The conference will examine the uses and valences of the term "gender" a generation after its first appearance in scholarly discourse. Scholars from a number of fields will discuss the ways gender has "translated" into their own disciplinary perspectives. Participants will address such questions as: how has the study of gender, either independently or in conjunction with other axes of difference such as race, class, and sexuality, inflected existing fields of study and created new ones? To what extent has "gender" modified or reinforced related paradigms such as womens' and queer studies, or conversely been modified by them? With what discursive politics does the term engage, and with what effects? In what settings, and through what kinds of operations and transformations, can gender remain a "useful category" in the twenty-first century?

The conference In Terms of Gender is sponsored by the Center for 21st Century Studies, College of Letters and Science, with support from the Graduate School, University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee, the William F. Vilas Trust, Cultural Services of the French Embassy, and the Center for European Studies, University of Wisconsin–Madison.

Conference Papers

Conference sessions are free and open to the public, but registration is required. Registrants are urged to read pre-circulated papers in advance. Speakers will summarize their papers rather than read them in their entirety at the conference to allow maximum time for discussion. Conference papers will be available for $20 per packet ($15 for students, with I.D.). Please indicate below to reserve a packet and enclose a check with your registration form (you may combine packet and meal cost in a single check). Paper packets will be available Wednesday, April 25, 2007. A limited number of packets will be available at the conference itself. Abstracts of the conference papers will be complimentary with your registration.

Accommodations

The Hilton Milwaukee River (4700 North Port Washington Road, Milwaukee; tel: 414.962.6040) is located some 10-15 minutes from the university by car. Room rate is $72 (single), $82 (double). Shuttle service will be provided. Please make hotel reservations directly by April 2. (When making reservations, please indicate you are part of the UWM Center for 21st Century Studies block to secure special university rates.)

Deadline for payments for lunch or papers is April 27.
