UWM-Home Visiting Ethics

Trainer: Pat Parker & Suzy Rodriguez

Target Audience: Home visitors and other early childhood family support professionals and supervisors.

Description:
This ethics and boundaries training has been developed to examine the ethical responsibilities of employees to their workplace settings. In order to fully understand the implications of employee behavior, attendees will structure discussions around the concept of moral courage. Employee responsibility for promoting ethical workplace cultures is defined as one carried by all employees of the organization and participants will apply the NASW Code of Ethics, MPSW 20 and an ethical decision-making model to common situations in organizational settings.

Objectives:
- Identify workplace behaviors that impact functioning within an agency
- Understand ethical responsibilities in the workplace
- Clarify the impact of workplace behaviors on clients
- Examine the continuum of workplace functioning
- Apply the NASW Code of Ethics Standard of Ethical Responsibilities to Practice Settings to personal approaches to practice
- Clarify boundaries of work and personal life as they relate to our responsibilities to practice settings
- Apply the Nine Step Ethical Decision-Making Model to the training concepts
