IV. Health Professional Education Certificate

GPRC Doc. No. 1667

Winson Chu, Internal Reviewer

Jennifer Doering, Associate Dean and Jennifer Daood, Graduate Program Representative

David DiValerio, GPRC chair gave a brief summary of the differences between the program and certificate reviews and responsibility of the internal reviewers.

He lead the committee discussion for the report. He reported that the certificate is a professional education graduate program which is a cross program certificate. The internal report was written by Winson Chu who served as the internal reviewer and whose term has ended on the GPRC.

Jennifer Doering, Associate Dean and Jennifer Daood, Graduate Program Representative were present to speak to the committee and informed the committee that the certificate is jointly offered in collaboration with the College of Health Sciences and the School of Education. The certificate is a 15-credit graduate certificate that is mostly offered online. The program has health professionals interested across disciplines.

The program is unique in the health care professional programs because students do not generally get this type of preparation which is an added value to the discipline which student would not have received in their discipline programs. The program is a way for student to enhance their understanding and provide structure.

The program is small and doesn't take any resources. There is no budget for the program. The program is utilizing courses that are already being offered. The Dean will be teaching the one student that is enrolled for this fall. The program is also planning on offering a track in MS.

Discussion followed. There was no further discussion.

Recommendation for continuation of the graduate program for the next 10 years was motioned, seconded, and approved unanimously.
