Greetings,

As 2020 ends and 2021 begins, I want to wish you a peaceful holiday season. Although it's been a bumpy ride, we've put our collective best feet forward and managed to go easy on yourself and extend that grace to others. I hope that you loved ones doing well, or the very best that you can. I hope that you. Be safe and be well.

Jane Hereth

Professor Amy Watson was interviewed on several media outlets throughout the year. Watson is a professor and director of social work field education. She works in the field for a two- or three-semester internship. Consider the possibility of supervising one of our eager students. Social workers are needed more than ever during these troubled times.

Jeanne Wagner

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Ann Bonamici was interviewed on several media outlets throughout the year. Bonamici is a professor and director of social work field education. She works in the field for a two- or three-semester internship. Consider the possibility of supervising one of our eager students. Social workers are needed more than ever during these troubled times.

Jeanne Wagner

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Amy Watson

IN THE NEWS

Upcoming Events

In the fall of 2020, we will be hosting a series of events focused on social justice and anti-racism. These events will include workshops, panel discussions, and keynote speakers. Stay tuned for more information.

Jeanne Wagner

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth

Tina Freiburger

Tina Freiburger Named Dean of Helen Bader School of Social Welfare

Tina Freiburger, PhD, was recently named Dean of the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare at UW-Milwaukee. Freiburger is a professor and department chair. She has been at the university since 2007 and has held several positions, including Director of the UW-Milwaukee’s American Indian College Fund Research and Evaluation program. Freiburger’s research focuses on the intersection of social work and criminal justice policy. Her recent work has examined the impact of mass incarceration on families and communities.

Jane Hereth

Helen Bader Office of Applied Gerontology

Jane Hereth