Training for Adoption Competency (TAC)

About TAC

UWM is partnering with the Center for Adoption Support and Education (C.A.S.E.) to offer intensive, evidence-based training specifically designed to provide social work, mental health, and child welfare professionals with clinical knowledge and skills needed to serve the adoption/kinship network.

C.A.S.E. received accreditation of its Training for Adoption Competency from the Institute of Credentialing Excellence (ICE) in November 2020, making TAC the only certificate accreditation program for adoption competency.

Training Format

- ✓ 12 modules (72 hours) of competency-based training
- ✓ Participants in online trainings will need a computer with a web camera and microphone
- ✓ Information sharing, handouts, resources, experiential learning
- ✓ Case studies, role plays, introspective work in each module
- ✓ Case consultations incorporated into the training
- ✓ 66 hours of CEHs awarded by NASW
- ✓ Accredited TAC Certificate awarded by C.A.S.E.

Developed in collaboration with national experts in child welfare, mental health and adoption, TAC is the only adoption competency mental health training of its kind, integrating in-depth classroom learning with clinical case consultation.

Who Should Apply?

- ✓ Master's level licensed clinicians in social work, counseling, psychology, or related discipline
- ✓ Master's level professionals (social work, counseling, psychology, or related discipline) preparing for licensure
- ✓ Those employed in a clinical practice setting with a strong clinical background
- ✓ Those interested in working with adopted persons, prospective adoptive parents, birth parents and birth families, adoptive families, and kinship families
