

UW-MILWAUKEE

STUDENT INTERNSHIPS IN THE VIRTUAL SPACE

The Department of African & African Diaspora Studies, Global & International Studies, and the Center for Latin American & Caribbean Studies at UW-Milwaukee want to support students in understanding the great opportunities that exist for remote work experiences and tips for success. Join us for two informative webinars where students will learn about advantages of virtual internships and ask key questions as they review their opportunities for internship placements.

Part I - November 13, 2020:

Explore why a remote internship may be the perfect fit for you this spring or summer, as well as next year.

Click here to register for part I

Part II - November 20, 2020:

Connect with potential employers from a variety of fields, including MKE Film and Sixteenth Street Community Health Center, who are looking for part-time student interns and hear past interns' perspectives on working remotely.

Click here to register for part II

Both webinars will begin at 12:00 pm (CST) and will be hosted via Zoom (free registration required)

Questions? Please email Rachel Hegland at rhegland@uwm.edu.

Co-Organized by

The Department of African & African Diaspora Studies

Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies