Children who have experienced trauma can show its effects through different behaviors. If you are seeing any of the following, it could be a sign of trauma:

- Regression in development (social, academic, physical, etc.)
- Withdrawn
- Skipping school or running away
- Aggression, defiance
- Screaming and crying
- Impulsive actions that can threaten health
- Lying and/or cheating
- Problems sleeping
- Quick temper
- Bullying
- Drastic or sudden changes in personality
- Seeking help from a professional if your child is exhibiting these symptoms.
