Russian revolutionary literature at Houghton Library of Harvard University.

Contents: Section 1, Books and pamphlets before 1917; Section 2, Broadsides issued before 1917; Section 3, Broadsides issued by monarchist groups; Section 4, Periodicals; Section 5, Tsarist publications; Section 6, Broadsides issued during and after 1917.

Covers the period 1825 to 1917 and includes seminal theoretical works as well as anonymous works and ephemera. All groups are represented. Most of the materials were published abroad or by underground presses inside Russia. The printed catalog for the collection includes one title index in Cyrillic letters, but all other Russian entries are in Romanized form only. Additional indexes are by name, Romanized titles, organizations, and series.

Description from the Library of Congress