I’ll present a sketch of how gravitational waves are produced and how they are detected. I will use GW150914 - the first gravitational wave to be detected - as a case study to show how these waves were generated by a colliding pair of massive black holes one billion years ago.