Apply to MSP
We are now accepting applications for Fall 2016! A spring start option is not available for this program.

January 1, 2016 priority deadline and rolling admissions thereafter.

The MSP is an intensive full two year program, including summers. Prospective students are strongly encouraged to contact faculty or staff to discuss the program requirements prior to submitting an application. If interested, please send an email with your contact information to: applymsp@uwm.edu

Admission Requirements
Applicants must meet all UWM Graduate School admission requirements to be considered for the program.

Education, skills, experience, and interests will collectively determine a student's admission to the program. Factors that will be considered during the application review include a student's:

- Bachelor's degree and post-baccalaureate course work
- Grade point average for the last two years of academic course work
- Prior experiences and career goals, in particular how these correspond to the goals of the program
- Proficiency in writing
- Professional and/or academic recommendations
- Experience studying, working, or traveling abroad
- Foreign language study or knowledge
- Experience or interest in bridging natural sciences, social sciences, and humanities

Application Process
Applicants must submit materials to both the Graduate School and the Master of Sustainable Peacebuilding program. Below is a list of required/suggested materials to be submitted and where.

Submit to the Graduate School or International Admissions

1. To apply go to the UWM Graduate School/UW-System Online Application. On the application page you will need to create an account and log in. Select "UW-Milwaukee" and "Sustainable Peacebuilding" for your institution and program options
2. Domestic applicants will work with UWM's Graduate School, and international applicants will work with UWM's International Student Services (see below)
3. Application processing fee
4. One official copy of transcripts (sent directly from each institution attended)
5. Reasons Statement, which must articulate applicant's interests and goals and how the Master of Sustainable Peacebuilding will contribute to his/her personal and/or professional development

Mail or email the above materials to:

UWM Graduate School (domestic applicants):          UWM International Student Services (int'l applicants):
Mitchell Hall 261                                      Garland Hall 138
PO Box 340                                              PO Box 413
Milwaukee, WI 53201                                   Milwaukee, WI 53201
hayes7@uwm.edu                                         isss@uwm.edu
Submit to the Master of Sustainable Peacebuilding Program

1. Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic or professional work, preferably one academic and one professional (as a PDF attachment emailed directly from reference's email address)

2. A writing sample that demonstrates the applicant's critical thinking, research, and writing skills as well as the applicant's ability to think across disciplines. Writing sample must be an original piece of writing, individually-written (co-authored pieces typically not accepted), less than 20 pages in length, and less than five years old. Examples of appropriate samples include senior thesis (or excerpt); research paper; essay from a personal or professional blog; non-academic publication; or grant proposal

3. A current resume that clearly articulates the applicant's professional, international, and intercultural experiences; and language exposure and proficiencies

Email the above materials as PDFs to:

Master of Sustainable Peacebuilding Program
applymsp@uwm.edu

Additional Materials for International Applicants

International Applicants may be required to submit additional materials. More information is available through UWM's Center for International Education.