

WELCOME TO THE HELEN BADER SCHOOL SOCIAL WORK PROGRAM!

This document will provide information for completing the school social work (SSW) licensure program through the MSW Program in the Helen Bader School of Social Welfare (HBSSW) at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (UWM).

All School Social Workers in Wisconsin are required to have a School Social Work License (SSW License) through the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI). According to Wisconsin DPI, "Each educator profession, including school social work, has established program licensure guidelines that further delineate knowledge, skills, and dispositions that must be demonstrated in order to be certified to work in Wisconsin public schools."

WHAT IS SCHOOL SOCIAL WORK?

School social work is a specialized area of social work practice requiring training and experience that is uniquely designed to assist students in being successful and productive. School social workers in Wisconsin have a Master's Degree in Social Work (MSW), and a school social work license through the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. The roles and job responsibilities of school social workers vary according to the specific needs of the students and the school. School social workers work with all students, regular and special education. School social workers' practice includes assessment, crisis intervention, individual and group counseling, home visits, consultation, program development, and coordination of school and community services. School social workers provide a vital link between home-school-and community, strengthening partnerships to address barriers within the child and his/her environment that interfere with achievement. The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI) provides a helpful school social work practice guide which further delineates the roles and responsibilities of school social workers. See <https://dpi.wi.gov/sspw/pupil-services/school-social-work/contents>

The Wisconsin School Social Workers Association (WSSWA) website also provides helpful information. Students who are enrolled in a university program to obtain a school social work license in Wisconsin may obtain a one-year membership in WSSWA at no charge. See <http://wsswa.org>.
