

Dear Gabriel,

Thank you for your interest in the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee's Graduate School. This is a terrific place to pursue graduate studies for so many reasons:

- As one of just two public research universities in the state, UWM offers 150+ master's, doctoral, professional and graduate certificate programs, more than any other university in Southeastern Wisconsin. Our distinctive programs include the first School of Freshwater Sciences in America, the only nationally accredited public health school in the state and the only dedicated arts school in the University of Wisconsin System, among many other top-ranked programs both on campus and online.
- Our nationally known professors are leaders in their fields who are passionate about developing the next generation of leaders. You'll work alongside faculty mentors to advance important and innovative research in UWM's 170+ centers, labs and institutes.
- You'll join a vibrant community of over 23,000 students — including nearly 4,500 graduate students — from around the nation and more than 110 countries. Our campus is the most diverse in the University of Wisconsin System and serves more veterans and active duty, reserve and National Guard members than any other four-year public or private institution in our six-state region.
- You won't find a better location in Wisconsin: We're just five minutes from Lake Michigan, 15 minutes from downtown Milwaukee and 90 minutes from Chicago, which means you'll have ready access to internships, jobs and professional networks, and plenty of culture and activities when you need a study break.
- UWM is competitively priced compared with other public research universities and costs significantly less than private colleges. Assistantships, fellowships and scholarships can make a UWM graduate degree even more affordable.
