Latin American pamphlets from the Yale University Library: selections from 1600-1900.

Latin American Pamphlets from the Yale University Library present first-hand documentation of the social, political, and economic conditions in Latin America from the 17th through the 20th centuries. They contain original reports, histories, biographies, political broadsides, scholarly thesis, speeches by religious and civic leaders and even playbills. Over 6,300 pamphlets on Mexico comprise the greater portion of the collection. Almost 2,000 pamphlets comprise the Peruvian collection. The Miscellaneous group of 1,325 pamphlets deals with Central and South America.
