.A. Program in Sociology only for the fall semester. Completed applications should be received by the department no later than January 15 of the year the applicant intends to start.

Applicants whose grade point averages are below the minimum 2.75 required by the Graduate School may be admitted on probation if there is substantial evidence of their ability to do satisfactory graduate work. Performance during the first semester of enrollment must convince the members of the Graduate Committee of the students' capacity to do graduate work.

In addition to the materials required by the Graduate School for admission, the Department of Sociology requires the following for admission:

1. Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic background. The Department provides a cover sheet that should accompany all letters of recommendation. The form is signed by both the applicant and the person providing the reference. Letters should be sent to the Director of Graduate Studies, Department of Sociology, P.O. Box 413, Milwaukee, WI 53201.
2. A sample of scholarly writing, a minimum of five pages in length.

Financial Aid

The major source of financial assistance for graduate students in sociology is employment as a teaching assistant. Assistantships are granted every academic year on a competitive basis. To apply for a teaching assistantship, students should complete a Teaching Assistantship Interest Form and submit it to the Director of Graduate Studies. The deadline for receipt of that form is January 15th.

Students with teaching assistantships are usually appointed at 40% of full-time work during their first year. When feasible, the department attempts to appoint 2nd year students at 50%. Tuition is remitted for all teaching assistants with a 33% or higher appointment.

Graduate students also are eligible for fellowships awarded by the Graduate School on a competitive basis. Additional information on the types and availability of fellowships may be obtained directly from the Graduate School.

Advising Procedures

Upon admission, the Director of Graduate Studies will serve as the student's advisor. An initial advisor will be assigned in the student's first semester in residence. The initial advisor assists students in planning their course programs, and in scheduling other degree requirements. When the M.A. student begins to formulate a topic for a thesis, a master's paper, or M.A. examination, the student selects a member of the Sociology Graduate faculty as her/his committee chair. This person then becomes the student's main curriculum advisor for the remainder of the time in the program.

Credits and Courses

The M.A. in Sociology requires a minimum of 30 graduate credits. Thirteen (13) credits are fulfilled by the following required courses:

701 Professional Seminar (1 cr)
715 Systematic Sociological Theory (3 cr)
750 Research Methods in Sociology (3 cr)
760 Advanced Statistical Methods in Sociology (3 cr)
900-level sociology seminar course (3 cr)

The student, in consultation with his/her advisor, will select the remaining 17 elective credits. Up to five credits of Social 790, Master's Level Thesis/Paper, may be taken by students who elect the thesis/paper capstone option.

With permission of the student's advisor, up to six graduate credits may be taken outside the department in courses related to the individual's plan of study. No more than six credits of undergraduate/graduate courses (excluding those previously taken as an undergraduate), taken at the graduate level, may be applied toward meeting degree requirements. No more than six credits in 799, Master's Level Reading and Research, may count toward the degree.

Good Standing

To retain good standing in the Department of Sociology, an enrolled graduate student must maintain a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA and demonstrate progress toward completion of the course and/or thesis requirements each semester.

Thesis, Master's Paper, or the M.A. Examination Options

The student must write and defend an acceptable thesis, a master's paper, or write an examination in fulfillment of the requirements for the Master of Arts degree in Sociology.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
The thesis or master's paper is intended to be a relatively limited research exercise, focused on a manageable topic. It does not necessarily have to involve original research. It is completed through enrollment in Sociol 790. Acceptable thesis or master's paper options include, but are not limited to, collection of data for hypothesis testing or exploratory research, secondary analysis of available data, theoretical critique, conceptual analysis and library research on a clearly defined problem. In general, students are encouraged to utilize existing data rather than collect new data unless they are confident that they have adequate resources (including time) to collect data sufficient for their purposes.

By the end of the third semester, students should complete a proposal for the M.A. thesis or paper. The proposal will reflect the formulation of a research problem and the development of a plan for its empirical investigation. Once a proposal is successfully defended, it constitutes an agreement between the student and the M.A. committee.

Students must prepare the thesis or master's paper under the direction of their committee, receive approval that it meets professional standards, and defend it at an oral examination. The master's paper is normally the length of a journal article (about 30 pp.). Students who choose to write a thesis should consult the Graduate School Thesis and Dissertation Formatting page. The thesis must be prepared according to these format requirements.

M.A. Examination
The Master of Arts examination option is based on a bibliography developed by the student in consultation with his/her committee. The bibliography will represent both classical statements and recent debates in at least one area of sociological specialization. Students are encouraged to develop the bibliography by the end of the third semester of residence.

The examination itself will be a set of three questions developed by the M.A. committee, from which the student must choose two. The student will have two weeks to write a take-home examination. The advisor and two other faculty members will grade the examination. Within two weeks of the completion of the written examination, there will be an oral examination on the same material.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology
Admission
An applicant must meet the UWM Graduate School's requirements for admission to the Ph.D. program in Sociology. In addition, applicants to the Ph.D. program must:

1. Possess a master's degree in Sociology or be in the process of completing a master's degree at the time of application, with the expectation of completion of the degree prior to beginning the Ph.D. program. Students without a master's degree in sociology or related field and they show exceptional preparation for graduate school or (b) they have a master's degree in a closely related field. In addition to the requirements for the Ph.D., all students must (a) complete the required courses for the master's degree in sociology or comparable courses from other institutions and (b) earn or transfer 24 credits in graduate-level work in sociology or a closely related field. If fewer than 24 credits are judged acceptable for the doctoral program, the student will have to make up those credits.

2. Submit a copy of the applicant's M.A. thesis or paper, or, if an applicant did not complete a thesis, a scholarly writing sample of original sociological research.

3. Provide three letters of recommendation from persons, preferably faculty, familiar with the applicant's scholastic achievement and potential.

4. Submit a cogent personal statement detailing the individual's reasons for pursuing doctoral study in Sociology.

Reapplication/Readmission
Students who receive the M.A. in Sociology from UWM must reapply to be considered for admission into the Ph.D. program.

Major Professor or Advisor
Each new student will be assigned an initial advisor from among the department's faculty. By the second year in the program, students will be expected to select their own major advisor and, in consultation with this advisor, a committee for preliminary examinations and the dissertation. The major advisor for each student, assisted by the student's dissertation committee and the director of graduate studies, will take primary responsibility for guiding the student successfully through the program and into the labor market and career opportunities.

Course of Study
The program will require 36 graduate credits of course work at the post-master's level. We expect entering students to have completed the following courses or their equivalents in the process of earning a master's degree:

- Sociol 715, Systematic Sociological Theory (3 cr)
- Sociol 750, Research Methods in Sociology (3 cr)
- Sociol 760, Advanced Statistical Methods in Sociology (3 cr)

Students who have not taken these courses prior to admission to the Ph.D. program will be required to complete them in the first year of pursuit of a doctoral degree. Credits earned in these courses will not count as part of the 36 credits required at the post-master's level.

At the Ph.D. level, students must complete the following coursework:

- Sociol 910, The Sociology of Inequality (3 cr)
- Sociol 911, The Sociology of Institutions (3 cr)
- Sociol 982, Methods of Research and Social Analysis for Urban Social Institutions II (3 cr)
- One additional elective course in social science methodology (3 cr)
- Beyond the above core requirements, students must choose to specialize in either social inequalities or social institutions and complete 9 credits (3 courses) designated in that specialty area (9 cr)
- Electives (nine or more credits) and dissertation (up to six credits) (15 cr)

In addition, those Ph.D. students with Teaching Assistant positions must complete the following one-credit course which is offered each spring:

- Sociol 794, The Teaching of Undergraduate Sociology, is required for those Ph.D. students with Teaching Assistant positions

Doctoral students may not accumulate more than 6 credits in U/G courses nor more than 6 credits of independent study without the approval of the Sociology Director of Graduate Studies. Of the 60 required credits, no more than 12 credits outside of Sociology may be counted toward the doctoral degree without the approval of the Sociology Director of Graduate Studies.

Foreign Language or Specialized Skill

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
This requirement may be satisfied by demonstrating one of the following:

- Proficiency in a foreign language useful in the student's career, indicated by the completion of two courses at the upper division level (numbered 300 and above or requiring junior standing) with at least a B average. Credits satisfying this requirement will not count toward the credits required for the Ph.D. degree.

- Proficiency in mathematical, statistical, or computer skills. Completion of the required methods and statistics sequence (Sociol 750, 760, 982—or their equivalents) and an additional 3 credits of graduate coursework in statistics related to the social sciences with at least a B average will satisfy this requirement.

Preliminary Examination

All doctoral students are required to complete preliminary examinations in two specialty areas after completing 27 credits at the post-master's level. The areas are selected by the doctoral candidates in consultation with their advisor and other members of the graduate faculty. Examination areas are limited to those subfields or subdisciplines that are within the student's area of specialization and widely recognized areas within sociology. For example, they might be recognized sections of the American Sociological Association or other subfields with similar scope. The disciplinary subfields must be broader than, but related to, the focus of the student's dissertation and must be approved by the Department's Graduate Studies Committee.

An empirical paper may be substituted for one preliminary examination. The empirical paper is read and evaluated by two members of the graduate faculty in sociology. The length and quality of the paper should be similar to that of a journal article.

Students who do not pass an examination on the first attempt will be provided feedback on their performance and be allowed to take the exam a second time but must do so within 9 months of the administration of the first attempt. Students who do not successfully complete the examination upon the second attempt will not be allowed to continue in the program.

Dissertation

The dissertation is a major piece of original research representing a substantial contribution to sociological scholarship. In order to become eligible for dissertation status the student must complete a successful oral defense of a dissertation proposal before the student's doctoral committee.

The dissertation itself, under the supervision of the major professor and in collaboration with a dissertation committee, must demonstrate the ability of the candidate to formulate a research topic and pursue an independent and original research representing a substantial contribution to sociological scholarship. The practices necessary for completion of the dissertation will conform to the guidelines established by the UWM Graduate School. The dissertation committee shall be composed of the major professor and four additional graduate faculty members (at least three of whom must be from the UWM Department of Sociology graduate faculty). The dissertation committee is responsible for assessing the dissertation project, which involves approving the dissertation proposal, reviewing working drafts of research in progress, and, finally, evaluating the candidate's ability to defend decisions made during the course of research and the results of the research. After submission of a reading copy of the dissertation to the faculty dissertation committee, the candidate and the major professor will schedule a committee meeting for the purpose of undertaking an oral defense of the dissertation work by the candidate. At the conclusion of the candidate's oral remarks, the dissertation committee will vote on passing the candidate's dissertation work. A majority of the committee must vote to approve the dissertation and recommend granting of the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Time Limit

All components of the Ph.D. program must be completed within 10 years of matriculation.

School/College: College of Letters and Science

Degrees Conferred:
- M.A. in Spanish

Overview

The Department of Spanish and Portuguese offers a program of graduate study leading to a Master of Arts degree that focuses on the study of the Spanish cultures, language, linguistics, and literatures of the Hispanic world. Spanish M.A. graduates who subsequently wish to pursue the Ph.D. are very advanced in the process of mastering the area in which they wish to specialize in their doctoral studies. Those who choose not to continue studying toward a Ph.D. or a career in teaching will be able to pursue employment in other fields that require full proficiency in the Spanish language as well as mastery of Hispanic literature and culture.

The Department of Spanish and Portuguese has identified five learning outcomes for our M.A. majors in Spanish. These educational goals relate closely to the National Standard for Foreign Language Learning, as recommended by the American Council of Teachers of Foreign Languages. Students will be able:

1. To communicate with an advanced or high-level of Spanish proficiency in all four skill areas including listening, reading, writing, and speaking.
2. To develop an advanced understanding and appreciation of Hispanic cultures and communities throughout the world, and analyze and draw cross-cultural differences which will be essential to future careers in a growing global environment.
3. To build a foundation of knowledge in the areas of Spanish or Spanish-American literature, culture, and linguistics, which will give students the breadth necessary for subsequent specialization in doctoral studies.
4. To develop and expand research and analytical skills within the area of Hispanic Studies, including literary analysis, cultural studies, and linguistic analysis.
5. To develop basic reading competencies in an additional romance language to prepare students for further research and provide broader career options.

The Department also participates, and works closely, with the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies.

Master of Arts in Spanish

Admission

An applicant must meet general admission requirements for the Graduate School, as established by the graduate faculty of the university, plus the following requirements to be considered for admission:

1. A bachelor’s degree with a major in Spanish, foreign languages with an emphasis in Spanish, comparative literature, Hispanic linguistics, or translation; or with a combination of courses that will, in the opinion of the Department, allow the student to participate fully in the program.
2. A 3.0 grade point average in the last 60 credits of undergraduate course work.
3. A narrative statement of intent, written in Spanish that describes the applicant’s accomplishments and plans for the future.
4. Three letters of recommendation from former professors or advisors.

Applicants who do not have the requisite 3.0 grade point average in the last 60 credits of undergraduate course work may be considered for admission on probation. Students will be removed from probation at the end of their first semester of enrollment if they achieve at least a 3.0 grade point average.

Major Professor as Advisor

All students must have a major professor who serves as an advisor and supervises their course of study. The Director of the M.A. program acts as the initial advisor for all entering students. By the end of the first semester, students will be matched with an advisor based on their academic interest.

Credits and Courses

A content-based examination is mandatory for all incoming students. The results of this examination are used to develop the program of study. Students with insufficient preparation for graduate study in one or more areas may be admitted with specific, program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Those who have not completed at least one advanced-level college course in Latin American or Spanish history must do so in the course of their graduate program. If taken for graduate credit, this course will count toward the minimum number of credits required for the M.A.

A minimum of 30 graduate credits beyond the baccalaureate degree is required for the M.A. in Spanish. All students must demonstrate reading competency in a second Romance language. In order to do so, they may take the departmental graduate reading exam or complete two semesters or eight credits in another language. Courses taken to complete this requirement do not count toward the minimum credits required for the M.A.

Specific course requirements and credit distribution are as follows:

- Spanish 441 History of the Spanish Language (or equivalent);
- MAFLL/Comp Lit 707 Seminar in Literary Analysis (or equivalent).
- 12 credits in Spanish or Spanish-American literature and culture courses at the 700 level or above.
- 6 credits in language and/or linguistics courses in Spanish.
- 6 credits of electives in Spanish culture, language, linguistics, literature, thesis, or related courses

All teaching assistants are required to enroll in MAFLL 706 Seminar in Foreign Language Methodology and Pedagogy or an equivalent course during their first year. This course counts toward the 6 credits of electives.

No 300-level courses will apply toward the degree, and a maximum of six (6) graduate credits in 400-level U/G courses may be used to fulfill degree requirements.

The M.A. degree in Spanish offers both non-thesis and thesis options.

Non-Thesis Option

Students pursuing the non-thesis option must complete a minimum of thirty (30) credits of acceptable graduate-level course

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
work (including the courses specifically required) and receive a passing grade on the final comprehensive examination.

Thesis Option
Students pursuing the thesis option must complete a minimum of twenty-four (24) credits of acceptable graduate-level course work, successfully defend a thesis for which a maximum of six (6) credits is granted, and receive a passing grade on the final comprehensive examination.

Students in the thesis option should choose an area of specialization for the thesis as early as possible. After a thesis topic is chosen, students, with the approval of the major professor, select two additional members of the graduate faculty in the area of concentration to serve as the thesis committee. A member of the graduate faculty specializing in the student’s area of concentration acts as the thesis director and chair of the committee. Students writing a linguistics-based thesis may use either the APA, LSA, or MLA style. All other theses must be written following the MLA style.

Upon the approval of the Departmental Graduate Studies Committee, a student may be allowed to write the Spanish M.A. thesis in Spanish; each request will be examined on an individual basis to ensure the highest quality of theses and the linguistic ability of each petitioner. Those approved to write the thesis in Spanish must also provide an abstract written in English.

Comprehensive Final Examination
Students enrolled in the thesis and non-thesis options take the same M.A. comprehensive examination. Students are urged to take the examination no later than the fourth semester of graduate study. The examination may be repeated once.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Internships (12 credits)
Students will complete two (six week) internships. The program is designed so that students will complete internships during the summer semester between Year 1 and Year 2, and again after Year 2. During internships, students will engage in work that focuses on a pertinent issue in the broader context of peacebuilding—e.g. food security, water conflict, public health, etc. Students will select internship sites from the three MSP program sites—in Latin America, Eastern Africa, and the Balkans—or another approved site of the student’s choosing. There is limited availability of spots at the MSP program sites, so students are encouraged to enroll early on in the program to secure their positions.
- Global 597 Study Abroad
- Global 697 Study Abroad

Master’s Paper
All students must prepare and orally defend a final master’s paper following the second summer internship. The master’s paper—an “Integrative Synthesis”—will reflect upon a student’s breadth of experiences during the MSP program, and clearly demonstrate a student’s ability to formulate an argument, analyze data, systematically present results, and show familiarity with relevant scholarship. The paper will be a critical discussion of core MSP concepts as they relate to peacebuilding, based upon a student’s coursework and, primarily, internship experiences. Each student, throughout the course of study, will keep a portfolio containing items such as course work, internship evaluations, and additional elements to help guide the Integrative Synthesis. To ensure students are progressing such that they will be successful in their final papers and presentations, the faculty advisor and MSP program coordinator will assess with each student his/her portfolio periodically during the course of study to address deficiencies and advise the student regarding appropriate adjustments.

Transfer credits
Individuals with prior graduate course work may receive permission to count up to 9 credits of that work toward the Master of Sustainable Peacebuilding if the Advisory Committee accepts the courses as relevant to the program of study and if the courses meet Graduate School requirements for transfer. Sustainable Peacebuilding core breadth courses, seminars, and the summer field internships must be taken at UWM.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

School/College: School of Education

Degrees Conferred:
- Ph.D. in Urban Education

Overview
The School of Education offers an interdepartmental program of study leading to the Ph.D. Students must choose a specialization in either Adult, Continuing, and Higher Education Leadership, Educational Administration, Curriculum and Instruction, Exceptional Education, Multicultural Studies, or Social Foundations of Education.

The program is designed to permit students to integrate their particular curricular areas of interest and specialization with a broader field of education, including urban education. Each specialization is departmentally focused, and students must satisfy the admissions and curriculum requirements indicated for their particular specialization. Recognition of the specialization is acknowledged by official designation on the student’s transcript.

Each of the specializations offers the doctoral student an opportunity to pursue study in a specific program area. For example, Adult, Continuing, and Higher Education Leadership emphasizes governance and leadership issues within urban adult education organizations. Educational Administration explores governance and Leadership issues of urban schools. Curriculum and Instruction provides program emphasis in a content area (e.g., reading), education level (e.g., early childhood), a general area (e.g., curriculum theory) or special area (e.g., guiding instructional improvement). Exceptional Education provides program emphasis in departmental interest areas (e.g., handicapping condition), or a cross-disciplinary interest.

A separate Ph.D. with specialization in Counseling Psychology, Learning and Development, Research Methodology, and School Psychology is offered through the Department of Educational Psychology. Multicultural Studies emphasizes integrating intercultural theory and practice in urban educational and community settings. The Social Foundations of Education specialization provides students with the conceptual tools with which to examine the complex interrelationships between school and society, education and culture.

All graduates should have a broad understanding of the issues, problems and trends related to education, including urban education, and the application of these to their major. Students must develop a minor area of study in a discipline outside the specialization.

The program requires each participant to develop research skills ranging from logic in inquiry to development of specific methodological skills in qualitative and quantitative methods. The Ph.D. is a research degree and not only a professional preparation degree. Therefore research is an integral part of the program. Mastery of these skills is demonstrated through course work, research projects and the dissertation.

Graduates apply their skills, in institutions of higher education, public or private school settings, federal, state or local governmental agencies, community organizations, and the private sector.

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following program requirements to be considered for admission.

Writing Sample
Applicants must submit a writing sample completed within the last five years. The writing sample must be single authored, at least 1500 words, and must be selected from ONE of the following options:

1. Master's Thesis
2. Undergraduate Senior Thesis
3. Technical report
4. Term Paper
5. Publication
6. Written Description of a Project
7. Action Research Project
8. A 5-10 page response to the following question: How would you go about determining and evaluating critical issues in urban education? The response to this question must show evidence of appropriate references to a knowledge base.

The writing sample must be submitted with the application. Deadline, January 1st of submission year.

Interview
An interview may be arranged with all applicants. In the case of applicants living too far away to attend a personal interview, a phone interview will be arranged.

Recommendations
An applicant must have a minimum of three appropriate persons write a recommendation and comment meaningfully and knowledgeably on the likelihood that the applicant can successfully complete an advanced scholarly program of studies for the Ph.D. degree. It is helpful if the majority of references are written by college/university faculty. If an applicant is unable to secure academic references because of elapsed time, other references should be as current as possible. In any case, individuals preparing references should be selected who can comment with confidence on the applicant's academic qualifications. Reference forms must be forwarded directly by the writers to the Office of Doctoral Studies. Complete information is provided in application materials available from the Office of Doctoral Studies.

Application
Applicants are required to articulate their urban and research interests and goals in application materials. An intended concentration within the Ph.D. must be specified at time of application.

- Applicants who fail to satisfy these admission requirements will not be recommended for admission. However, satisfying these minima does not guarantee admission.
- Applicants who are not recommended for admission will be provided an opportunity to request a reconsideration.

Individual specializations may expect prior coursework in that area. Applicants may contact the Director for specific information. Openings in the program are limited. Applicants should submit all application materials no later than January 1 for admission the following September. Applicants must contact the Office of Doctoral Studies for application information and forms.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree (although students ordinarily take more than 54), at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM (i.e., on the UWM campus).

In consultation with the major professor, the student designs a program of studies that enables the student to gain the knowledge and skills appropriate to the student's goals.

The program of studies includes the following:

The Doctoral Seminars
All doctoral students must take three 3-credit seminar courses devoted to content involving education in an urban environment. One of these seminars is taken as part of the department specialization.

3. All doctoral students must take a research design course approved by their advisor and the Director of Doctoral Studies.
4. Department specialization requirements may exceed those specified here.
5. All students demonstrate knowledge in this area by writing a preliminary examination research question and successfully defending a dissertation.

Designated Specialization
Students indicate a specific area of specialization, by applying for one of the transcript-designated specializations in either Adult, Continuing, and Higher Education Leadership, Curriculum and Instruction, Educational Administration, Exceptional Education, Multicultural Studies, or Social Foundations of Education. Students may be required to meet the specific admissions and program requirements for their intended specialization in addition to meeting the Ph.D. admissions and program requirements. (Please see the accompanying explanation and requirements for each specialization.)

Minor
Students are required to complete a minor consisting of courses in a related discipline that supports the student's program of studies. The student may choose either Option A or Option B.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
• Option A: A minimum of 8 credits in a single department outside the School of Education. A minor professor approves these courses, sits as a member of the student's doctoral committee, and contributes to the student's doctoral preliminary examination.

• Option B: A minimum of 12 credits in two or more departments, with a minimum of 6 credits outside of the School of Education. The remaining credits may be taken within the School of Education, but must be taken outside of the department of specialization.

Foreign Language Requirement

There is no foreign language requirement. However, individual students may be required to demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language if such proficiency is determined to be necessary by a student's committee.

Residence

The residency requirement is satisfied through the successful completion of 9 or more credits in each of two consecutive semesters, excluding summer, or by completing at least 6 graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, excluding summer.

It is the student's responsibility to notify the Office of Doctoral Studies when residency requirements have been met. Such notification must be in writing and must include the semesters, year(s) and number of credits taken during each of the applicable semesters.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

The student must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examination covers the area of specialization, urban education, the minor, and research methods.

Dissertation

The candidate must present a dissertation reporting the results of an original research study appropriate to the student's program. Prior to beginning the research, the candidate must present an acceptable dissertation proposal and defend it at an oral hearing.

Dissertation Defense

The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit

Students who do not complete all degree requirements within seven years from the date of admission to the doctoral program will be recommended for dismissal to the Graduate School.

Other Requirements

This is only a summary of the doctoral program requirements. A complete list of requirements is available from the Office of Doctoral Studies. Doctoral Committees may specify course requirements which exceed the minima described here.

For additional information on the Ph.D., see the Graduate School Doctoral Requirements.

School/College: School of Architecture and Urban Planning

Degrees Conferred:
- Master of Urban Planning

Overview

The Urban Planning program at UWM is a professional, skills-oriented, master's program designed to train students to perform a variety of planning-related jobs in either the public or private sector.

The program focuses on planning as a process for improving collective decisions in the public and private sectors. The planning process includes analyzing problems, designing alternative solutions and evaluating their consequences, developing strategies for action and participating in their implementation. This process is used in both government and business in developing policy for future action, so that today's solutions do not become tomorrow's problems.

The program's elective courses combined with other courses on campus enable the development of more specialized depth in several planning-related areas under the following concentrations: Urban Revitalization; Economic Development; Urban Geographic Information Systems; Transportation; Physical Planning and Urban Design; and Environmental Resources.

The Department is staffed by faculty members who combine academic and professional qualifications and who are committed to active involvement in current issues. They teach by example, using case studies and projects involving actual situations in most courses. This approach injects reality into the educational environment, allows students to see the relevance of the material in the curriculum, and shows students how their courses relate to their professional practice.

The Milwaukee Metropolitan area of one-and-one-half million persons is a learning laboratory that classroom projects and faculty researchers use extensively. Moreover, students gain additional practical experience through internships in the wide array of planning positions available in the Milwaukee area.

M.Arch/MUP Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the Department of Architecture, the Department of Urban Planning offers a Master of Architecture/Master of Urban Planning program to prepare students for positions as architect/planners. Students in the program concurrently pursue a Master of Architecture degree program and a Master of Urban Planning degree program. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree. For more detailed information on this program see Credits and Courses section below.

M.S./MUP Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the College of Engineering and Applied Science, the Department of Urban Planning offers a Master of Science in Engineering/Master of Urban Planning program to prepare students for positions in transportation, public works or similar areas. Students in the program will concurrently pursue a Master of Urban Planning degree program in the Department of Urban Planning and a Master of Science in Engineering degree program from the College of Engineering and Applied Science. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

MPA/MU Coordinated Degree Program

A joint degree program has been designed to allow students to obtain both the Master of Public Administration and the Master of Urban Planning degrees concurrently. This program is intended to combine professional training in planning with applied administrative and managerial skills. More detailed information on this program can be found later in this section and in the Public Administration section of this Bulletin.

Certificate in Geographic Information Systems (GIS)

The Certificate in Geographic Information Systems is designed to provide a 18-credit formal program of studies for students who wish to pursue careers in geographic information systems in local government.

http://www.graduateschool.uwm.edu/
Comprehensive Exam
Completion of the comprehensive exam in Urban Planning is required.

Transfer Credits
Graduate coursework in urban planning or a related discipline taken prior to a student's admission to the program may be considered for transfer to the master's degree.

Writing Assessment
Being able to write clearly and effectively is a critical skill for planners. The Urban Planning program encourages improvement in student's writing skills by emphasizing writing improvement across the curriculum, and especially in the core courses.

In some cases, students require more intense instruction to improve their skills to the level needed for planning practice. Faculty members assess student writing proficiency in the first semester core courses. Students who lack the required level of proficiency may be required to take a writing course as part of their second semester program of study. Writing proficiency is also a required element of the comprehensive exam.

Thesis
No formal master's project or master's thesis is required for the MUP degree. However, a thesis may be substituted for as many as 6 elective credits. The student must obtain approval for the thesis proposal from any urban planning faculty member. The students may relate their thesis work to the program core, the general option or an emphasis option.

Comprehensive Examination
All students in the program must take a written comprehensive examination as a requirement for graduation. The examination is given between the second and third semesters so that any deficiencies can be eliminated in the second year of the program through structured courses or directed study. Successful completion of the exam, or successful completion of courses specified for removal of deficiencies, represents fulfillment of the comprehensive examination requirement. Students in the M.S./MUP program also must take and pass the comprehensive examination in engineering.

Time Limit
The degree program itself is designed largely for full-time students. But the program does allow students up to seven years from the time of initial enrollment to complete all degree requirements.

School/College: College of Letters and Science

Degrees Conferred:
- M.S. in Urban Studies
- Ph.D. in Urban Studies

Overview
Urban Studies Programs offers two interdisciplinary graduate programs of study. Both programs are jointly sponsored by the Departments of History and Sociology and include participating faculty from these two departments plus Geography and Political Science.

The Master of Science degree program in Urban Studies provides students with a broad understanding of urban society and trains them in research techniques appropriate to the study of metropolitan communities. The course of study stresses the understanding of social processes and the analysis of social and economic policies affecting cities.

All M.S. students must complete a five-course core curriculum that establishes a common base of knowledge and research skills. On completing the core, students have two options. They may either secure a generalist degree, requiring 15 additional credits in elective courses, or they may specialize in an area of concentration in consultation with the M.S. Program Coordinator. The specialist option requires 15 credits in specified courses beyond the core. Both options require either a master's thesis or a master's paper. Graduates are prepared to enter professional careers in government or social agencies, or to enter doctoral programs for further study.

The Ph.D. degree program in Urban Studies is designed to prepare individuals to obtain employment in academic departments, as well as government institutions and social agencies, and to conduct sophisticated research in the field of urban studies. The course of study emphasizes history, research methodology, and social science theory.

M.S./MLIS Coordinated Degree Program
In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, Urban Studies Programs offers an M.S./MLIS program to prepare students for positions as urban information specialists. Students in this program concurrently pursue an M.S. in Urban Studies and a MLIS degree program.

Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

Master of Science in Urban Studies Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following requirement to be considered for admission:

- Undergraduate major in one of the social sciences or experience in relevant occupational roles such as planning, community organization or social work.
- Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic ability. Recommendation forms may be obtained from the Urban Studies Programs office.
- Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores is recommended but not required.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Coordinator of the Urban Studies Master of Science degree program acts as the initial advisor to all entering students. Therefore, upon admission to the program, students should meet with the Coordinator to discuss their course of study. As specified by The Graduate School, the student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies. Once the student has defined an area of interest within Urban Studies, an advisor with similar interests may be chosen from among the other members of the USP faculty.

Degree Conferred:
• M.A. in Women's Studies

Overview
The M.A. in Women's Studies is designed for students who intend to pursue additional academic degrees and students who seek graduate credentials to further their career goals. The degree combines advanced Women's Studies courses in feminist theory, research methods, global feminisms, and selected topics with graduate-level courses in many disciplines. Over forty faculty members at UWM are Women's Studies affiliates and offer graduate courses that are cross-listed with Women's Studies.

Students completing an M.A. in Women's Studies will:

• Gain an understanding of Women's Studies as an interdisciplinary field of study and research.

• Demonstrate an advanced understanding of feminist theory and research methods.

• Develop critical thinking skills that will enable them to analyze competing perspectives and integrate various bodies of knowledge across academic boundaries, paying particular attention to gender-based assumptions and their consequences on individuals, social and cultural groups, and institutions.

• Demonstrate an awareness of women's diverse experiences based on factors such as age, race, sexuality, gender identity, class, religion, and ability status.

• Acquire the background necessary for entry into Ph.D. programs in Women's Studies. The M.A. also prepares students for further graduate study in many fields of the humanities, social sciences or professions, as well as career fields that require an advanced degree.

M.A. in Women's Studies Admission
In addition to satisfying Graduate School requirements for admission, applicants must provide these materials to be considered for admission:

• Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic or professional work.

• A sample of the applicant's written work that demonstrates the applicant's critical thinking, research, and writing skills.

• A letter of intent explaining the applicant's reasons for graduate study (the Graduate School Reasons Statement may be used).

These materials should be sent to: Director, Women's Studies Program, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, PO Box 413, Milwaukee, WI 53201. GRE scores are recommended, but not required. GRE scores are required to apply for UWM fellowships or awards.

Applicants may be admitted with course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. Students are expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the program. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted toward the degree.

Financial Aid
Women's Studies offers a graduate teaching assistantship. To apply, prospective students should include a statement describing previous teaching experience and/or reasons for teaching with application materials sent to the Women's Studies Program. Women's Studies also has two need-based scholarships for which graduate students are eligible. Scholarship decisions are made each spring. Contact the program for applications.

The UWM Graduate School offers AOP (Advanced Opportunity Program) and Distinguished Graduate Student Fellowships. For further information, visit the Graduate School Web site.

Advising
Graduate advising is the responsibility of the Chair of Women's Studies, who provides initial advising for students until they choose an advisor.

Credits and Courses
To earn an M.A. in Women's Studies, students must complete 30 credits. Fifteen credits are in required Women's Studies courses (15 with thesis option): WMNS 401: Global Feminisms (U/G), WMNS 700: Feminist Issues and Scholarship; WMNS 710: Advanced Feminist Theory; and WMNS 711: Advanced Feminist Research Methods, and another G or U/G WMNS course (excluding 497, 599, 700, 990, and 999). The remaining fifteen credits are in graduate-level courses chosen in consultation with the Graduate Chair. No more than six credits may be in undergraduate/graduate (U/G) courses, and no more than six transfer credits may apply. Students may not count more than three credits of WMNS 999 Independent Study toward the degree.

Thesis, Paper or Project, or Examination
Students complete the degree with a written thesis, paper or project, or comprehensive examination. All options include an oral defense.

The thesis is an academic research paper that demonstrates the student's ability to carry out an independent investigation, to analyze data (qualitative and/or quantitative), and to present the results in a clear, systematic form. The thesis includes a review of relevant scholarship and makes a contribution to the field.

The master's paper is a more limited, shorter scholarly product that often takes the form of a scholarly essay of publishable quality. The master's paper demonstrates the student's ability to formulate an argument, analyze data, present results in a clear, systematic form, and show familiarity with relevant scholarship.

The master's project may be a creative or artistic project that is research-based or a research-based practical project.

The examination is a comprehensive written examination that addresses central texts and issues in the field of Women's Studies.

Time Limit
Students must complete the M.A. within five years of enrollment, in compliance with Graduate School time-to-degree requirements.

Graduate Certificate in Applied Data Analysis Using SAS®

Phone: (414) 229-5176 | E-mail: fuhrmann@uwm.edu

The Graduate Certificate in Applied Data Analysis Using SAS® is a multidisciplinary program that fosters knowledge and programmatic skills in data management and statistical analysis using SAS® software. The certicate’s curriculum is designed for students with diverse career goals, but at its core, it focuses on the job role of Programmer/Analyst. A person in this role accesses and manages data, performs complex queries, and conducts and interprets statistical data analyses. Upon completion of the certificate program, students will not only earn the SAS®-sponsored joint certificate from UWM, but they will also be prepared to take two globally recognized Programming Certification exams either through the SAS Institute or on-site at UWM:

- Base SAS Programming Certificate
- Advanced SAS Programming Certificate

Students are required to take a total of 18 credits towards the completion of the certificate. The mandatory core courses in programming and regression analysis make up 12 credits (6 credits fixed, 6 credits flexible) and an additional 6 credits are to be taken as electives. Graduate Certificate in Rhetorical Leadership

Phone: (414) 229-6396 | Fax: (414) 229-3859 | E-mail: kolson@uwm.edu

Leadership is a highly valued, yet always scarce resource in all areas requiring coordinated action: civil society, professional work, profit and non-profit venues, religious and social action contexts. Communication's Rhetorical Leadership certificate program prepares leaders with humanistic knowledge, skills and attitudes through five graduate courses. "Rhetorical Leadership and Ethics" covers rhetoric's role in and potential for responsible leadership in multiple arenas; it is informed by the long history of debate over the legitimacy of studying rhetoric as a means of promoting joint action. "Theories of Rhetorical Communication" introduces certificate students to the vast, nearly three millennia-long theoretical range of the rhetorical tradition. "Communication and Social Order" examines how existing institutions and values get established and "naturalized" using symbolic action and conversely how they can be challenged strategically through rhetoric. The more advanced "Rhetoric of Constituting Community and Social Controversy" addresses explicitly the rhetorical range available to leaders, whether their main goal is constituting communities or promoting change in ways that the existing decision-making channels cannot accommodate. "Argumentation in Theory and Practice" integrates argumentative theory and practice in ways that are useful for potential leaders; it involves some performance-based learning that requires students to test their preferred theory alternatives in action.

Applicants must have completed a bachelor's degree prior to admission, must have a minimum 2.75 cumulative undergraduate grade point average, and must declare their intent to pursue the certificate before completion of six credits in the certificate sequence. The School Counseling Certificate program is provided for students who already possess a master's degree and need to meet the course requirements for certification as a K-12 School Counselor, as listed below. Courses can be waived if equivalent courses have already been completed, as determined by consultation with an advisor. The requirements for this certification program meet the certification standards of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. For more information on the School Counseling: Initial Educator: K-12, five-year license, please see the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction Web site (www.dpi.state.wi.us).

In order to be eligible to receive an initial educator license as a school counselor, students will need to (1) complete the coursework and practica listed below, (2) complete a portfolio assessment, and (3) pass the national Praxis II licensing examination. Other states have different licensing standards and if you are interested in being eligible for a different state you are strongly encouraged to contact that state's Department of Public Instruction to ascertain whether additional requirements are necessary.

Admission to the Post-Master's Certification Sequence

In order to successfully complete the certification sequence, a student must be accepted into the School Counseling Post-Master's Certificate Program. To be considered, applicants must have a graduate GPA of 3.0 or better, and must complete the UW System online admission application (select "Graduate courses for personal/professional enrichment" as your reason for applying).
