Underground newspaper microfilm collection
Several hundred newspaper titles that principally flourished in the 1960s and early 1970s, covering the United States and Canada, and to a lesser extent Western Europe and South America, 1963 to date. Most of these are concerned with themes or subjects of particular reference to the era: campus or university politics, peace and the anti-military movement, minority issues, and anti-establishment and antipolitical issues. NOTE: This collection has several supplements including the Hoover Institution supplement to underground press collection. (MF) AN 036

Brief Description from the Library of Congress