COVID-19 spreads through respiratory droplets released when an infected person talks, sneezes or coughs. You could spread COVID-19 to others even if you don’t feel sick. Wearing a mask helps you protect others in case you are infected.
Protect against ear sensitivity

Choose straps made of natural fibers like cotton that tie behind your head (above the ear).
Prevent breakouts

Wash your mask and face daily, and avoid wearing makeup underneath.
Prevent fogging

Wash glasses with soapy water or an anti-fogging product, and fit your covering so the top is snug.
Take breaks

Find a place to be alone without your mask on for a few moments.
