

MEMORANDUM

Chair, Faculty Appeals and Grievances Committee

Re: Report of the Faculty Appeals and Grievances Committee

The Faculty Appeals and Grievances Committee met once during the 2002-2003 academic year. At that meeting, the chair of the committee was elected. The committee was sent no business by the University Committee for the remainder of the year.

The Chair was contacted by one faculty member inquiring whether the FAGC had received his case. The faculty member had asked the University Committee to send his grievance to the FAGC, but the University Committee chose to send the case to the Faculty Rights and Responsibilities Committee instead. The faculty member had been informed on two occasions by the Chair of the FRRC that the FRRC had determined that the grievance should have been sent to the FAGC.
