Course Description:

This class will examine the ways in which racial and ethnic difference has been visualized in the United States. Students will study how artists from U.S. communities of color (African American, Native American, Asian American, Latino/a American) have created works in film, video, and other visual media to express their experiences and to analyze issues of race and ethnicity in the U.S. from their perspective. Looking primarily at film and photography, but also other visual “artifacts” (e.g., video, new media, performance, “scripted spaces” such as museums and movie houses) we will explore how images have helped to “inscribe” a diverse range of narratives around cultural identity. We will begin by looking at the fundamentals of media literacy and how images not only speak to us, but also speak to us in a range of “dialects” from bias and oppression to affirmation, empowerment, and democratization. By tracing the visual markers of difference(s) historically, we will discuss how images have operated both to “naturalize” structural patterns of oppression as well as to critique and challenge received notions regarding diversity. In particular, students will examine how media artists of color have proposed new or alternative narratives and visions for American history and culture. The goal of the class is to understand both how images work on us and how we might make them work ourselves. To that end, the course features a “hands on” component and students will conduct visual research on cultural diversity, which is then the basis of the final project. No prior media arts experience is required/expected and part of the course time will be utilized in lab time to demonstrate a variety of simple creative tools that might be employed.

Course Learning Objectives:

1. Analyze the ways in which racial and ethnic difference have been visualized in the United States through our application of image “codes” (framing, angle, focus, lighting, costume setting, performance) on a variety of media, including photography, film, video, new media and performance art.

2. Understand how images support and disseminate narratives regarding racial and ethnic difference in the United States, and have operated to “naturalize” structural patterns of oppression.

3. Develop media literacy in order to understand and critique narratives regarding racial and ethnic difference in the United States.

4. Analyze how media artists of color have proposed alternative narratives and visions for American history and culture.
5. Write new narratives of cultural diversity through the creation of a multimedia archive and a final digital story based on research and community engagement.

Learning Objectives for Cultural and Communities Certificate Program. Students will be able to:

1. Reflect critically on their own cultural identity and background, connecting personal history to larger social and historical forces.

2. Identify the major cultural groups in American history and discuss their distinct contributions and principal conflicts, especially as these illustrate the impact of inequalities of access, resources, wealth, and/or justice.

3. Distinguish between individual bias and structural oppression, with analysis of specific examples involving diverse social and/or cultural groups.

4. Describe the basic components of globalization and how nations interact socially, politically, and culturally.

5. Outline how patterns of migration, immigration, and diaspora emerge from economic and social changes, including how such patterns get expressed in new social formations and cultural activities.

6. Analyze critically the historical and social construction of categories such as “race” and “ethnicity,” their relation to “white privilege,” and their impact on various dimensions of human life, including how such constructions create systematic inequalities between the dominant and the marginalized.

7. Demonstrate a multicultural understanding of artistic works or performances through an ability to analyze and appreciate works from distinctly different cultures and traditions.

8. Present examples of how cultural or community factors may affect work in the sciences, technology, and health care.

9. Collaborate productively and communicate constructively with people from diverse backgrounds.

10. Articulate principles and methods for community service in a pluralistic society, including how such experiences can reinforce the values of democratic citizenship and cross-cultural understanding.

Prereq: none. Carries GER-Arts and GER- Cultural Diversity credit.

ART 150: Multicultural America addresses the following UW System Shared Learning Goals:

1. Knowledge of Human Cultures and the Natural World, including breadth of knowledge and the ability to think beyond one’s discipline, major, or area of concentration.

2. Critical and Creative Thinking Skills including inquiry, problem solving, and higher order qualitative and quantitative reasoning.

3. Intercultural Knowledge and Competence including the ability to interact and work with people from diverse backgrounds and cultures; to lead or contribute support to those who lead; and to empathize with and understand those who are different than they are.

4. Individual, Social and Environmental Responsibility including civic knowledge and engagement (both local and global), ethical reasoning, and action.
GER Arts

The Arts:

(a) Definition: A branch of learning focusing on the conscious use of skill and creative imagination in the production of artistic objects or performances that stress values that stand outside conventional ideas of utility.

(b) Criteria: Courses satisfying this requirement shall incorporate criterion 1 and at least one other of the following learning outcomes.

Art 150: Multicultural America fulfills the GER Arts requirement in that students will:

1) demonstrate comprehension of historical, philosophical, theoretical, or aesthetic perspectives commonly used in the understanding of a specific art;

2) apply knowledge of artistic principles, conventions, methods, and practices through the creation or production of works of art; and

3) compare and contrast the expressive and formal features of different artistic media and/or cultural traditions; this may be accomplished through an analytic study or as part of an original artistic work.

GER Cultural Diversity:

(a) Definition: Courses in this area focus on the experiences of African Americans, Native Americans, Asian Americans, and/or U.S. Latino/as. Courses should also include perspectives on how differences other than race and ethnicity (such as economic class, gender, gender identity/expression, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, etc.) complicate cultural identity categories. While focused on the United States, courses may also include diasporic and transnational frameworks for understanding key topics.

(b) Criteria: Courses satisfying this requirement shall incorporate criterion 1 and at least one other of the following learning outcomes.

Art 150: Multicultural America fulfills the GER Cultural Diversity requirement in that students will be able to:

1) understand and analyze the perspectives, world views, methodologies, and philosophic constructs that the group(s) use(s) to describe, explain, and evaluate its/their experiences over historical time;

2) investigate critically the social, intellectual, and political structures that support oppression based on race, ethnicity, and other human differences;

3) explain fundamental episodes in the history and social construction of concepts of “race” and “ethnicity”;
4) reflect critically on how the students’ own culture and experiences influence their knowledge of, and attitude towards, people whose cultural and social identities differ from their own;

5) articulate, within communities of color, the social, cultural, and political contributions of women, transgender people, and persons of varied sexual orientations;

6) analyze the role of diversity in the successful functioning of a multiracial democratic society; and

7) delineate how formations of race and ethnicity in the United States are part of a larger transnational history.

GER Arts/Diversity Assignment: FINAL VISUAL ESSAY/DIGITAL STORY

1. The VISUAL ESSAY/FINAL DIGITAL STORY assignment requires you to create a digital story (a first-person narrative conveyed through the use of digital media technologies). This culminating project will examine what you have learned about your cultural identity and the cultural diversity of Milwaukee in the context of your community experience, your understanding of the course readings, and insights from our class discussions. The VISUAL ESSAY/FINAL DIGITAL STORY will also achieve the UW System Learning Goal 3: Intercultural Knowledge and Competence including the ability to interact and work with people from diverse backgrounds and cultures; to lead or contribute support to those who lead; and to empathize with and understand those who are different than they are.

FINAL DIGITAL STORY: Requirements for GER ARTS

The FINAL DIGITAL STORY assignment will achieve GER Arts criterion 1) demonstrate comprehension of historical, philosophical, theoretical, or aesthetic perspectives commonly used in the understanding of a specific art, and criterion 2) apply knowledge of artistic principles, conventions, methods, and practices through the creation or production of works of art.

For criterion 1, you will draw upon the course readings, assignments, and in-class discussions on photography, film, digital media, and performance art to explain how images help construct and circulate racial ideologies and how artists of color use visual media to challenge racial and ethnic stereotypes (see “Course Learning Objectives”). For criterion 2, you will create a digital story, based on the course readings, assignments, and in-class discussions (see final assignment below), using original still and moving images and digital editing technologies.

FINAL DIGITAL STORY: Requirements for GER DIVERSITY

The FINAL DIGITAL STORY assignment will achieve GER Cultural Diversity criterion 1) understand and analyze the perspectives, world views, methodologies, and philosophic constructs that the group(s) use(s) to describe, explain, and evaluate its/their experiences over historical time; criterion 2) investigate critically the social, intellectual, and political structures that support oppression based on race, ethnicity, and other human differences; criterion 3) explain fundamental episodes in the history and social construction of concepts of “race” and “ethnicity”; criterion 4) reflect critically on how the students’ own culture and experiences influence their knowledge of, and attitude towards, people whose cultural and social identities differ from their own; and criterion 6) analyze the role of diversity in the successful functioning of a multiracial democratic society.

You will achieve criteria 1, 2, and 3, through your Community Engagement Cultural Identity Statement, which asks you to write a 600-800 word essay that must refer to three sources (class readings from A Different Mirror, Only Ski n Deep: Changing Visions of the American Self, and other assigned essays and articles) to discuss the visual representation of Native Americans, African Americans, Asian Americans,
Latino/as, and European Americans, as well as the intersection of gender, sexuality, transnational migration, and socio-economic class with issues of racial and ethnic identity. Criterion 4 will be achieved through the Community Engagement and Cultural Identity Statement, where you are asked to reflect upon your upbringing, understanding of your cultural identity, your community engagement experience, and your changing notions of racial and ethnic diversity. Criterion 6 will be achieved in the Community Engagement and Cultural Identity Statement and Narrative, and Digital Story, where you will reflect upon and assess your understanding of racial and ethnic diversity garnered through the readings, assignments, and service-learning component.

GER Assessment:

To assess your achievement of the GER-ARTS, GER-DIVERSITY criteria, and UW System Learning Goal 3, the FINAL DIGITAL STORY will be assessed with a rubric that evaluates aesthetic organization, critical exploration of cultural identity, and presentation of each component of the final digital story assignment. The assignment consists of the following:

1. Community Engagement and Cultural Identity Statement 50 points
2. Community Engagement and Cultural Identity Narrative 50 points
3. Digital Story 100 points
4. In-class Presentation (F2F ART 150 ONLY) 50 points

TOTAL: 250 Points

Required Books and Software:

• Takaki, Ronald. A Different Mirror: A History of Multicultural America. First new ed. New York: Back Bay Books, 2008. (Note: page numbers for A Different Mirror readings will come from the 2008 edition, not the 1993 edition). A Different Mirror can be purchased at the UWM Bookstore (Student Union, 1st Floor) or via an online bookseller.

• WeVideo Plan or your choice of digital image editor

• Additional readings posted as .pdf on D2L (as noted on the syllabus)

• Lynda.com software tutorial site

Required Equipment and Software:

• Computer (Windows or OSX). If you do not own a laptop, you can borrow one from the Media Library (link to website on D2L).

• Flash Drive (at least 8 GB) for backup media storage. If you have a personal computer or laptop, create a separate folder for Art 150 media projects.

• A smartphone with camera (still or video) and voice recorder, with the ability to upload media to your laptop or campus computer. If you do not have a portable phone, or a camera and voice recorder on your phone, you can borrow digital cameras and recorders from the UWM Library Media Desk (link to Equipment Checkout polices on D2L).
• Audacity (free audio and sound editor website link on D2L).
• Pixlr (free image editor website link on D2L).
• Lynda.com (digital media tutorials FREE for UWM students)

Attendance/Participation Policy:
The course is divided into two modules consisting of two instruction units each. Each workweek will begin on Tuesday at 12:01AM and end the following Tuesday at 11:59PM. At the beginning of each week, you should check the “Contents” page to review your assignment responsibilities for that workweek. If you cannot complete a workweek due to illness, religious holidays, family circumstance or other issues, please inform me as soon as possible. An official letter (doctor’s note, court letter) is required for an excused absence. Official letters for excused absences are due within two weeks of the absence date. Letters will not be accepted after the two-week period except for exceptional circumstances that must be relayed to the instructor. If you do not participate or you display any disruptive behavior online (including inappropriate language), the instructor reserves the right to issue a zero (0) for the assignment grade and in extreme cases this behavior may result in academic misconduct action.

Email Etiquette:
Email is the best and fastest way to get in contact with me. I will respond to email inquiries within two business days (48 hours) of receipt. Please note I will only respond to emails that have proper formal greeting lines and adhere to basic rules of etiquette.

*Statement of Time Investment:
This is a 3cr. undergraduate GER course. The course is fully online and runs during the first four week session. You should expect to take at least 98 hours over the course of the session completing online lectures and assigned readings. You should expect to take at least 30 hours completing reading reflection assignments based on the readings and lectures for this course. There is one community engagement and project development post which you should expect to require 45 minutes each, for a total of 45 minutes. The digital media projects should take approximately 8 hours to complete, for a total estimated time of 16 hours. This class may take approximately 145 hours of your time this session.

*Please note this is an estimate of the student’s time investment. Students are graded on performance, not the achievement of estimated time investment.

Media:
When available, screened films will be placed on reserve at the UWM Multimedia Library or through the libraries’ streaming service, KANOPY. However, students are encouraged to make use of video/DVD rental outlets or online streaming. Because course assignments require you to produce multimedia projects, it is recommended that students purchase an external drive for project storage. You may use a personal laptop for project development and storage.

Screening:
When available, films will be placed on reserve at the UWM Multimedia Library or be available streaming through KANOPY. When noted, you will have to view the film outside of class, either through the UWM Multimedia Library, rental outlet, purchase, or online streaming.

Special Needs and Questions:
If you need accommodations in order to meet any of the requirements for this course, please contact me as soon as possible. Feel free to visit me during my office hours to discuss assignments or any questions or comments you have.

Academic Policies:
The Department of Art and Design follows UWM academic policies, which are posted on the departmental bulletin board, or available online at: www.uwm.edu/Dept/SecU/SyllabusLinks.pdf

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Information on plagiarism and other forms of academic misconduct can be found at http://www4.uwm.edu/acad_aff/policy/academicmisconduct.cfm

Drops & Incompletes:
No drops are permitted after the fifth week of the semester. Incompletes will be considered ONLY for situations in which you are unable, because of illness or other circumstances beyond your control, to complete your course work. You must provide written documentation to the instructor indicating that you were prevented from completing your course requirements. You must complete course work for an Incomplete during the first eight weeks of the next semester of enrollment (excluding summer sessions). Access to department facilities for the purpose of completing course requirements is extended five weeks into the next semester. Please consult the Registrar’s Calendar for semester deadlines:
http://www4.uwm.edu/faculty_staff/instructional_support/registrars_calendar.cfm?term=1100

Use of Copyrighted Material:
Use of copyrighted material is strictly prohibited unless the images, sounds, texts, etc. are being significantly altered and it is clear in the opinion of the instructor that the original material is being studied, analyzed and commented upon by the student. Grades for work failing to satisfy this requirement for copyrighted materials will be significantly lowered. The instructor reserves the right to determine what constitutes fair use of copyrighted material. Helpful resources concerning copyright and fair use are available at http://www4.uwm.edu/libraries/Music/copyright.cfm and http://guides.library.uwm.edu/content.php?pid=21819&sid=157865&search_terms=copyright

The campus Library and Learning Technology Center, located in the east wing of the Library, can also provide consultation and resources concerning these issues.
