<tr>
<td align="right">Poster Format:</td>
<td>Title, student's name, faculty sponsor, department, college/school, abstract (optional), literature review, purpose, methods, results, and conclusions. Note that professional etiquette in some fields encourages the use of person-first language.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td align="right">Application Process:</td>
<td>Students must submit the attached application form and an abstract of their research (no more than 300 words). The abstract must include purpose, methods, results, and conclusions. The work must be research conducted while a student is enrolled at UWM. Submit the application and abstract as one PDF email attachment to the Office of Research at CHS-Research@UWM.EDU. Abstracts that do not follow the suggested headings or are longer than 300 words will not be considered. Once approved for participation, students will receive instructions on preparation for the symposium. Submission deadline: no later than 4:30 p.m. on MONDAY, MARCH 18, 2019. Submissions after this deadline will not be accepted. Students selected to participate will be notified via email by April 5, 2019.</td>

<td>Students who are enrolled in a CHS, CON, ZSPH, HBSSW bachelor, master, or doctoral program may apply for consideration for the podium presentation competition and must indicate so by checking the box for “I would like to have my research considered for the student podium presentation competition in addition to the poster display session.” on the Entry Application form. Note: Students with podium presentations must also prepare a poster of their research. While an oral poster presentation will not be evaluated, the student must be present at the poster during the poster viewing times to answer questions about their research. Up to eight students will be selected for the podium presentation competition. Students applying for consideration in the podium presentation competition will be notified by April 5, 2019 of their acceptance for the competition. A panel of three to four judges will evaluate the student podium presentations and the accompanying posters for scientific merit and presentation quality. Students with the three highest evaluations will receive 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place monetary awards for the competition.</td>

than this size are allowed to use such posters. Posters will be mounted on foam boards for display on easels in landscape format.

Display & Presentation:
Friday, May 3, 2019. Posters must be in place by the designated time in the Union Ballroom. Students must be in attendance during the scheduled poster-viewing period to answer questions about their research. Students selected to participate in the student podium presentation will deliver an oral presentation of their research of up to 10-minutes including Q&A. Additional details will be communicated to podium presenters before the event date. Additionally, students with podium presentations must participate in the poster display session. Faculty sponsors are expected to attend the presentation session.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:
The student who submits an entry application and abstract will be considered the primary presenter of the research, whether the research is presented only in the poster session or in the podium presentation/poster competition. However, all individuals who have contributed to the research being presented at the UWM Research Symposium must be credited as a co-author on the poster and, if applicable, acknowledged in the podium presentation. In the event that the primary presenter is unable to participate in the poster session due to illness or other extenuating circumstance, the co-authors will assume responsibility for presenting the poster.

Being selected for the podium presentation/poster competition is an honor bestowed upon the student who submitted the entry application and abstract. In the event that a participant in the podium presentation/poster competition withdraws prior to the day of the Research Symposium, the Health Research Symposium Planning Committee will determine whether to select a different student for the podium presentation. The selected student will be one who: (1) submitted an entry application and abstract prior to the deadline and (2) submitted an abstract that had been designated as an alternate for the competition. In the case of a particularly late withdrawal from the competition, it may not be feasible to include an alternate podium presentation.

Occasionally, more than one student will serve as co-primary presenters, having submitted a single application and abstract for their research. In the event that co-primary presenters are chosen for the podium presentation/poster competition, each student must present at the podium and be present at the poster during the display session. If one of these co-presenters cannot participate due to illness or other extenuating circumstance, the remaining co-presenter(s) will assume responsibility for the podium presentation and poster display session. In the event that a podium presentation with multiple primary presenters is chosen for one of the monetary awards, the students will share the award equally.
