Description:
Join us as we welcome nationally recognized Dr Sherryl Scott Heller from Tulane University. She is the co-author of A Practical Guide to Reflective Supervision, an experienced practitioner and Director of a program utilizing the FAN framework in New Orleans, LA. This session for supervisors and administrators will further build on the FAN training for supervisors and will deepen your understanding and practice using the framework and integrating reflective and administrative supervision. This interactive session will also look to address challenges identified in the field based on input of colleagues here in Wisconsin.

Objectives:
• Deepen understanding and skills using the FAN Framework as a support for implementation of Reflective Supervision
• Better understand how to blend and integrate administrative and reflective practices in supervision
• Develop skills and ability to implement mindfulness in your personal practice
• Develop a strategy for supporting mindfulness in your organizational or program culture

Prerequisites:
Other -- Participants should have participated in FAN – a concrete framework for Reflective Supervision or as a supervisor in FAN team training.
