Course Overview
This course is designed for urban studies majors in their senior year. This course will help students develop a clear understanding of urban studies as an interdisciplinary field with its distinct foci and subject areas, theoretical frameworks, and methodologies for conducting research—in short, what it means to be an urbanist.

This course has several objectives. As a capstone course, the class will draw on students’ past work in the major to hone their critical assessment of scholarship in the field. Students will also be exposed to different methodologies and methods, and develop the skills necessary to evaluate, plan, and conduct original research in the fairly broad subfields of housing and community development (e.g. gentrification, eviction, homelessness, public housing, fair housing, inclusive housing, urban redevelopment, neighborhood/community development, economic development, etc.) within the Milwaukee region. Students will use this exposure to develop a research project which they will present during a poster session at the annual urban studies Student Research Forum. Near the end of the course, the focus of the class will shift to post-degree life. This course fulfills the L&S research requirement.

Format
This course is a senior seminar, which involves both a close reading of texts related to urban studies scholarship and the research process, and active student involvement in the way of class discussions and presentations. There will be several small assignments to help students develop their research project. It is absolutely imperative that everyone come to class prepared to discuss the readings and with their assignments completed on time. All students in the class will need to attend the Urban Studies Student Research Forum, held on Friday, May 1, 2020, to present their research project poster during the poster session starting at 11:30AM and stay through the sessions and keynote/reception (until around 6pm).

Requirements and Grades

I. Research Project - 75% of course grade
Assignment objectives: A major part of the course will be developing a research project, writing up an article-length project paper, creating a project poster that synthesizes your research, and presenting your project to an audience at a poster session. Participation in the Urban Studies Student Research Forum held on Friday, May 3rd, is required and will apply to the presentation portion of your final project grade. Course readings and assignments are designed to help you develop your project in steps. The top two research papers will be considered for publication in the urban studies e.polis online journal and all students are eligible for the best undergraduate poster award during the juried poster session.
Research project assignments: All assignments are required for a final project grade.
   a) Research Question and Topic assignment-5% - Due Saturday 2/8
   b) Context/setting assignment-5% - Due Saturday 2/15
   c) Draft Lit Review -10% - Due Sunday 3/15
   d) Methods-5% - Due Saturday 4/4
   e) Poster/Presentation-15% Poster Due Friday 4/24; Presentation Due Friday 5/1.
   f) Final Paper-60% - Due Sunday 5/10

II. Reading Presentations - 15% of course grade
Students will select four assigned readings out of a list I will provide the first day to present on and lead a discussion during class.

III. Participation - 10% of course grade
Because this is a small capstone seminar class (which is a great thing to experience at a large public university), there is an expectation that students will play an important role in the class sessions by coming to class having completed assigned readings and ready to discuss the readings and engage with the course material and your peers in the class. During most class periods, students will need to come with a question that relates to that week’s readings and topic. Included in your participation grade are class exercises/project workshops/literature presentations, etc.

Distribution of Course Grades
75% Research Project (grade based on multiple assignments)
15% Reading presentations
10% Class participation (including class questions, in-class exercises/homework assignments and general participation)

Final Grading Scale:
.931-.1.00=A; .90-.930=A-
.87-.899=B+; .831-.869=B; .80-.83=B-
.77-.799=C+; .731-.769=C; .70-.73=C-
.67-.699=D+; .631-.669=D; .60-.63=D-
