Navigating the Women’s & Gender Studies Program

Women’s and Gender Studies (WGS) at UWM operates as a “Department Like Body” (DLB), which means it runs like any academic department but has faculty with full and joint appointments in WGS. Understanding the structure of the WGS DLB and how it works will help your transition into the new role as graduate student and to succeed in your graduate studies.

Director of Graduate Studies (DGS)

The DGS is your primary contact person during your graduate study at UWM, providing you general guidance and support.

1. The primary responsibility of the DGS is to oversee the progress of master’s students and students in the Graduate Certificate program.
2. The DGS serves as an advisor, approves course selection for all MA students, and follows student progress to degree. All MA students must meet with the DGS every semester to discuss course selection and progress to degree. Students must inform the DGS if they subsequently change their courses.
3. The DGS provides guidance and approves the selection of MA committees and other concerns for the final degree requirement.
4. The DGS will make available information concerning Graduate School fellowships, forms, policies, and deadlines.
5. You can contact the DGS for questions or concerns related to your graduate study.

Director of Graduate Studies
Dr. Xin Huang
Office: Curtin Hall 525
Email: huang32@uwm.edu
Team Phone: (414) 251-5632
Webpage: https://uwm.edu/womens-gender-studies/people/huang-xin/

WGS Graduate Student Representative (GSR)

The graduate student representative represents the MA students and attends the monthly DLB/program meetings. In this capacity, they voice any concerns and questions of the MA students to the DLB committee (or the Chair and the DGS) and ensures that MA students are informed of decisions and issues that concern the graduate program and them as graduate students.

The GSR is elected every fall at the beginning of the semester by all the WGS MA students, and the term for GSR is one-year.
Women’s & Gender Studies Chair
The Chair is responsible for the overall WGS program. Chairs are appointed annually by the Dean of the College of Letters & Science and typically serve for three years, though terms may vary. You can also reach out to the WGS Chair with any concerns you may have.

Chair
Dr. Anna Mansson McGinty
Office: Curtin Hall 535C
Teams Phone 414-251-8037
Email: mansson@uwm.edu
Webpage: https://uwm.edu/womens-gender-studies/people/mansson-mcgingty-anna/

Undergraduate Advisor TBA
The undergraduate advisor has primary responsibility for the undergraduate major and minor and prepares the schedule of classes for each semester. You can also reach out to Undergraduate advisor with any concerns you may have related to teaching undergraduates and the undergraduate curriculum.

Office: Curtin Hall 529
Teams phone: (414) 251-8231
Email: TBA

Office Manager
The Office Manager (OM) manages the program’s operations, including financial matters (personnel, contracts, UWM accounts), supplies, and equipment, and provides administrative support for the undergraduate and graduate programs. The OM is often the initial contact person fielding inquiries about Women’s & Gender Studies.

Office Manager
Susan Wagner
Office: Curtin Hall 535
Teams Phone 414-251-7895
Email: wagnerss@uwm.edu

Faculty
There are two kinds of Women’s & Gender Studies faculty: those whose teaching and service are entirely in Women’s & Gender Studies and those with a “joint” or “partial” appointment, which means their teaching and service are split between Women’s & Gender Studies and another academic unit.

Along with the Chair, Women’s & Gender Studies faculty members comprise the MA admissions committee, serve on MA committees, and make decisions regarding the graduate program.

Lecturers

Several instructors are lecturers for Women’s & Gender Studies and teach undergraduate and sometimes graduate courses. All have advanced degrees (MA, MS, PhD), and some have taught in the program for a number of years. Some lecturers may serve on MA committees.

Affiliates

Over 100 UWM faculty, staff, and administrators are Women’s & Gender Studies affiliates. Many teach cross-listed courses or serve on our committees. A list of current affiliates is on the Women’s & Gender Studies website at http://uwm.edu/womens-gender-studies/our-people/affiliated-faculty-staff/.
Committees

Women’s & Gender Studies DLB Committee

The immediate government of the Women’s & Gender Studies DLB is vested in the DLB Committee, which has jurisdiction over most interests of the program, with authority to determine questions of educational and administrative policy, except for personnel matters and budgetary matters under the purview of the Executive Committee.

The DLB Committee consists of the Chair and Assistant Chair, faculty with appointments in Women’s & Gender Studies, lecturers who have taught for some time in the program, the GTA Mentor, and a graduate student representative. The Office Manager is a non-voting member.

The DLB Committee meets every month to discuss DLB related business. The grad student representative will share the agenda with WGS MA students before the meeting, gather their suggestions for agenda items, and communicate the meeting result to all them.

If you have any questions, concerns, or suggestions related to the operation of WGS, the graduate program and you as a graduate student, you may ask the WGS Graduate Representative to bring them to the DLB Committee meeting.

Executive Committee

This committee is responsible for the hiring, tenure and promotion, and retention of faculty with appointments in Women’s & Gender Studies and instructors with at least half-time positions in the program. It also has responsibility for budgetary matters. UWM policy restricts membership to tenured faculty.

Student Awards Committee

The Student Awards Committee determines the recipients of the annual Women’s & Gender Studies undergraduate and graduate research paper and project awards. Membership is open to Women’s & Gender Studies faculty, academic staff, and instructors and to Women’s & Gender Studies affiliates. Applications are submitted to the UWM Panther Scholarship Portal.

MPS Student Awards Committee

The MPS Student Awards Committee determines the recipients of the annual “Wisconsin Women Making History” essay contest for MPS middle and high school students. Membership is open to Women’s & Gender Studies faculty, academic staff, and instructors and to Women’s & Gender Studies affiliates. The Office Manager coordinates the submission process.

Scholarship Committee

The Scholarship Committee determines the recipients of scholarships administered by Women’s & Gender Studies. Membership is open to Women’s & Gender Studies faculty, academic staff, and instructors and to Women’s & Gender Studies affiliates. Applications are submitted to the UWM Panther Scholarship Portal.
Resources and Services for Graduate Students at WGS

- Feminist Lecture Series and Vilas Trust Lecture Each year WGS invites two outstanding feminist scholars to visit UWM and present their latest research. These events usually include coffee/lunch hours with graduate students, and you will have the opportunity to talk with these scholars and their works in person. As a WGS MA student, these talks are an important part of your curriculum and you are expected to attend these lectures.

- WGS Lunch and Learn Talk WGS holds monthly Lunch and Learn talks where scholars at UWM present their latest research and work in progress. This is a great opportunity to get to know about scholars at UWM whose work is related to women, gender, and sexuality studies and learn about their cutting-edge research. As a WGS MA student, these talks are an important part of your curriculum, and you are expected to attend WGS Brown Bag talks as much as you can.

FYI: Important Advice

Check your mailbox regularly.

Check your UWM email regularly. Women’s & Gender Studies, like the Library, UWM administration, Canvas, and campus listservs use your UWM email address.

Check in with Xin Huang, the Director of Graduate Studies (DGS) every semester. You must meet Xin to discuss course selection and progress toward degree. Notify them of any changes in your courses or progress. You must discuss your MA committee membership for your final degree requirement with them.

Meet the members of Women’s & Gender Studies. Ask about what we teach or do, our areas of interest, and our experiences in Women’s & Gender Studies and at UWM. Consider all of us a resource.

Become familiar with other UWM resources. The UWM Writing Center is available to graduate students as well as undergraduate students. It is located on the first floor of Curtin Hall, with a satellite location in the library. Appointments are necessary.

Bookmark the Graduate School Website. http://uwm.edu/graduateschool/ You will find Graduate Student Travel Award and fellowship applications, exception forms, instructions on graduation, descriptions of our MA programs, the Graduate Appeals process, Master’s Thesis formatting requirements, and the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook, among other essential information.

The Master’s Toolbox at the Graduate School website is particularly useful for your study at UWM, https://uwm.edu/graduateschool/masters-toolbox/

Graduate School Central Email inbox: UWM Grad School has a central email inbox for all TAs, PAs, and RAs where you can field questions about assistantships and find your way to answers: gs-assistantships@uwm.edu. The staff manage this email won’t be able to answer most questions by themselves, but they’ll figure out who can and will stay on the thread until everyone has the answers they need.

Complete the General Application at UWM Panther Scholarship Portal
Once you fill out the general application, you will be considered for all the scholarships at UWM you qualify for based on your profile. https://uwm.academicworks.com/. Make sure to register at the Scholarship Portal asap. Similarly, the Social Work master's program will accept 6 credits of WGS course work to satisfy the 6 required elective credits for the MSW degree. Because the MSW degree has a distinction in the number of credits required depending on bachelor's degree type, the total number of credits required to complete the Coordinated WGS/MSW program will range from 52 credits (24 from WGS and 28 from MSW when holding a bachelor's in social work) to 74 credits (24 from WGS and 50 from MSW when a bachelor's degree is from another discipline).

Financial Support
Women’s & Gender Studies

Women’s & Gender Studies offers several scholarships annually. Please see the WGS Office Manager for complete details.

- Women’s & Gender Studies Scholarship One $2,500 scholarship to be awarded annually. Open to graduate and undergraduate students.

- Florence L. Healy Scholarship in Women’s & Gender Studies Two scholarships are typically awarded each year. The amount and number are subject to the availability of funds. Open to graduate as well as undergraduate students.

- Women’s & Gender Studies Student Travel Award Two awards of up to $250 per academic year, subject to the availability of funds. Contact the DGS if you are thinking about applying for this award.

The Graduate School

The Graduate School currently offers two fellowships for full-time graduate study at the Master’s level. Each fellowship comes with a monthly stipend for the academic year, coverage of in-state tuition and remission of out-of-state tuition, and eligibility for state-sponsored health insurance. Fellowship recipients are responsible for paying segregated fees. Graduate School fellowship stipends do count as financial aid.

- The Distinguished Graduate Student Fellowship (DGSF) is for new and continuing UWM graduate students. The DGSF is a one-year, non-renewable fellowship. In addition, fellowship recipients may benefit from a $1,000 travel award that will accompany each fellowship award.

- Advanced Opportunity Fellowship (AOP) is for new and continuing qualified UWM graduate students who are members of groups underrepresented in graduate study or who are otherwise disadvantaged. Applicants must be American citizens or permanent residents of the United States. The AOP is renewable. Fellows may benefit from a one-time, non-renewable $1,000 travel award that will accompany each fellowship award.

NOTE: Applications and other fellowship information are available on the Graduate School website http://uwm.edu/graduateschool/types-of-funding/. Students interested in applying for either the AOP or Graduate School Fellowship must contact the Director of Graduate Studies before the end of the fall semester. Students are nominated by WGS for these fellowships.

The Graduate School also offers support for conference travel:

- Graduate Student Travel Award is offered by the Graduate School for travel support of up to $500 (total) for enrolled master’s students. The money is to be used to present...
scholarly or creative work at an event hosted by an academic or professional organization related to your discipline. You must apply to the Graduate School in advance of your travel.

UWM Panther Scholarship Portal

This portal is your one-stop source to UWM scholarships. Once you fill out one general application, you will be considered for all the scholarships at UWM you qualify for based on your profile. You may also see scholarships on your dashboard that you can apply to. These are scholarships that require additional information. https://uwm.academicworks.com/

Make sure to register at the Scholarship Portal asap, with the ePantherID credentials that you use to log into your PAWS account. You need only fill the General Application once during your MA study at UWM.
Graduate Teaching Assistantship

Women’s & Gender Studies currently offers two graduate teaching assistantships each year. The position includes a tuition waiver, access to insurance, and a small monthly stipend. Two GTA positions are available to incoming students each year, and GTAs are offered for a maximum of two years, if eligibility requirements are met. Students who did not receive a GTA offer with admission are not likely to receive one the following year.

First Year Responsibilities

- Attend the Introduction to Women’s & Gender Studies lecture
- Teach two discussion sections of Introduction to Women’s & Gender Studies

The first semester of the GTA is probationary. These are the guidelines for GTA eligibility:

Students may be awarded a GTA position in Women’s & Gender Studies for a maximum of two years. A second year of GTA support is not automatic. Eligibility for a second year of support is contingent upon satisfactory progress toward the degree and satisfactory performance of teaching and mentoring responsibilities. Failure to meet teaching responsibilities in any semester may result in the loss of the teaching assistantship.

Course Load

GTAs must be enrolled in a minimum of six credits each semester. This does not include summer or UWinteriM (tuition remission is only available for fall and spring semesters).

Teaching Support from the Office Manager:

- Access to the copier – The copier can be used for class materials and the Office Manager will assign GTAs a copy code.
- Office supplies – GTAs are welcome to use office supplies located in the main office. Please let the Office Manager know if/when additional supplies are needed.
- Copies of syllabi from previous semesters – These may be helpful in designing your class and are available from the Office Manager. GTAs must submit a copy of their syllabus to the Office Manager each semester.
- Assistance with AV equipment for a class
- Assistance recording grades in PAWS

Scheduling your sections:

- The undergraduate advisor prepares the schedule of classes each semester; they will contact GTAs about scheduling their WGS 200 or 201 sections.
Office: GTAs share an office and have a mailbox in the main office. Office keys will be distributed at the start of the contract period. Keys are to be returned to Office Manager when the GTA contract ends.

Resource for Teaching Introduction to WGS

Support for Difficult Teaching Experiences
As a GTA of an introductory level Women’s and Gender Studies classes, you are charged with teaching topics that may confront discriminatory thinking. While it can be exciting to encourage students to think critically about certain content; it can at the same time be emotionally taxing when students employ discriminatory language or actions through class assignments and discussions. If, at any time, you feel unsafe or threatened by a student as a result of a student’s bigoted language or actions, or unable to address, teach, or grade assignments on a certain topic in class due to personal trauma, please look to Director of Graduate Studies (DGS) for support. You can also reach out to the WGS undergraduate advisor and/or the WGS Chair with any concerns you may have.
Going through the Program

Advising

The Director of Graduate Studies (DGS) guides prospective students through the application and admissions process and helps incoming students choose their first semester classes.

When you enter the WGS MA program, the DGS will be your temporary faculty advisor. Once at UWM, new master’s students should introduce themselves to the Director of Graduate Studies early in the first semester. New MA students must meet with the DGS to fill out a Program of Study Form before registering for spring classes.

Make an appointment with the DGS to discuss the program or Graduate School policies, deadlines, fellowships, or graduation procedures. Keep in touch.

Faculty Advisor

Your permanent faculty advisor will mentor and work with you individually and support your graduate study in WGS. Your faculty advisor may also serve as your M.A. Committee Chair and help you identify appropriate committee members. We encourage you to begin to take steps, within your first few weeks in the program, toward determining which faculty member you would like to work with as your permanent advisor.

Identify a faculty advisor

In your first fall semester while taking WGS 700, you will be introduced to all of the WGS faculty and learn about their research and teaching interests. You should identify a WGS faculty member either whose research and teaching interests intersect with your interests, and who could thus help you carry out your graduate studies, or whose mentoring style works for you. We encourage you to schedule meetings with faculty members with whom you are interested in working. You can also find information about WGS faculty at: https://uwm.edu/womens-gender-studies/our-people/

Establishing (and changing) advising relationship

Once you identify the faculty member with whom you would like to work, you should then establish the advising relationship. Ask the faculty member if they would be willing to serve as your MA advisor. Once the faculty has agreed to serve as your graduate advisor, please fill the “WGS MA Faculty Advising Form” and send a copy to WGS Director of Graduate Studies for record.

You should identify and establish your faculty advising relationship before the end of your first semester.

If you have changed your research interest and feel that other faculty member might better help you with your study, or you would like to work with other faculty for other reasons, you are free to change your faculty advisor. In that case, please go through the above-mentioned process and documentation again, and inform your existing faculty advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies about the change.

You must meet with your faculty advisor before registration each semester to discuss course selection and progress toward the degree and notify the faculty advisor of any changes in your course selection or progress.

After completing twelve credits, you should begin to discuss final degree requirements (thesis, paper, project, or exam), potential MA committee members, and future plans with your faculty advisor. See Completing the MA for more information.
In addition to the DGS, feel free to ask any faculty member of Women’s & Gender Studies for advice, help or informal mentoring.

Independent Studies

MA students may sign up for WGS 999 Advanced Independent Work, a graduate-level independent study, for a maximum of three credits. An independent study should not cover subject matter available through regular courses. It can be used for advanced work that extends knowledge a student has acquired through classes or provide the opportunity for advanced work on material not taught in any graduate class.

Students must request an independent study with a faculty member before enrolling in WGS 999. They should choose the subject or materials they want to study in advance of making a request. Please bear in mind that faculty members receive no compensation for an independent study, and some may be unable to make the necessary time commitment.

If a faculty member agrees to an independent study, the student and professor decide on the work to be performed. The student must complete an Independent Study Form, signed by the student and professor, and hand it in to the DGS for approval. This should be done before the independent study starts or no later than the first week of classes. The Independent Study Form is important and becomes part of a student's file. For instance, if at a later date, a student wishes to substitute an independent study for another course requirement (with the consent of the necessary parties), the Independent Study Form can be used to show that a substitution is warranted. Without the form, there is no way to verify the content of an independent study.
Exceptions to Graduate School Requirements and Policies

For various reasons, students sometimes need to request an exception to Graduate School requirements or rules. A student, for example, may be unable to complete the MA in the required time period. Students who want to request an exception must fill out a Graduate School Request for Exception Form. An explanation of the process and the form are available at http://uwm.edu/graduateschool/appeals-exceptions/.

Graduate Appeals Process

An explanation of the graduate appeals process for academic appeals and for academic or non-academic misconduct can be found on the Graduate School website at: http://uwm.edu/graduateschool/appealing-academic-decisions/.
Completing the MA

Final Degree Requirement Options

All master’s students must complete a final degree requirement which consists of a thesis, master’s paper or project, or a comprehensive written exam. All options include an oral defense.

Thesis: Students choosing this option must follow Graduate School format requirements and deadlines (http://uwm.edu/graduateschool/thesis-dissertation-formatting/) and submit their thesis to the Graduate School electronically. A thesis is typically an academic research paper of 50 pages or more that demonstrates the student’s ability to formulate an argument or research question, carry out an independent investigation, analyze information (quantitative and /or qualitative), and present the results in a clear, systematic form. The thesis includes a review of relevant scholarship and makes an original contribution to the field.

Master’s Paper: The paper is a more limited scholarly product than the thesis, between 30 and 40 pages in length, which often takes the form of a scholarly essay of publishable quality. Like the thesis, the paper should demonstrate the student’s ability to formulate an argument, analyze data, present results in a clear, systematic form, and show familiarity with relevant scholarship. It is usually an extension of work previously done in a class.

Master’s Project: You may choose to complete a MA Project for the fulfillment of a WGS MA degree. The project can be a creative or artistic project that is research-based or a research-based practical project. Please discuss the topic, format, and structure of your MA Project with your MA Committee Chair and members in advance.

An MA project contains two parts:

1. The project
   The project could take any form of your choice (with communication in advance with your chair), it could be an archive, a community collaboration, a campaign, an event, or a creative work such as graphic story, play, video, performance, etc..

2. Project Statement
   The project statement describes the objectives and rational of the project, explains the key concepts and ideas that guide and inform the project. The statement should be 4-8 page.

Exam: The exam covers central issues and texts in the field of Women’s & Gender Studies. Students select 25 items from the “major area list” compiled by the Women’s & Gender Studies Program Committee and prepare a list of 15 items for a “minor area” of the student’s choosing. NOTE: 1 item = 1 book = 3 articles. Lists are approved by Women’s & Gender Studies faculty with graduate faculty status.
Students should consult with Women’s & Gender Studies faculty or affiliates when preparing their minor area list. The exam is an open-book, open-notes exam, and students have roughly 72 hours to write their answers. Each answer should be 10-12 pages, but they can be a bit longer (not shorter). For more information, see Timeframe.
Choosing an MA Committee Chair

All students need to select a professor to chair their MA Committee, regardless of degree option. The MA Committee Chair must have graduate faculty status and be either a WGS faculty member or a WGS faculty affiliate. Students should first discuss their choice of MA Committee Chair and potential committee members with the DGS before asking a professor to serve as Chair. This should be done well before the end of coursework (see Timeframe below). The MA Committee Chair is typically a faculty member with expertise in the student’s area of interest, often the professor for whom the student wrote the paper expanded into a thesis or master’s paper, and/or someone who taught the student in a graduate class.

Professors receive multiple requests from graduate students to chair or serve on committees, so students should ask faculty as early as possible. Fellowships, sabbaticals, and other leaves may affect a faculty member’s availability.

Forming an MA Committee

In consultation with the MA Committee Chair, students select the other two members of the committee. Once a committee is formed, students begin to complete an MA Committee and Defense Form and submit it to the DGS. For all options, at least one committee member must be Women’s & Gender Studies faculty with graduate faculty status. The other members should be Women’s & Gender Studies faculty or Women’s & Gender Studies faculty affiliates. Student requests to include a non-faculty or non-affiliate member on an MA Committee must be approved by the DGS.

NOTE: If a student decides to change the MA Committee Chair, it is important to notify the original Chair as a matter of courtesy as well as the other committee members. Students must immediately inform the DGS of any changes to the committee.

Timeframe

Two factors significantly influence the timeframe for completing the final degree requirement: faculty availability and sufficient time to write and defend the thesis, paper, project or exam, within the Graduate School graduation deadlines.

Students are very strongly encouraged to act well in advance of the deadlines below:

After completion of 18 credits, students follow one of two paths, depending on December or May/August graduation:

- By October 15 (May) or March 15 (December), students should notify the DGS of their choice of format (thesis, paper, project, or exam).
- By December 1 (May/August) or May 1 (December), students should submit an exam list for approval and choose a committee; choose a paper to revise and choose a committee or submit a proposal for a new paper that includes a timeline, bibliography, and brief rationale; submit a project proposal, and choose a committee.
EXAM OPTION: Once the entire exam list is approved, the MA committee has three weeks to formulate questions. In addition, there must be a minimum of ten days between the date the exam answers are submitted and the date of the defense.

Enrollment and Application for Master’s Graduation

The Graduate School requires all graduate students to be enrolled during the semester they complete their degrees, including summer. Many students enroll in WGS 888 Candidate for Degree, which is a one-credit, ungraded course designed to meet this requirement. It can be taken more than once, if a student does not graduate when expected. It is the least expensive option.

NOTE: GTAs who plan to graduate in August may apply to L&S for a summer tuition waiver for WGS 888. See the Director of Graduate Studies for details.

Early in the semester they intend to graduate, students must fill out a Graduate School Application for Master’s Graduation via their PAWS account and pay a fee. If students do not graduate that semester, a new application must be submitted for the new semester of intended graduation (no additional fee). The application and other graduation requirements can be found at http://uw.edu/graduateschool/masters-toolbox/.

Each semester, the Graduate School sets graduation deadlines for completion of all degree requirements. When scheduling the defense, students should allow enough time between the defense and graduation deadline in the event that the committee asks for revisions or the thesis has formatting problems. Check with the DGS or Graduate Student Services (Mitchell Hall 261; 229-6569) for deadlines.

Arrange a time for the defense as far in advance as feasible. The last few weeks of the semester fill quickly with dissertation defenses, MA defenses, and preliminary exams, so the sooner students find a date that works for the committee, the better.

NOTE: Students should give the Office Manager a copy of their thesis, paper, project or exam for their academic file.
