

Know Your Rights: Your Right To Pump Or Breastfeed On Campus

Title IX's protection against discrimination based on sex covers nursing mothers.

Because lactation is a condition related to your sex and pregnancy/parental status, you have rights.

Campus Lactation Resources and Support

UWM Lactation Rooms

For nursing mothers, lactation requires a clean and comfortable environment with privacy. UWM has established over 10 rooms across all three campus locations designed for nursing mothers. Employees and students are encouraged to bring their own breast pump and plan to store their milk in a personal cooler.

Instructions on how to access these rooms varies, so please read the room descriptions included for more information.
