The UWM Project Management Certificate - Online Track is a non-credit, professional development certificate consisting of a series of six, instructor-led classes that participants complete in just over 26 weeks. Professionals who earn the certificate demonstrate a breadth of knowledge, applicable skills and commitment to learning in the Project Management field. The Online Track is offered three times per year beginning in January, May and September. You work remotely, but interact with your online classmates and receive individualized feedback from instructors.

Who should attend
Business and project professionals who want the flexibility of online learning while also receiving instructor feedback and interacting with other professionals in the courses.

Benefits and learning outcomes
- Work at any time from any location that has Internet access
- Learn key project management processes and concepts
- Get tools and templates you can use immediately at your job
- Study real-world scenarios that have immediate relevance to your career
- Stay on top of developments and changes in the PM profession
- Earn PDUs from Project Management Institute (PMI®) and demonstrate a commitment to your professional development

How to earn the certificate
To complete, register for Project Management - Online Track and successfully complete its six online courses. Courses run consecutively for just over six months.

“I have been able to implement suggestions from the course since week one, with successful results.”

-- Online student, Managing Multiple Projects, March 2016

“The most valuable part of the course was the discussions. I loved the interaction between the students and our professor.”

-- Online student, Managing Project Risks, January 2016
