Records of the states of the United States of America : a microfilm compilation

Consists of nearly 1,871 reels of microfilm of primary source materials from American states, colonies and territories from colonial times (the earliest records obtainable) to terminal dates that vary depending on the geographic unit and the availability of the material. There are six main classes of material: legislative records, statutory laws, constitutional records, administrative records, executive records, and court records. The supplement also includes local records (county and city), records of American Indian nations, a few runs of newspapers, broadsides, some colonial census reports, and miscellaneous materials. The legislative records form the largest category and they include journals, debates, reports, hearings, proceedings, papers, codes and compilations of laws, and a miscellany of materials. Reels are arranged by state, letter designation, and reel number (e.g., South Carolina, A1a, reel 4)

Description from the Library of Congress