Trainer: Laura Saunders

Target Audience: This course is open to all home visitors who want to explore how Motivational Interviewing skills might be useful tools for their work; participants must commit to attending all three 2-day sessions along with practice exercises and coaching calls in between classes.

Description:
This 6-day/3-part training will emphasize continued skill building. These workshops will focus on assisting learners to develop Complex Reflective listening skills and to practice recognizing, eliciting, and responding to Change Talk. Focusing and Evoking will be key features of the MI process. Participants will submit recordings and participate in post-training coaching calls with the trainer.

Participants will learn:
• Be able to identify the elements of practice (Spirit, Skills, Processes)
• Be able to understand and interpret individualized MITI feedback
• Create an individual learning plan and a pathway toward MI proficiency
• Be able to identify Change Talk language cues
• Gain experience in using MI strategies to elicit Change Talk
• Gain experience with focusing sessions and directive use of OARS Skills
• Be able to develop a change plan with clients
