

Master's Degree in Criminal Justice and Social Work (Coordinated Program)

Information Session

Thursday, January 14, 5:30-6:30 p.m. on Zoom

Introduction

The coordinated Master's Degree in Criminal Justice and Social Work program prepares students to work with individuals, families, groups, organizations and communities involved with the criminal justice system.

Why both degrees? Students interested in working in behavioral health systems with victims of crime or offenders, as well as criminal courts or corrections, and juvenile justice systems will benefit from this multidisciplinary program.

This coordinated program exposes criminal justice students to clinical practice; social work students learn how direct practice works in the criminal justice system.

Overview

- In the MSCJ and MSW program, you will earn two degrees: a Master of Science in Criminal Justice and a Master's in Social Work.
- The total credits for the coordinated program would typically be completed in both programs at the same time, rather than one program after the other. Degrees will be awarded simultaneously.
- The coordinated program includes 33 credits in Criminal Justice and 34 in Social Work.
